It Ain't All Roses

(by George Long)

I was surprised to see so many residents at the last regular council meeting, Wednesday, June 13. There were about 18 residents at this meeting, some went home angry, others in disgust, while others were just plain startled that the council did not recognize them, nor even bother to ask if they were there for a reason or just as a spectator. I was disappointed that the council did not discuss the city budget with these residents who were interested enough to come and see what the council's ideas were or maybe they had some ideas they would have liked to suggest to the council.

I am the first to admit that the council members were elected to run the city, but they are also elected to represent the residents of the City—and how can they truthfully represent the residents if they do not ask their opinions and what better way would there have been than to have an open discussion at this meeting.

President Nixon put a price freeze on all retail prices last week and said wages weren't the cause of the soaring cost of living. Well I say if you are going to freeze one thing, freeze everything, and indefinitely. That should have been done 10 years ago. Nowadays business comes in for a lot of criticism. Some of it may be justified, but it's safe to say that most of the allegations are unwarranted. American business, laboring under a heavy tax burden, certainly does its share to keep the economy moving. Just suppose, for a moment, that every business in the country shut down for a week—every store, every utility, every railroad, every barber shop, every radio and television station. We all know what happens when just one major industry is shut down by a strike—but what if all business suddenly came to a halt? It's a horrible thought, but it's worth thinking about nevertheless. Give it some consideration. We all might decide that American business merits support and praise—not brickbats!

The increasing gas shortage, and the constant talk of a shortage of electricity and heating oil due to come it makes us wonder just how serious the situation really is. But maybe there's a cure for it if we start to act now.

The spreading gap between petroleum production and consumption in the United States is beginning to receive more than academic attention from the great mass of petroleum consumers. And well it should. As we are finding out, the gap is there and can become unbridgeable unless the public understands its meaning and its cure.

The problem is explained in release from the Independent Petroleum Association of America which says: "In 1973, the oil producing capability of the domestic petroleum producing industry will be 6 million barrels daily below our domestic demand for petroleum fuels. We have a real oil supply gap now filled by insecure imports of more than 30 percent of our requirements. This gap is widening constantly because of inadequate economic incentives to explore for and develop our domestic resources. . . . An additional cause of the spreading gap between the production and supply of petroleum in the U. S., which has received little attention from the general public, has been noted by another energy spokesman. He observed that by 1985, 'American dependence on foreign oil will rise to almost 50 percent and will involve a balance of payment deficit of $22 billion a year for just oil.' In view of the weakness of the dollar abroad, the question arises as to whether such a large number of dollars would be accepted by oil-rich nations. We might not be able to exchange dollars for imported petroleum at any price in the years ahead. The petroleum shortage in-

Students To Receive Scholarships

Three Santiam area high school graduates will be awarded tuition grants to Chemeketa Community College at the annual banquet of the North Santiam Chamber of Commerce June 26 at the Riverview Cafe in Mehama.

Full tuition costs for the 1973-74 school year will be awarded to Iris Hampton, Santiam High School, daughter of the Lewis Hamptons of Mill City. Mike Burns, Stayton High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burns of Sublimity, a drafting major, and Constance Nielson, a law enforcement student from Regis High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nielson of Stayton, also will receive full tuition scholarships.

Bicycle Ride Rained Out; Planned Friday

A heavy rain and generally inclement weather forced the cancellation of a bicycle ride to Niagara Park Saturday. But this turn of events did not dampen spirits to try again—hopefully with the cooperation of the weather bureau.

For all who enjoy fun times, exercise, SUN and the beauty of Oregon in the summer, get out your two-wheelers, and join in the bicycle ride Friday, June 22.

The touring group will leave from in front of the high school auditorium at 11 a. m. bound for an outing at Niagara Park, 7 miles east of Mill City. Participants should bring a sack lunch and drink, along with frisbees, games, fishing poles, cameras, etc., if desired. The bicycle tour will head back for Mill City about 4 p. m., although individuals are welcome to leave earlier or stay later.

This activity is planned mostly for teenagers and young adults. Those having questions, call Susy Wilson at 897-2270.

N. Marion Sneaks By Santiam Nine

Santiam's junior state team lost its opener last Tuesday to North Marion by a score of three to two. The lack of hitting and a combination of errors gave Santiam its first loss of the season.

Santiam had men on base all night, but could not get the key hits to bring the runners home. Two singles, one by Dan Legassie and one by Rick Roth, accounted for the hits and the two runs scored by Santiam. Roth, though ending up as the losing pitcher, actually pitched an excellent game and struck out nine of the North Marion batters, but his efforts were not enough to overcome Santiam's inability to score enough runs.

Santiam went into the bottom half of the last inning leading two to one, but was unable to sustain the lead as North Marion picked up two runs in that inning to win the game.

involves the manner of life and welfare of every one of us. Its solution rests on building a bridge of public understanding of the large energy resources that still await development in the U.S. and of the inadequate price incentives as well as the environmental obstructionism that now block their discovery and use.

