* An orthopedic surgeon at the Mayo Clinic reports that stiffness and swelling of the thumb is routine among regular bowlers. One danger in "Bowling's Thumb" is that if such symptoms are not recognized and treated, the result can be permanent limitation of the thumb's lateral movement.

* According to a study in 1968 women have more colds than do men and the Northeastern part of the country has the heaviest concentration of colds. Weather seems to be the chief factor in the cold concentration belt but in the case of women versus men, it seems that since children are the greatest cold catchers and spreaders, mothers, nurses and teachers become the inevitable victims.

* In 1878 the cure for cancer was simple: Boil down the inner bark of red and white oak to the consistency of molasses; apply as a plaster, shifting it once a week.
