Garden Club Has Picnic

The Mill City Garden Club held its annual picnic at Silver Creek Falls last Thursday. Mrs. Hollis Turnidge, Mrs. Lowell Cree and Mrs. Darwin Rains were co-hostesses for the event, furnishing the beverages and dessert. Members attending were Mes. Martin Hansen, Else Allen, Marie Tolbert, Gale Larson and children, Walter Thomas, Sr. and Chris, Ross McCombs, Lloyd Girod, O. K. DeWitt, Lawrence Doble, Charles Dolezal, Jr., Doris Rogers, Clyde Phillips.

Guests included Tena Graham and Alice Fenner. Several of the ladies hiked some of the interesting trails in the area and a good time was reported by all. The weather that day (sounds good now) was a little on the chilly and foggy side.

Veterans To Picnic At Estacada Aug. 15

Veterans of the 41st Infantry division will hold their annual Oregon picnic on Sunday, August 15, at Eagle Farm Park, near Estacada. Free refreshments and games will bring 41st families from all over Oregon and much of Washington.

The 41st division was composed of National guardsmen from the two states, and was one of two divisions first called to active duty in September, 1940; was one of two divisions first sent overseas to Australia; fought through New Guinea, the Southwest Pacific, and Philippines and on to the occupation of Japan.

It was reorganized after the war and was recently changed to the 41st Infantry Brigade in Oregon and to the 81st Infantry Brigade in Washington.

There are several thousand men in Oregon, interested in the 41st with many of them planning on attending the Sunday picnic.

Plambecks Back From Iceland

Dr. and Mrs. Hans Plambeck have returned to their home in Corvallis after spending a very pleasant nine months in Reykjavik, Iceland where Dr. Plambeck helped set up a Department of Sociology. In his classes there he found the young students serious and most polite and attentive. They made many friends in Iceland and hope to return there sometime. Iceland is an independent country struggling for existence in a competitive world. The people are mostly of Scandinavian origin but speak their old Norse language which is most difficult to learn.

They are highly educated and speak other languages besides their own. Because of the long winter months, they enjoy an extensive social life and the Plambecks were often invited to elaborate dinners in private homes and also at the U. S. embassy. Concerts and entertainment are always available and were appreciated. They have a mild climate and during one snowfall period, Dr. Plambeck and wife enjoyed a sunny holiday in the Canary Islands. Dr. Plambeck was one of many foreign professors teaching overseas invited by Germany at their government expense to come to lectures and meetings in Berlin where they were given the red-carpet treatment and were taken on a bus tour through East Berlin also. Following the meeting, Dr. Plambeck and wife spent an additional week visiting relatives in Hamburg and on the Baltic Sea and report that all are well and have beautiful homes and luxuries to enjoy them. Hans was a 1931 graduate of Mill City high school. His son Douglas was spending his junior year from U of O in Holland with classes in Belgium, Germany, and France. He is currently with International Airways of Ireland who flew him to Holland free of charge so he could complete his term paper there. They then hired him for a month in Ireland and he is enjoying the friendly home of a young married couple. Doug is studying International Business and will return the end of this month for his final year at U of O in Eugene.

Lorraine Mills Attends Family Reunion

GATES—Lorraine Mills and her brother, Herb Jones, spent August 1 to 8 at a family reunion in Lake Attus, Okla., near Granite. The reunion actually lasted five days with relatives gathered from El Paso, Texas, to Maryland, to San Diego, to Oregon and Illinois and many points in between. Eight of the brothers and sisters got together, a brother in Dumas, Tex. and a sister in Albuquerque, N. M., were unable to attend. Lorraine and Herb made side trips to visit each of these families before coming home.

Daily, friends of the family dropped in for day visits. Lorraine also visited with and had many telephone calls from the Mills family in the area.

Approximately 85 were in attendance daily—food, games, swimming, laughter, conversation, recollections of the past, nightly assemblies and group singing were the entertainment and 3 a.m. was the average retiring hour and 7 a.m. rising time.

High for temperature was 88 degrees. Greenest, most beautiful country for the plains area is in August. Unemployment is almost unknown for the Texas panhandle, Lorraine reported and a very tempting place to live.

On return home they had a layover in Denver and a niece came to the terminal for an hour's visit with them. It's a four-hour trip each way. Lorraine says it's good to be home and water the yard, but she is already making plans to attend the reunion in two years.

If the number following your name on the Enterprise label reads 8-71 it's time to send a check for renewal.

Witt Family Has Annual Reunion

Members of the Witt family enjoyed another annual picnic at Fishermen's Bend Park with 37 persons able to attend. The oldest one attending was Otto Witt of Mill City, he will be 83 years old this month.

From Edmonds, Wash., came his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bassett and sons, Francis and Jerry. Jerry remained in Mill City to spend a week with his grandfather and will spend another week with his cousins on the Edsel farm in Mehama before returning home. From Lacey, Wash. came Mr. Otto Plambeck, a nephew, and his children, Kai and Heidi who remained as overnight guests of Mrs. Else Allen who also attended the picnic. Another nephew was Dr. Hans Plambeck from Corvallis accompanied by his wife, Julia. From Sandy came Dr. Witt's sister, Mrs. Frieda Whitlock, and three of her sons, Henry, Bill and Bob Whitlock. Henry brought along his children, Walter, Louise, Larry with his wife Nancy and children, Kendon, Chucky and Seth; David and Willi Whitlock from Phoenix, Ariz. accompanied by his wife Connie and children Carlee and Brady. Bob Whitlock was accompanied by his wife Patty. From Salem came Mr. Darwin Biber accompanied by his son Mike with his wife Kim. From Lake Oswego came Mr. and Mrs. Bill Christensen (Louise Bock) and their children Laurie, Mark and Stuart. From Salem came Henry Bock. Two guests attending were Mrs. Barbara Rohde who is making her home with Mrs. Whitlock in Sandy, and William Mouser. The young people entertained the group with songs accompanied by guitars and flute.
