Four Generations at Adair Home for Christmas Holidays

Pete and Olga Adair had 21 good reasons to enjoy their Christmas this year when four generations conspired to gather here for the Holidays. From LaCanada, Calif., came daughter Carol Beck, her husband Jim and their two children, Shawn and Maureen. From Columbia, Mo., came son, Kent, his wife Nikki and their three daughters, Karen, Lisa and Patricia. From Stayton came daughter Colleen and her husband Will Graff and their two children, Linda and Tommy. From Silverton came daughter Kathleen and her husband Bob Ledbetter and son Brett. From Germany came grandson Gregory and from Zaragosa, Spain came granddaughter Christine Walbridge and her husband Ronald and their two small daughters, Lara and Ruth. With Pete and Olga bringing the total to 23 for Christmas dinner it was obvious the turkey didn't have a chance. Singing of Christmas Carols and dancing around the tree, followed by an exchange of gifts made this a very special Christmas for all as it marked the first time in many years that the whole family had been together.

Santiam Ripples

By Debbie Barnhardt
 Santiam received two students from Stayton. They were James Taylor, a Freshman, and Bruce Lunsford, a Sophomore, and a former student at Santiam. The Seniors started getting ready for graduation, Wednesday. They ordered their caps and gowns. Some other Seniors were already thinking about next year. They went to Salem Saturday and took their Scholastic Aptitude test. Most colleges require this. Four senior boys went to Lane Community College Thursday. The annual class was hard at work last week getting the new annual ready. They spent the week taking club pictures. On Wednesday the Art Club members donated their time to make signs for the Booster Club ham dinner on January 13. The Pep Club held a short meeting Friday. They discussed having a fun night soon. Honor Society talked about nominating two people who are outstanding in Leadership, Scholarship, Citizenship and Service. They will then compete nationwide for a scholarship.
