Thought for the day: Misfortunes when they come are ever found more light to bear than expectations dreaded.

Riddle of the Week: My first means equality; my second inferiority; and my whole superiority. Match-less.

Santiam Ripples
by Kevin Long

Wow! The first day of school, what a hassle. The halls were filled with freshmen not knowing which class was where; sophomores forgetting locker combinations and/or numbers; juniors getting reacquainted with old friends; and seniors picking on freshmen.

Tuesday also brought with it excitement, the excitement of the first day of school. The whole day was spent mainly getting acquainted with teachers and friends.

Wednesday only added to the confusion with the first double-period of the year. Wednesday night there was a football scrimmage for the public on Allen Field at 5:30 after which was held a potluck in honor of the players.

Friday finally rolled around and with it the first weekend. The starting of a cycle that will last for another 180 days.

Ranger Station Women Attend Eugene Confab

DETROIT — Two business management women attended the salute to International Women's Year recently at Eugene. They were Susan Hill, switchboard and teletype operator, and Sher White, receptionist, both from Detroit Ranger Station.

The women of Eugene invited two women from each ranger district to take part in a celebration of Women's Equality Day and International Women's Year. The Central Plaza of the Eugene Mall was the meeting place for the event.

Susan and Sher found the meeting to be very interesting and how important International Women's Year was to many people.

The program was very informal, so everyone was comfortable and talked freely. Some of the guests were dressed in apparel from the 1890's to the 1920's to publicize women's suffrage.

Play School Planned By Detroit School

DETROIT — Detroit High School Advanced Home Economic students would like to invite pre-school children ages two to four from Detroit-Idanha are to participate in their play school Sept. 15-19 from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The children will be involved in arts, crafts, music, games, and making their own nutritional lunch. The home economics students will serve as teachers and will also be observing the developmental stages of children.

Parents interested in involving their children in the program are asked to contact Miss Carol Hammil at 854-3363.

Ranger District Hires Part-Time Employees

DETROIT — Detroit Ranger District employed some 70 new or returning temporary employees during the summer of 1975. Most of the summer employees were from the north-west but some came as far as Virginia and Ohio.

The news release on summer forest service employees was not published in its entirety due to shortage of space. Following is a brief summary of local personnel employed by the U. S. Forest Service during the summer:

Among the returning employees was Charles J. Benesch, Fire Prevention Guard at Pearl Creek Guard Station on the Little N. Santiam. He is from Corvallis and had returned for his seventh year. He has returned to his vice-principle duties at Chel-dellin Intermediate School, Corvallis.

Ronald F. Harper, is considered a permanent summer employee. This was his 13th summer with the forest service. He served as Fire Prevention Guard at Breitenbush Guard Station. This year, he will be teaching at Crescent Valley School, Corvallis.

Gary Anderson, Fire Prevention Guard at Marion Forks Guard Station, returning for his seventh summer. Gary plans to return to his counseling job at John F. Kennedy High School, Mt. Angel.

Douglas M. Phearson, Scappoose, was the "lookout" on Coffin Mtn. for the second summer. He has returned to school in Providence, R. I.

Randall K. Richter, Mill City, was back for the third summer with the Helitack crew. He plans to work in the Mill City and Detroit area after the crew is laid off. Craig A. Stevens, Gates, also returned for the fourth summer and worked with the helitack crew this year. He plans to work for some logging company during the summer.

Melody A. Barnhardt, campground collection officer was back for her third year. She is now teaching first and second grade at Jordan Valley.

Bruce C. Carey, Scio, worked for road maintenance and this was his second summer. Another returnee on road maintenance was Tom Youmans of Mill City. This was Tom's second summer here. He plans to do some traveling on his motorcycle this winter, throughout the U. S.

Floyd D. Peterman, Mill City, returned for his third summer, this year on the suppression crew. Floyd will be returning to OSU for his second year in sociology and other classes.

Gerald L. Shepherd and Tyce D. Pedersen, both of Mill City, returned for the second summer. This is Shepherd's second year with the suppression crew and Pedersen's first year with the crew. Gerald plans to attend NCC where he will be a freshman, and Tyce is going to college for his first year and will be taking general freshman courses.

LeRoy Shepherd, Lyons, returned for his third summer and is also on the suppression crew. He also will be attending NCC.

Dennis F. Wirtanen, Lyons, operates a junk yard at Gates, would like to remain with the forest service this winter.

Douglas J. Fehlen, Stayton, plans to travel for a while, then may decide to join the navy.

The district had only one new man in fire prevention. He

Jernstedt Attends Alaskan Meeting

State Sen. Ken Jernstedt was among state legislators who recently attended the Western Council of State Governments meeting in Anchorage, Alaska.

Jernstedt was appointed by Senate President Jason Boe to represent Oregon on the Human Resources Committee. The committee discussed mutual problems facing the western states in the area of human resources and sought solutions to these problems.

Other committees which met were natural resources, energy and transportation. Jernstedt said he also attended some of the energy sessions as he believes it is one of the most important areas affecting the citizens of Oregon.

The Western Council of State Governments is a branch of the National Council of State Governments which meets regularly to discuss problems affecting state governments and to give states a unified voice on mutual problems when dealing with the federal government.

Evelyn Julian served cake and coffee to Katie Skillings, Leora Stevens, Eva Bressler, Reta Cruson, Peggy Wright, Alta Bodeker, Mary Turner, Florence Nause, Lois Schaefer, and Ellen Whaley.

Detroit Elem. School Says Save the Campbells Labels

DETROIT — The Detroit Elementary School (K-8) plans to enter the Campbell Soup Co.'s "Labels for Education" Program. By saving labels from Campbell's soups and beans, the school will be able to acquire audio-visual materials.

The school would appreciate it if members of the community would start saving the labels from Campbell's soups and beans. Collection boxes will be set up throughout the community, as well as at the school.

If there are any questions concerning this project, please contact Karen Howard, school library-aid, 854-3438 (home number).
