Questions and Answers On Property Tax Refund

This question and answer column is prepared by the department of revenue to assist Oregon taxpayers in applying for the new homeowners and renters refund. It will be a regular feature until the tax payment deadline April 15. If you have any questions on the refund program you would like answered, call your nearest department of revenue office or call toll-free 1-800-452-0330.

QUESTION: I am a homeowner filing for the new property tax refund. My property tax was paid in full by the bank which hold the mortgage to my home. By paying the entire amount of property tax prior to Nov. 15, the bank received the standard three percent discount on the tax bill. When I file for a refund, can I use the full property tax bill, or the amount paid by the bank after the discount?

ANSWER: Homeowners may base their refund claim on the full amount of property tax levied by the county assessor before any early payment discount is made.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Telltale Gamma Rays

Police scientists, working on an assault case, checked the gamma rays emanating from a bit of dirt taken from the victim's sweater. Then they checked the gamma rays from the dirt on the suspect's trousers.

The rays matched — and the evidence later helped to send the man to prison. The case illustrates a potent new weapon ("neutron activation analysis") in the fight against crime. Gamma rays, under proper conditions, can reveal whether any two objects — no matter how small — came from the same source. The gamma rays are brought into action by "charging" the object with radioactivity.

Already, the method has been used to track down the source of everything from paint to pipe fittings, from oats to heroin, from hair to moonshine.

Nevertheless, like any new technique, it must be used with appropriate caution in order to qualify the findings as legal evidence.

Thus, in a murder case, comparisons of blood made with gamma rays were held not admissible because technical difficulties made these particular tests less than convincing. The court warned against "the misleading aura of certainty which often envelopes a new scientific process."

In one unusual case a taxpayer, claiming a refund from the government, staked everything on a scribbled notation in the margin of his checkbook. The government retorted that he might easily have inserted the notation years after the date of the original entries.

To settle the matter, scientists compared gamma rays from the ink in the notation with gamma rays from the ink in the regular entries. The similarity of the rays convinced the government that the taxpayer was indeed telling the truth.

Result: he collected his refund in full.
