Our job press is kept humming from early morning until night now-a-days. Very few people in Lake county send away from home for their printing.

New potatoes at Eugene. A resident of that burg planted them last fall, and they have grown all winter, and are now large enough to use. This beats planting potatoes in the moon, that so many old timers tell us about.

There was a dispute Tuesday between Recorder Willits and Deputy District Attorney McDaniels as to who should have jurisdiction over the Moore case and receive the fine. The recorder was the best stayer, and captured the money for the town.

When the council gets around to it, a ball and chain should be provided for drunks and disturbers of the peace, so that the town will not "lose money on the goods," i. e., make these fellows (who would just as soon lie in jail as not) work on our streets guarded by a ball and chain.

Two thoroughbred Jacks for sale. Choice of three, two of which are sired by an imported jack. Three and four years old, good size and warranted to perform, and are sure foal getters. Price $350, $500 and $700, respectively. Can be seen at my residence in South Warner.

Persons troubled with rheumatism should try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The railroad people are not very enthusiastic over the glorious rain. Washouts and landslides occurred at various points of the line last week, occasioned by the down-pour. It fell in torrents on the Oregon division of the Southern Pacific. The Sacramento river was never known to be so high. Trains were delayed for three days between Redding and Ashland.

Governor Pennoyer last week appointed officers for the new county of Harney, with county seat at Harney City, as follows: W. E. Grace, clerk; A. A. Cowing, sheriff; T. J. Shields, county judge; J. E. Morrison, T. B James county commissioners; Wm. Harvey, assessor; L. B. Baker, school superintendent; W. R. Gradon, surveyor; V. J. Miller, treasurer.

"I have used St. Patrick's Pills," says Mr. J. Reynold's of Mayfield, Ky., "and pronounce them superior to any I have ever before used. I do not hesitate to recommend them, knowing them to be reliable." They are thorough, yet gentle in their action, and leave the system in splendid condition. As a cathartic, or for disorders of the liver, St. Patrick's Pills have no equal. For sale by Daly & Sutton. 4 tf

The following from the pen of Mr. L. P. Bardwell, editor of the Marian (Iowa) Pilot, will, we believe, be of interest to many of our readers. He says: "It is with pleasure that I certify to the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I have used it in my family for years and have always found it most excellent, and especially for colds, croup and sore throat. It is safe and effective." For sale by Daly & Sutton. 4 tf

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, aged 102 years, 9 months and 5 days, died at Salem last Wednesday. She was born in Alstead, New Hampshire, in 1786. She moved to Rochester, New York, in 1804, where she passed fifty-three years of married life. In 1816 she gave birth to the first pair of twins born in Rochester, one of whom has a son, Fabritus, with whom she died. She came to her son in Oregon in 1870. Her faculties were all good to the last.

Biographies of members of Harrison's cabinet are now in order. Here is one: "Harrisons's secretary of agriculture, 'Jerry Rusk,' is a good example of what a man can amount to. He used to drive mules on a canal and had as companion on the tow path another barefooted boy, James A. Garfield. Rusk afterwards drove stage, then was sheriff, member of the legislature, volunteer in the army, congressman, governor of Wisconsin and may be heard from yet."

The latest railroad news, says the Astorian, is that the Union Pacific is going to Tacoma, and the Chicago & Northwestern is coming to Astoria. The latter road has found it useless to attempt a terminus at Yaquina, and having secured the Oregon Pacific, are looking this way. At this end of the line things are moving right along. [illegible] contract on the [illegible] South Coast railway was begun yesterday, running south from Skipanon.

Lake county will produce more grain, more hay, more cattle, more horses, more sheep and more wool than ever before in her history, this season.

No San Francisco mail reached this place Sunday, Monday or Tuesday nights. The delay is said to have been caused by land slides on the railroad near Sisson.

John Neville, foreman of the Muntz place, Sprague river, was here last week transacting land and other business. He has a fine place on Bogus, Siskiyou county.

The ice has entirely disappeared from Goose lake. This is remarkably early for the ice to leave the lake, considering that some years it hangs on until the middle of May.

Under the new school law teachers will get certificates for one, two and three years, and only one of a grade. It will take rustling; but a certificate will be worth having.

The snow Friday night, and the rain since, has furnished a bountiful supply of moisture, and has caused our people's faces to brighten materially, as the prospect for good crops was never better.