Catches Large Salmon

pictured is Denace Gatewood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gatewood, who was all excited about catching a large salmon under the Mill City bridge. The fish weighed 17 pounds, five ounces, and was 37 inches long. Denace is 11 years old and will be a 6th grader next fall.

Health Fair Set At Detroit Gym For July 11th

DETROIT—Detroit Elementary School gym will be the setting for a one-day Medical-Dental Health Fair July 11, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The event is being sponsored by the Deanha Parent Teachers Club.

The program is being presented by the Oregon Health Fair under the direction of Frederick T. Purdy, Health Fair Coordinator.

Fair activities will include exhibits, displays and demonstrations on many aspects of medical and dental care and health screening tests.

A recruited team of a doctor, dentist, nurse, trained technicians and volunteers will be at the fair to conduct the health program. The fair features a nationally recruited team of volunteers in all fields of health care, who are assisted by local and regional health officials.

Some of the activities will include free tooth brushes and tooth paste, dental brushing examinations, a nutrition quiz, a rat experiment, tests of blood anemia, urine and blood pressure, lung capacity and vision.

Mrs. Kathleen Boeckstiegel and Elaine Hopson, both of Detroit, are co-chairmen of the planning committee.

The fair is open to all ages. A similar Oregon Health Fair is being held at Mill City July 13 and 14.

Pauline Jones Purchases Local Hair Design Studio

Pauline Jones, owner and operator of P. J.'s Beauty Salon has announced the purchase of the Studio of Hair Design from Betty Klutke.

The move was made to the new quarters this week and a grand opening with cookies and coffee served, will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 21, 22 and 23. There will also be drawings for gift certificates and Mrs. Jones said she would greet former patrons and welcome new ones.

The shop is located at 240 S. W. Broadway, next to the Mill City Pharmacy.

Operators besides Mrs. Jones are, Barbara Davidson, Ellen Stahlman and Dene Ann Hillesland.

Police Collect Many Fines This Month

Don Gillenwater, police chief, submitted the department's report for the month of May at the last regular council meeting.

There were 24 traffic citations; 17 traffic warnings and two juveniles in municipal court.

There were 57 court cases processed with 48 incidents received and 15 complaints. One accident was received and $1,115.00 collected in fines.

Santiam Downs Stayton 6 to 0

Santiam's junior state baseball team downed Stayton last Thursday night six to zero. Jim Wright, in perfect pitching form, mowed down 14 Stayton batters by way of strikeouts, while walking only one batter and allowing no runs. Wright used a combination of fastballs and curves to keep the Stayton players swatting at thin air all night.

Wright's battery partner, Maurie Richards, was outstanding behind the plate while catching Wright and throwing out Stayton baserunners at will. Richard combined with shortstop David Plotts in picking off three Stayton baserunners on their way from first to second base. In hitting department, Santiam was led by Brian Jones who went three for four at bat while knocking in four runs. One of Jones' hits was a triple into right field. Brian Smith, David Plotts and Randy Roth rattled the Stayton boards for a total of five doubles between them, making it a frustrating night for the Stayton pitchers.

Decorations May Be Any Kind In Kids Parade

Margaret Stromquist, secretary for the Fourth of July Steering committee, said that inquiries had been made regarding the children's parade.

Announcement had been made that the theme for the Kiddie parade would be the same as the general parade, "Take Time To." However, Mrs. Stromquist said that the decorations and theme could be of ANY choice desired.

The parade will be judged at 11:20 a. m. and the youngsters will line up on the parking lot of the Canyon Dental clinic on First Avenue before that time.

Parents are asked to help small children into the proper line before judging time to expedite matters. Cold drinks will be provided for the kids to keep them from becoming too restless while being judged.

Medical Clinic Set For June 13-14

The Santiam Canyon Medical-Health Fair to be held July 13 and 14 in Mill City will include several activities in addition to the exhibits, displays, health screening tests, etc., which the incoming team (from Sheridan, Wyo.) brings to the Fair.

At the June 14 meeting of the Health Fair Planning Committee Steve Cahan, chairman, announced that local, county, and state organizations, agencies, and individuals in various areas of health (primarily in Marion and Linn counties) are being invited to participate. At this time commitments from four groups interested in participating in the Fair had already been obtained, and other groups will be contacted in the next two to three weeks. Monte Megargel will be contacting local health professionals and Steve Cahan county and state groups.

In order to facilitate a fun and festive atmosphere, recreation and entertainment will be an integral part of the Fair activities. Country/Western/Folk singing group, "Taylor and Taylor" from Salem, has agreed to a Saturday evening performance. Fund-raising activities, such as the bottle drive which netted $16, are being considered to be used in finding entertainment and in publicizing the Fair.

The gymnasium at the Mill City Grade school has been obtained as the site for most of the Fair activities.

Anyone having suggestions or ideas about recreation, entertainment, areas of medical or dental care, publicity, etc., which they would like to see included in the Health Fair, should come to the next meeting, Thursday, June 21, at 7:30 p. m. at the Christian church. Help is needed in making the Fair a truly great community event.

