

Up and Down The Avenue

By Don Moffatt

This is being written from Granville, North Dakota, where a good many years ago, I was born. Yesterday, I went out to the old place which is just a little over a mile north of town. The place is all run down just like so many other farm places are nowadays.

It seems a pity, too. When I was a boy, the country was full of small farms. All the work was done with horses, so naturally the farms were small. It was a good life then, but today, no one could make a living on a small acreage.

Crops in this area were good to fair this year. My brother, Al, who had a coronary, is now at home, and seems to be getting along all right, which of course, makes the family happy.

Right at the present time, Monday forenoon, it is snowing. Not too heavy a snowfall. It is rather pretty, if you like snow. I don't.

The trip this far has been made without incident. The fall colors through the mountains were beautiful, and North Dakota looks real good. The grass is starting to green up, and with the golden straw stubble, in strips, it looks real good.

We did run into considerable road construction on Interstate 90 through the mountains, and when we came over the Continental Divide, near Mullen, road work slowed us down quite a bit. We made it over the pass with no trouble, and most of the way, Interstate 90 is completed. It is a pleasure to drive these roads. Interstate 94 is completed thru the center of North Dakota and one can really make good time.

There was snow on all the mountains and when we stayed in Red Lodge, Montana, with Alta's sister and family, it froze pretty hard. The tops of our trailer house and the car were covered with ice one morning.

We hit some strong winds near Billings, and one trailer was tipped over the day before we went through the area. Glad it wasn't ours!

Most Oregonians talk about "unusual" weather. They do it here in Dakota too. Only here, September and October are usually filled with real nice bright days. Maybe if it gets this rain and snow out of its system, it will turn out nice. Hope so, as I'd hate to think of driving to the New England States in this kind of weather.

There just isn't too much to write about at this time, but will keep you posted along the route.

In the meantime, keep the home fires burning, and we hope each and every one of The Enterprise readers has nothing but good health and good luck!

Offer Made For Resort

BREITENBUSH — The Historic but bankrupt Breitenbush Hot Springs resort about 12 miles Northeast of Detroit may be purchased by a Salem man if a recent offer is accepted.

Tom Porter of Salem made a verbal offer of $350,000 for the upper resort, which includes 74 known hot springs, a pool, lodge, store and other facilities. The offer was made at a meeting of creditors in Salem Tuesday of last week. The amount is expected to satisfy all the secured liens against the property, with some surplus for other creditors.

The resort has been closed to the public since June, 1971, when Carl Armstrong of Salem was appointed receiver of the property.

The owner, Breitenbush Hot Springs Inc., declared bankruptcy recently, noting that several prospective purchasers had expressed interest but were unable to obtain financing.

Porter, who made the offer in a bankruptcy hearing in Salem, said he had twice tried to obtain a list of names of creditors and amounts owed from Armstrong, but was refused each time. He later obtained the information from another source.

T & T Enterprises is currently acting as custodial receiver of the 83 acre resort. Judge Lester Oehler of Corvallis, who presided at the hearing, said a trustee would be appointed to handle disposition.

Armstrong said one of the difficulties in finding a buyer has been the fact that the corporation owns only 83 acres of the 160 acre tract in the original resort. Many of the prospective buyers have stipulated that the additional 73 acres, privately owned, would have to be included.

It was noted that the resort is not in very good condition since maintenance has been neglected for some time.

Debts against the bankrupt corporation include a $120,000 mortgage held by M. D. Bruckman, former owner, and a $41,561 suit (plus $15,000 in attorney's fees) filed against the corporation by Johnson Construction Co., Salem, for work on the facilities.

Cigarettes Taken In Store Break-In

A break-in at the Kracker Barrel, sometime before 9:00 a.m. last Saturday morning was reported by the owner, Wilma Bungarner.

A broken window in the door through which it is assumed entry was made, was discovered early Saturday by clerk Susy Wilson.

The owner estimated about $50 worth of cigarettes was taken. The burglary is the second in the last two years at the Kracker Barrel, according to the owner. In the first break-in, cigarettes also were taken. Police have several clues and are continuing the investigation.

All deer, elk, or other game animals shall be skinned and trimmed of all bruises and/or dirt; areas damaged by the bullet shall be thoroughly trimmed. The hoofs and head must also be removed before the carcass goes to the chill room or cooler.

