LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Ken Jernstedt

The Oregon Legislature moved into its second week going a little slower than scheduled. It was the hope of the leadership of both houses that the legislature would be running at full throttle this week; however, some committees met for the first time to hold their organizational meetings.

One change for me, is that in addition to my other regular committees, I have been appointed by the president to the committee on elections.

Bills are still pouring into the legislative hopper at a rate of about 25 per day. Most of the bills received thus far are state oriented rather than locally oriented.

Gov. McCall outlined his traffic safety package in a special message to the legislature, and said he wants to crack down harder on drinking drivers. Included in the package of 30 safety laws are ones requiring mandatory use of seat belts and compulsory insurance.

There are now three separate legislative resolutions before committees to ratify a U. S. Constitutional Amendment granting equal rights to women. It takes ratification by 38 states to make the amendment part of the U. S. Constitution; so far, 22 states have done so.

A measure known as the "shield law" was introduced into the senate this week. Under the terms of the measure, a newspaper, radio, or television reporter would be protected from the charge of contempt of court if he refused to disclose his source of confidential information.

Recently, newsmen in various states have been jailed for refusing to reveal their sources of information.

An increase in penalty charges will be faced by farmers around the state if they change the use of their presently zoned land for exclusive farm use, according to a land use bill introduced in the senate.

The purpose of the bill is to take the farm use assessment away from those who wish to speculate on the land by using it for subdivision or business development. Our area will have to watch this one!

Among other legislative action, Secretary of State Clay Meyers appeared before the senate elections committee to propose more than a dozen election law changes.

Among other changes presented, was one to change the time of opening the polls from 8:00 a.m. to 7 a.m. to allow easier access to the polls. At the present time, I can't see the advantage of this!

There are two issues this week I would like to have you focus your attention. They are the equal right amendment and the banning of live sex shoes.

House Joint Resolution 2 is the ratification of a resolution proposing the 26th amendment to the Constitution of the United States which was passed by congress in January 1972. It reads:

ARTICLE

Section 1. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

It requires ratification by 38 state legislatures, not by a vote of the people, within seven years. 22 states have ratified, 5 have rejected the amendment. Idaho was the third state in the country to ratify and at the present time their house judiciary committee is talking about recinding this action.

The committee on state and federal affairs of which I am a member heard the measure last week before 300 persons. We will hear it again in February.

There are logical arguments both pro and con. Consideration should be given to: Is there in fact inequality existing between sexes that legislation would correct? Will the legislation create more problems than now exist? Do we want to empower the United States Congress to enforce such matters?

The other bill relating to live sex shows would prohibit showing of the so called adult live public shows, sale and distribution of movies, photographs, books and recordings dealing with salacious sex in different forms.

The bill if passed would prohibit any person from the sale or showing of live shows or photographs of humans showing sado-masochistic abuse or sexual conduct that explicitly reveals genital areas.

I am co-sponsor of this bill because of the pressure from people in our district to attempt to draw the line between the hard core pornography and the things that are now accepted by current community standards.

It will probably have trouble

Monday night, the pep club went to work in the gym. The girls were busy with paint and paper for two hours — making signs and putting them up for the Colton Game.

Tuesday morning the student council held a meeting. During the meeting, several things were discussed.

Tuesday night the Colton Vikings sailed to Wolverine country. Unfortunately, for the Vikings the Wolverines knew they were coming and were well prepared. The final scores of the basketball games were: junior varsity 52-18; varsity 62-27. BEWARE!!

Thursday night, the annual ham dinner sponsored by the boosters was held. The dinner was a big success.

During the time of the dinner, the freshmen also had a basketball game against Jefferson. The Wolverines let the Lions have it. The Frosh Wolverines reigned victorious with a score of 56-42.

Friday afternoon a pep assembly was held. During that time, Boy and Girl of the month of December were named. Boy of the Month is David Plotts and Girl of the Month is Edna Short.

After those announcements, the trophies from the State A-11 Championship; the Tri-River Conference League Championship for football; the first place junior varsity Detroit Holiday Tournament; and the first place varsity Detroit Tournament were presented to the student body.

Following the presentation was class competition. First place was a hard decision for the judges so it was a tie between the sophomores and the freshmen. Third place were the juniors and fourth were the seniors. The standings now for the Big Spirit Stick at the end of the year are: sophomores with 4 gold stars; a tie between the seniors and the freshmen, each with two, and the juniors with zero. Keep it up sophomores!

Friday night the Wolverines took a trip to the "Home of the Lions." Well, Big Red did it again. They left Jefferson victorious with a score of 70-24 for the junior varsity and 69-47 for the varsity. Next STOP Scio.

In the courts based on past decisions. I would appreciate hearing from you on these issues expressing your opinions and also reasons for them.
