Thermometer Review

There are three types of thermometers; oral, rectal, and stubby . . . the stubby being the one that can be used either way. Normal temperature in man runs 98.6°, however other species of mammals are different. Dogs are 102, horses 100.5, etc. In man a rectal reading will be one degree higher than oral reading, therefore always subtract one degree from a rectal reading. An armpit reading will be about ½ degree higher. The thermometer should be kept in for at least one minute rectally, two minutes orally and four minutes for an arm pit reading.

Scout Building Financially Clear

The Cub Scout committee met at the Ken Harrison home Monday, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. The annual re-chartering of the Cub Pack, with the Gates Fire Department again as sponsors was reported as completed and Gael Cutsforth is the registered I.R.

The Scout Building is now financially clear and all the funds of the annual Sustaining Membership Drive which is to begin in February will be earmarked for the local Cub and Boy Scout program exclusively.

The pack meeting will be Jan. 24 at the Scout Cabin at 7:30 p.m. Den 1 will present the flag ceremony. Each Den will put on a skit or entertainment. The February pack meeting will be the annual Blue and Gold Dinner. It will be Feb. 17 at 6:30 p.m. at the Student Commons. Warren Goffin will be in charge of the entertainment for this occasion. The Pine Wood Derby will be the feature of the March pack meeting. Emil Zynda will be in charge.

The plans are now underway for a skating party in the near future and those who are interested should let their leaders know so it can be determined if there would be enough to fill a bus. Skateland will bring their bus up for the party.

IRS Office Open Evenings And Sat.

PORTLAND — "Oregon taxpayers can continue to get answers to their tax problems by calling the Internal Revenue Service from anywhere in the state without having to pay long distance charges," Ralph B. Short, director of IRS in Oregon, said.

This toll-free phone service is available on a year-round basis to help taxpayers in all their dealings with the IRS. Although help is as near as a telephone, Mr. Scott said, most taxpayers should be able to prepare their own returns by following the step-by-step instructions that come with their Form 1040 and 1040A. If taxpayers need additional help, they can call the IRS via the toll-free telephone service.

Children's Farm And Indian School Woman's Club Topic

Twenty members of the Woman's Club attended the meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, in the Commons of Santiam High School when the Campfire Girls entertained them with a program, which was announced by Mrs. Virgil Trout, who headed the leaders.

The opening flag ceremony was presented by Susie Stewart's fifth grade group who gave the Woodgatherer's Promise and sang the Campfire Law. Her assistant is Hazel Gabriel. The club "collect" was repeated by Women's Club members, headed by President Toni Thomas.

With Joyce Trout as narrator, the eighth grade Campfire group put on an interesting fashion show, depicting fashions from about the year 1900 until the present day. Their leader is Linda Long.

Fourth grade Campfire Girls were represented by a flute solo by Terri Syverson and Christine Fuller, and by Margaret Murphy who sang in Spanish. Leaders of the group are Josephine Murphy and Kay Syverson.

Joyce Trout's seventh grade group of girls, wearing colorful Indian costumes, gave their impressions through a clever dance to the music, "Put Your Hand in the Hand." Following the girls' program, club hostesses Evelyn Davis, Agnes Carlson, and Toni Thomas, served hot chocolate, coffee, tea, and cookies to those present. The round tables were attractively decorated by the Campfire Girls with centerpieces of miniature tee-pees, totum poles, or candle arrangements.

During the refreshment period, the girls presented their sponsors from the Woman's Club with pretty nose-gays of bright paper flowers. Sponsors include Lettie Swan, Irene Podrabsky, Elaine Russell, Ruth Cummings, Mary Youmans, Kate Doble, and Agnes Carlson. Others, who were not present, are Alma Byer, Goldie Rambo, and Deanna Shepard.

Campfire Girls taking part in the evening's entertainment were as follows: Fourth grade, Margaret Murphy, Terry Syverson, and Christine Fuller; Fifth grade, Tammy Payseno, Denise Stewart, Laurie Holman, Ginger Gabriel, Susan Wright, Sherry Blalock, Elaine Hoover, and Debbie Golden; Seventh grade, Brenda Trout, Toni Payseno, Sandi Burge, Denise Gibson, Laura Hoover, Susan Budlong, and Linda Keen; and Eighth grade, Kim Kirsh, Lynn Larson, Pam Krecklow, and Susan Henness.

The Woman's Club business session which took place after the Campfire Girls disbanded, was headed by Toni Thomas, with the assistance of the secretary, Mary Youmans. It included lengthy discussions concerning both the Children's Farm Home and the Chemawa Indian School, both of whom had been furnished Christmas gifts and had been afforded visits recently by club members. As the club has been sponsoring one cottage, Multnomah, at the farm home near Corvallis, members were particularly concerned by the lack of discipline and adequate furnishings there, and plan to assist in any way possible in the welfare of the nine boys from the ages of 12 to 14 who live there under such circumstances. Many suggestions were made to aid them, such as making large floor-pillows for the living-room and donating other items of furnishings to make the atmosphere more home-like. Cans of paint also seemed to be in high priority, as well as heavy fabrics such as drapery material.

Announcement was made of a District IV report-writing work shop to be held Tuesday, Jan. 23, at the Federal Savings & Loan building in Salem from 9 to 12 noon. Toni, Mary Youmans, Nell DeWitt, and Mamie Reed plan to attend.
