Lady Bootmaker Says

Cowboy Boots In Fashion Spotlight

Great Gatsby fashion lovers watch out!

The western look is coming on strong this spring and summer, says the world's only lady cowboy bootmaker.

"Couple our country's trend towards nostalgia with the denim and blue-jean craze and you've got a natural—almost a must—for western boots to complete the western look," believes Miss Enid Justin, the 80-year-old president and founder of The Nocona Boot Company in Nocona, Texas.

Miss Enid, as she is affectionately called by all who know her, says she can't recall any period of time comparable to this when the interest in and demand for western boots has been as great as it is today.

"More and more people—businessmen, women, and college students—are wearing western apparel these days. Many Americans are discovering that you don't have to own a horse or live in Texas to enjoy cowboy boots," she smiles.

The colorful Texan says that demand for Nocona boots is up considerably, due in large part to women who have found high fashion in western boots.

Miss Enid attributes much of this to the advent of the round-toe boot, a virtual milestone in western boot fashion where for years nothing but sharp, pointed-toes could be found.

The new toe, which resembles the rounded toe of a shoe, is becoming an attractive companion for the most tailored business suit, as well as for women's slacks and pant suits. Miss Enid says that actually her company has been making this type of toe in a variety of styles, leathers and colors for several years but it has set the styling trend only recently.

The women's lib movement is just a part of the reason for the upsurge of western wear and western boots this spring, believes the 80-year-old president and founder of The Nocona Boot Company, Miss Enid Justin, left.

The popularity is so great that Nocona will introduce their 15th ladies' style this spring. Never before, Miss Enid reports, has her company introduced a boot in the middle of the year.

Miss Enid, who says she's been liberated all her life, credits "women's lib" for part of the increased popularity of western boots among ladies.

"Women are finally coming to their senses and are dressing comfortably and practically," she says remembering the early 1900's when men scoffed at buying a pair of boots from a woman when women wouldn't wear pants, much less boots.

"But the women of 1974 are doing so much. They've realized now that western wear is almost essential for outdoor sports and activities," she feels.

"It's so important today to spend money wisely. Western boots have traditionally been recognized as footwear made to endure the toughest treatment. Now they have gained acceptance as the stylish footwear they've always been," Miss Enid says.

The quick-to-smile, silver-haired lady who reports to her office every day at 7 a. m., reassures that pointed-toe boots—always popular with rodeo cowboys—remain in high demand.

Miss Enid, sums up her philosophy of current boot trends this way.

"It's good to know who's wearing the boots in the American families these days. 'Everybody.'"

Dinner guests at the home of Melvin and Dorothy Newberg on Sunday, July 27th, was their daughter, Toni Newberg, and her friend, Randy, from Salem, and P. L. Mulligan, Dorothy's father from Mill City. Toni and Randy were on their way home from a successful fishing trip.

Thursday, July 31st, was the day for a family reunion and birthday dinner at the home of Mary Stafford. The birthday honored Mary's brother, Gilbert Myers of Silverton, on his 80th birthday. Attending the gathering was hostess, Mary Stafford, Mrs. Gilbert Myers of Silverton, their brother, Louis Myers of Elkhorn, a sister, Mrs. Lon Marston of Gresham, their niece, Mrs. Evelyn Pierce of Gresham, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marston of Troutdale.

Traveling to Salem Friday, August 1, were Dorothy Newberg and Dorothy Arthurs. They visited with Dorothy Newberg's daughter, Toni, and then lunched with her other daughter, Penny Peterson, and grandchildren Butch, Tina and Mary Ann. They shopped in several places on their return.

Lisa Barnhardt returned home on Saturday, August 2, from her United Nations tour to New York City.

Enjoying a smorgasbord lunch and dessert with Harold and Mary Wilson on Sunday, August 2 was their son-in-law and daughter, Don and Helen Carey of Stayton. They were also joined by Nellie Allen.

Guests at the home of Dave and Carman Barnhardt are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry and their four children, Michael, Katherine, Matthew and Amanda from Santee, Calif. They have been visiting with Mrs. Eda Stafford and the other nearby family.

Arriving on Tuesday, July 29, to visit with Mary Stafford was her cousin, Flossie Garner from Jacksonville, Ore. While here they enjoyed a shopping trip to Mill City on Wednesday and a visit on Friday to Milwaukie. She left on Sunday, August 3, for McMinnville where she attended the Kansas picnic and enjoyed a family reunion. She will return home on Tuesday.

The Dave Barnhardts spent Sunday, August 3, at the Oddfellows Summer Picnic at Gertrude Weidmans in Fox Valley.

Arriving on Thursday, July 30, at Harold and Mary Wilson's was their son and wife, Robert and Hazel Wilson, and boys, Robert and Rory and friend Rick from Portland. They were joined on Saturday by Robert and Irene Sage from Eugene, Hazel's sister, and Hazel's mother, Mrs. Mabel Wells, also from Eugene. Robert and Hazel celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary on Saturday with everyone trav-