All carcasses of game animals not held in separate coolers available for this purpose only shall be covered with a clean shroud, game bag, or other suitable material.

The storing of hides, heads or any unskinned parts will not be permitted in any chill room or cooler.

Idanha Appoints Nine Member Citizens Committee

IDANHA—At a meeting of the Idanha City Council Monday night, the city council appointed a nine member council—citizens committee to attempt negotiations with Consumers Power Inc. over a threat by the power company to cut off service to Idanha patrons who refuse to pay a city tax. The power company contends that the tax imposed upon the power company by the city must be paid by a surcharge on bills sent by it to its users within the city.

The council took its action after conferring with Scott McArthur, the city's attorney, and John Hay, Portland, attorney for U. S. Plywood Corporation, whose mill at Idanha is one of three large industries subject to the threatened black-out. Both McArthur and Hay told the council, during a standing-room only meeting at the city fire hall, that further negotiations were warranted before a return to the courtroom should be considered.

Mayor L. C. Davis appointed the five members of the City Council and representatives of industry and residential power users within the city. The City of Idanha won the right to demand a business tax equal to three percent of the power company's gross sales within the city after three years litigation. The company last week served notice on its users in Idanha that it expected patrons within the city to pay the cost of the tax. This amounts to three percent surcharge on current statements and a back charge equal to five percent of all power bills since September 1968.

The City Council was told it had several options, including a class action suit against Consumers Power. The city's attorney said he believed that the power company's surcharge violated contract for power purchase from the Bonneville Power Administration. That contract prohibits discrimination in the matter of rates.

The committee is to meet Thursday night. Mayor Davis said he hoped the committee might meet with Consumers Power representatives early this week.

Santiam Downs Scio 13-7 To Remain Undeafated

By Jim Rose

In an important league game Friday, the Santiam Wolverines edged the Scio Loggers 13-7. The game put Santiam in a first place tie with Colton in the Tri-River Conference. Santiam's first score came late in the first quarter on a 45 yard pass from David Plotts to Gary Taylor. Plotts' point after kick was good. Then, in the third quarter, David Plotts kept the football and ran three yards for another touchdown. The points after pass to Taylor failed.

Santiam J. V.'s Win Over Scio 18-14

Despite an earlier loss to Salem Academy, the little Big Red came back Monday night to upset the Scio J. V. squad, 18-14. Penalties proved the downfall of the J. V.'s in the Salem Academy game as two touchdowns were called back. Salem Academy's only score came with the kick off in the beginning of the second half on a 60 yard run back. The game ended 6-0, Salem Academy.

The Wolverines exploded onto the field in the game at Scio. In the first quarter, quarterback Bob Bennett threw a pass to tight end, Raul Murphy, who romped down to the five yard line before being pulled down. They then proceeded to drive the ball up the middle with Ted Moreland making the touchdown.

In the second quarter, Floyd Peterman scored on a 15 yard run. Scio scored twice in the second half, one on a long run and the other from the one yard line. On the goal line, Santiam's defense held for seven plays before Scio could manage the score. They then made their P.A.T. and the score was 14-12, Scio.

With 29 seconds left in the game, QB Bob Bennett hit split end Ken Morgan who then ran the ball in for the final and winning score. The point after failed and the score stood 18-14 as the clock ran out.

Scio's only score came with three minutes left in the last quarter, when Rich Reed ran seven yards for it. Joel Wurgler kicked the extra point.

Again it was Craig Blackburn leading in total yards rushing. He had 123 yards in 38 carries. Craig has averaged 120 yards rushing in the last three games.

An improved Santiam defense held Scio to only 118 yards rushing, and seven first downs, while the offense totaled 224 yards, and 15 first downs. The Loggers had a total of 33 yards passing, and Santiam had 64. David Plotts completed four passes out of nine attempts.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Scio Loggers had a chance for a touchdown while they were on the Santiam two-yard line. But the Santiam defense only gave them a yard in three tries. Then, on a fourth down play, the Wolverines forced Scio to fumble the ball, and Gary Taylor recovered for Santiam.

The game was hailed to be the most important game of the Tri-River Conference. With Santiam winning, they have a good chance of going to State again.

This Thursday, Santiam will play an improved J.F.K. team. The game will be held in Mill City at 8:00. Last week, Kennedy was barely beaten by Salem Academy, 18-14.