Lakeview should have a vagrant ordinance. Any person having no visible means of support should be made either to take a walk or go to work on the streets p. d. q. There are a number of dead beats laying around that could be corraled under such a law.

The San Francisco papers say that the Nevada, California and Oregon narrow gauge railroad from Reno, Nev., will soon be extended to Lakeview, which will secure the trade of the Goose lake section, Modoc county and most of the Klamath lake basin, if it gets here quick enough.

We learn from the Redding Free Press that Grant I. Taggart of Willow Ranch is a candidate for special agent of the land department under the new administration. Mr. Taggart is well and favorably known in this vicinity, and is acknowledged to be a reliable man of unquestioned ability. He has made the land business a study, and is particularly qualified for the position to which he is an aspirant. His many friends in this vicinity will, if they have the opportunity, indorse him without hesitation, as they are well acquainted with him as a business man, and also socially. The EXAMINER hopes Mr. Taggart will secure the appointment.

The applications of Fred Rinik and Tannler & Polly, of Fulton, for licenses to sell liquor, were last week rejected by Judge Catlin at Portland because they did not conform to the requirements of the new Layman law, particularly sections 4 and 5, which provide that any one wanting a license must obtain the signatures of the majority of the legal voters of his precinct and publish the petition in a newspaper for four consecutive weeks, or post it publicly, together with a notice of the time he intends to ask the county court for a license. Judge Catlin held that the Layman law is now in effect, notwithstanding it lacks the approval of Governor Pennoyer. It contains an emergency clause reading, "Inasmuch as there is urgent need of a law to prevent and punish the unlawful sale of spirituous, malt and vinous liquors, this act shall take effect upon its approval by the governor," and Judge Catlin maintains that it was the intent of the legislature to put the law into effect immediately, and further that the law is now in force just the same as if Governor Pennoyer had signed it.

Our new town marshal, Al. Hemminger, commenced to earn his salary right away. In an hour after he had qualified as an officer, he arrested a young man named Moore for carrying concealed weapons and disturbing the peace. The prisoner was put into the county jail until next day, when he was tried before Recorder Willits, plead guilty and was fined $30.

A nervous man walked into a store in Portland the other day and sat down for an hour or so, when a clerk asked him if there was anything she could do for him. He said no, he didn't want anything. The clerk went away and he sat there half an hour longer when the proprietor went to him and asked if he wanted to be shown anything. "I just wanted to sit around. My physician has recommended perfect quiet for me, and says above all things I must avoid being in crowds. Noticing that you did not advertise in the newspapers, I thought that this would be as quiet a place as I could find, so I just dropped in for a few hours' isolation."

Sensational R. R. News.

"Now comes the Wabash & Pacific railroad company's engineers, twenty-five of them," says the Oregonian, "and camp in the Cascade mountain pass where the celebrated Oregon Pacific road expects to work through, and they tell a contractor of the Oregon Pacific that they will soon have their road located; that it will go to Albany and thence northwest to connect with the Astoria & Coast railroad near Tillamook. It may be a story got up for effect, of course, but in these times one knows not what to expect. All the railroads afloat are anxious to come to Oregon, by hook or crook, and we can't blame them, but all the same they won't all get here."

Government Work on the Columbia.

Work at the Cascades locks has been progressing very favorably during the past winter, owing to the fine weather; in fact, there never has been a better season's work done there, nor work done at less expense. Since June last 92,000 cubic yards of earth and rock have been excavated, all of which has been raised in removal an average height of fifty feet.

This amount of material represents an excavation 500 feet in length by 90 feet in width and 50 feet in depth. In order to complete the work, there is still to be excavated 400,000 cubic yards of earth and rock, so it can easily be seen that the completion of the locks will require some time. The work of placing in position in the wing walls the huge piles of cut stone which have long been accumulating, will soon be commenced, and the results of the labor heretofore expended will begin to assume a more tangible shape.

It is most unfortunate that congress did not pass a river and harbor bill, so that work could be continued on the locks, without intermission, to their completion. As it is, the present funds will be exhausted long before another appropriation can be made available.

Paisley Pellets.

Some of the shifting rain clouds struck against the mountains recently and moistened Paisley and vicinity in grand style. The honest granger now wears a smile that looms up like a country circus poster on a barn door.

Bill George and E. J. Yeakly are now running the Pioneer saloon, formerly occupied by Steve Gaylord.

Paisley records two more deaths during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Raines lost their little boy Tuesday afternoon, and William Clark's little girl died the same evening about 9 o'clock. Both infants.