Miss Patty Howell Crowned Queen Of Upcoming Fourth of July Festivities Before Large Crowd

By Mary Kelly

Miss Patty Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Howell, was crowned Queen of the 1973 Fourth of July Celebration in Mill City at the 15th annual Queen's Coronation at the Santiam High School auditorium Friday evening before a large crowd. She was sponsored by AARP, Chapter 394, and will be a junior at Santiam next fall.

Other princesses judged on talent, personality, poise, appearance, and ability to "ad lib" answers to questions, included Susy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilson, a senior sponsored by Marilyn Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls; Lori Levon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Levon, a sophomore sponsored by the Mill City Lions club; Debbie McClain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClain, a junior sponsored by the Mill City Garden Club; Lori Hildebrandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Day, a junior sponsored by the Mill City Junior Women's club; and Jackie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilson, a junior sponsored by the Mill City IOOF-Rebekah Lodges.

Master of Ceremonies for the program was Mike Wilson, served in the same capacity last year, and the processional and recessional were played by Grace Hutchinson. The festivities opened with the presentation of the 1972 Queen, Jackie Clark Ruby, who was escorted to the stage by her husband, John Ruby. Next came the 1972 Junior Court, Queen Jill Girod and King Frankie Shepard, who crowned their successors, the 1973 Junior Court, Queen Anita Goffin, who took Kathleen Moore's place at the coronation event, and King Kevin Wilson. Baby roses were presented to Queen Anita by tiny Jennifer Wilson, and King Kevin received his scepter.

Following recessional for the Junior Court, entertainment was furnished by Tania Brown who danced to the tune, "Put on a Happy Face." Talent presentations by the princesses were as follows: Lori Hildebrandt sang two numbers from "Show Me," and gave a monologue as she stood between the Christian and the American flags; Debbie McClain gave a vocal solo, "You'll Never Walk Alone," accompanied by Doris Williams; Lori Levon, in a resplendent costume, sang and tap-danced to "If My Friends Could See Me Now," accompanied by Carol Rae; Jackie Wilson in a "hobo" outfit, sang "Hey, Look Me Over," and "Pass Me By," accompanied by Grace Hutchinson; Patty Howell danced to the number, "Tie a Yellow Ribbon Around the Old Oak Tree," and Susy Wilson sang "You've Got a friend," the accompaniment arranged by Tom Grant.

The question and answer period, conducted by the Mas-

City Budget Meet Set for Monday

The City of Mill City Supplemental budget hearing that was scheduled for Monday evening, June 25 at the city hall will not be held due to the defeat of the general budget last week.

However, there will be a committee meeting of those working on the general budget that same (Monday) evening. The public is invited to attend to ask any questions that they may have concerning the budget for the fiscal year of 1973-74.

Patty Howell Crowned 1973 July 4th Queen

Queen Patty Howell was all smiles Friday evening when she was crowned and presented the traditional bouquet of red roses. She will reign over the 4th of July celebration in Mill City along with members of her court. Queen Patty is sponsored by Santiam Chapter No. 394 AARP.—Lloyd Sidwell photo.

ter of Ceremonies, was followed by a clever tap-dance by Elisa Syverson in costume for "Kitty the Kat."

Upon announcement of the winner by the judges, Queen Patty Howell was crowned and robed by the former Queen Jackie Ruby, and presented with a huge arm bouquet of red roses and the Queen's gift, after which she thanked her sponsors, the AARP, and her parents for their support during the contest. The recessional to the reception in the Queen's honor, given by the Steering Committee in the Student Commons, followed.

Escort for Queen Patty Howell was Loran Hagen; for Lori Hildebrandt, Tyce Pedersen; for Lori Levon, Mark Moffatt; for Debbie McClain, Vernon Golden; for Jackie Wilson, Robert Davilla; and for Susy Wilson, Tom Pileher.

Serving as judges for the event were Mrs. Vera Thomas of Stayton, Mrs. Addie Crawford of Salem, Harold Johnson and Lile Wilt, both of Stayton. Coordinator of the ballots was Dale Crawford of Salem.

While the judging was in progress, Master of Ceremonies Mike Wilson on behalf of the Steering Committee thanked Pam Morris, Margaret Stromquist, Lillian Archer, and Randy Richter for their help backstage and in the student commons. He mentioned that the princesses had been given three sessions at Sue Ferguson's Charn School in Salem, and had ridden in a car donated by Phillip Ford of Stayton for their appearance in the Strawberry Festival parade in Lebanon. Mrs. Elva Keerins, representative for Beeline Fashions, was thanked for her assistance in purchasing outfits for the court's public appearances. Grace Hutchinson for providing the musical background, and Brunner's Flowers for donating the corsages, boutonnieres, and bouquets of roses.

Princess Lori Hildebrandt was announced as the winner for having sold the most tickets to the coronation for which she received $25. About $400 in tickets were sold.

The drawings for prizes, consisting of two wood-carved cats made by Dale Crawford out of wood from the old Hammond Company planer-mill, were won by Starla Neal and John Wills.

During the course of the evening, it was explained that the judging of the princesses was based on the following: 30% on personality (pre-judged by the committee); 20% on the question and answer period; 30% on talent acts; and 20% on poise and appearance combined.
