We are going to build our home NOW...

with the help of First Federal Savings

My husband and I both have a job . . . and we want to get set for the future. We don't think prices will go any lower, the money is available and we have the plans! We've discussed financing with First Federal Savings, and their loan contract has a lot of advantages. Like the pre-payment privileges and the open-end mortgage—which could mean an extension later if we should need it. A new home . . . I can hardly wait!