The other sick are not supposed to be dangerous. John Elder is slowly mending. Mrs. W. L. Hill and Mrs. Geo. R. Hamersley are both feeling better though not entirely well.

Miner Wallace and Miss Lorena Modtisette got a charter from Squire Morgan to trot in double harness last Sunday night. Well, Miner, in the language of Rip Van Winkle: "Here vos to yourself und your family, und may you lief long und been happy." As you launch your ship upon the untried sea of matrimony, we stand, in imagination, upon the shore and hurl the old fashioned shoe of good omen. May she buffet every wave and never spring a leak.

Constable Riley Hamersley and Hon. S. P. Moss started for Prineville last Monday morning after a man who had a horse without any title. Suspicion was first fastened upon him by his leaving a drop letter in the Paisley postoffice for a party by the name of Porter, who failed to put in an appearance. The letter, after laying here for some time, was innocently forwarded to Silver Lake and handed to one of the Porters at that place. The deputy-sheriff of Crook county accidentally ran across this man while in search of other evil doers. The man evinced guilt by starting to run, and the sheriff and posse chased him seven miles before running him down. He had a good brown saddle horse with Cox & Rice's (Adin) JC brand on, and also an old gentle horse belonging to Grandpa Moss. The latter was used for a pack animal. When he saw the sheriff's party approaching, he dropped the pack and lit out like an overland express train behind time.

Esquire Morgan and Hon. George R. Hamersley are lying in ambush with legal weapons, and are liable to make it interesting for these gentlemen that don't pay attention and get their halter on to the wrong animal.

LATER.—Riley Hamersley and Steve Moss arrived with their man Friday at 5 o'clock. Riley got to Prineville just as the judge was discharging him for lack of evidence, and arrested the man in the court house as soon as he was discharged by the Prineville authorities. He claims to be Will Jackson, but Paisley parties have identified him as William Merritt. Merritt had a hearing before Justice Morgan Saturday, and in default of bail ($500) was held to await the action of the grand jury.

The other party, Porter, called for his mail on his way through Paisley about noon Friday. He left for Silver Lake, and that afternoon Bill George and J. T. McDonald, armed with a warrant for his arrest, started in pursuit. They overhauled him early Saturday morning at Partin's ranch, Summer Lake, and returned to Paisley Saturday afternoon. He will be given a hearing Sunday. Merritt has one horse and Porter has two.

NEIGHBORING NOTES.

Mount Shasta Herald.

It is asserted in some quarters that the piece of railroad now being built by the Sisson Mill and Lumber Company is the beginning of a railroad from here to southeastern Oregon. A survey has been made around the northern base of Mount Shasta and through Sheep Rock Pass, which survey is on file in the Southern Pacific office at San Francisco.

Sunday Welcome.

For months past on the Columbia and Willamette rivers, principally on the lower Columbia, there has been a daily catch of about fifty tons of sturgeon, which is shipped to the interior and eastward by rail. From the number hanging on hooks about Portland both in the Mongolian and Caucasian quarters of the city, it appears to be quite probable that a ratio of three tons stop here, and that what was formerly known as "Albany beef" on the Atlantic slope, is to hereafter cross the rockies as "Pacific sea bass."

Ashland Tidings.

The Lane county agricultural association has disbanded. Want of funds is the cause.

The Astoria Pioneer claims that city to be the second largest in the state with a population of 8,000.

A reduction of ten per cent in the wages of employes of the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamers on the Columbia river and Puget sound was ordered last week, and every boat was at once tied up. The strike was ended after a few days by the company setting the men to work at the old wages.

Valley Record.

Orchards in full bloom present a nice appearance.

It is estimated that there are 140,000 acres of vacant public lands in Josephine county and 320,000 in Jackson.

A Chinese god was one of the curious things on this morning's train. Not a tin god, but a real live Chinese god with whiskers on.

Salem proudly claims a population of 10,113, and the position of second city in the state. This knocks out Astoria, which energetic burg had been pretentious enough to claim that honor.

Salem Statesman.

The Astorian says: "The mustn't-sell-tobacco-to-boys-under-eighteen law is now 'in force,' but the cigarettes are being smoked just the same." The same is true in Salem and presumably so in every town and city in the state. The boys procure their tobacco, cigars and cigarettes just the same and use them as profusely as before, with perhaps a little more secrecy. Bands of kids are to be seen and heard every evening puffing away at the nasty cigarette and squirting tobacco juice with just as much sang froid as though the Oregon legislature had never placed a supposed obstruction in their way.

The state of Oregon is now provided with another commission, the "Oregon Domestic Animal Commission," and its members are the governor, secretary of state and president of the state board of agriculture. They each get $250 a year, except the secretary of state, who works for his health, and the board is to appoint a state veterinary surgeon, who shall not receive more than $1,000 a year and his traveling expenses; and the business of this commission and the veterinary surgeon is to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among animals.

Democratic Times.

The new law in relation to teacher's certificates seems to be proving a terror all over the state. At Salem, out of fifty-seven applicants, eighteen failed entirely, while only six secured first-grade certificates. In the neighboring county of Douglas, twelve out of thirty-four applicants failed entirely and many others barely succeeded in getting third-grade certificates. In this connection, it may as well be stated that in Roseburg as in Jacksonville the graduates of the public schools are generally successful in getting certificates.

Oregon's esteemed and honored representatives at Washington are now receiving 800 letters per day from republican constituents asking for their endorsement for various and sundry federal positions within the gift of the administration. This does not indicate, as at first sight may appear, that there are 300 accessions per day to the ranks of republican office seekers in Oregon; but, basing the calculation on the solution of the familiar problem anent the hen and a half which laid an egg and a half in a day and a half would really betoken a much slower increase in numbers. In the first place, every office seeker of any political sagacity, as soon as he concludes to join the noble army of place hunters, proceeds forthwith to direct a personal missive to each of the three Oregon dispensers of federal patronage, asking for endorsement at the hands of each; which goes to show that not more than 100 office seekers write the 300 letters that make glad the hearts of Messrs. Mitchell, Dolph and Hermann each recurring day. Even the latter estimate is erroneous and excessive, however, for it is well known among office seekers whose sagacity is productive of results that in every locality certain local statesmen are very "near" to the powers that be, and this class of office seekers always insist upon a letter of endorsement to whichever of the powers said statesman is "nearest," which latter letter usually goes forward in the same mail which carries the original applicant's letters, petition, etc. Then, too, it frequently becomes necessary for the local precinct or county patronage dispenser, especially where he has "endorsed" two personal friends for the same position, to follow his first letter with a second, explaining the matters to the chief dispensers. The imputation that there is a daily accession of 300 applicants for government positions is unjust to the republicans of Oregon. We do not, candidly, believe that the increase exceeds fifty per day.

Town Council Squibs.

The town council met Monday and all the officers qualified. Several committees were appointed and some preliminary business attended to. The marshal appointed A. Swingle as night watch, which appointment was confirmed by the council. The council met again Tuesday night to discuss proposed ordinances.

The council will have a busy time for awhile in drafting laws for the government of the town. The charter, which has been received, is quite voluminous and gives the council plenty of scope to work in and allows the town to regulate and to collect a license or tax from most everything that lives and moves except California dudes. The ordinances will probably be published in this paper as fast as they are passed by the council.

It is proposed by one member of the council that commercial traveling men, or "drummers," be taxed $25 per year for doing business in Lakeview. Of course, the "knights of the grip" will object and decline to pay, but such an ordinance will bring many hundred dollars into the town treasury in the course of a few years.

It is also proposed that dogs be taxed $2 or $3 per head per year for the purpose of encouraging immigration and to discourage the Piute habit of too many dogs. This will be a splendid ordinance, and will destroy the large crop of worthless curs that inhabit all parts of Lakeview, especially at night.

The town charter defines the boundaries of the town of Lakeview as follows:

SECTION 2. The boundary limits of the town of Lakeview shall be as follows: Commencing at a point one thousand feet east of the NE corner of the NW¼ of Sec. 15, Tp. 39 S., R. 20 E., W. M.; thence running south sixteen hundred and ten feet; thence at right angles west four hundred and thirty-one feet; thence at right angles south twenty-three hundred and fifty feet; thence at right angles west twelve hundred and eighteen feet; thence at right angles north twenty-eight hundred and twenty feet; thence at right angles west two hundred and fifty feet; thence at right angles north seven hundred and fourteen feet; thence at right angles west seventeen hundred and forty-one feet; thence at right angles north two thousand and ten feet; thence at right angles east twenty-six hundred and forty feet; thence south four hundred feet; thence at right angles east five hundred feet; thence south eleven hundred and eighty-four feet; thence east five hundred feet to place of beginning.
