San Francisco Chronicle: “The Oregonian thinks that Hanna is driving the gold Democrat to Bryan because he opened the campaign with the assertion that it was the election of Grover Cleveland which caused the hard times in 1893. The Oregonian is a free-trade paper and it does not like to see a ‘white’ reflected upon, but it will find it difficult to persuade Republicans that the slump after the year named and the restoration of prosperity when a protection President was elected are not intimately associated facts. Of course, the Republican party is ready to receive all the votes offered, but there is no good reason why its members should admit that the pitiful ‘gold’ contingent won the victory in 1896. It was protection that did it.”

The United States is one of the first of the great powers to demonstrate its good faith in carrying out the provisions of the Hague convention looking to the universal arbitration of international differences. Under this treaty each nation a party to it was authorized to appoint four members of an international arbitration. Under this authority, President McKinley has requested former Presidents Harrison and Cleveland to accept appointments on this board. Responses are expected very soon, when the remaining members may be selected.

“Man live but to learn.” An esteemed contemporary, of decided popular persuasion, tells us that the Portland Evening Telegram is a Republican paper. The Telegram is a Democratic paper of the freeman style, but that does not prevent its editor telling this plain truth:

Election bets in New York are said to be almost three to one in favor of McKinley, and even then few men of good judgment are found who desire to risk any coin of the realm on Bryan’s success. He is a valuable talker, but the people will not make a president of him.”

The battleship Oregon will come back with a patch on her hull. This was the normal condition of the American laborer’s trousers during the late Democratic administration.

Nothing makes a woman laugh more than a new set of teeth with gold filling in them.

Wm. Metzker and St. Henderson and family have returned from a week’s trip in the Chewaucan country, where they gathered wild plums.

New Era, Alturas: “Yes Pepperdine, Mrs. S. W. Pepperdine and Mrs. Mollie Hughes, who have been at the head of New Pine Creek on a camping trip for the past two weeks, returned home last Wednesday. They report having had a delightful time, and intend to return again in the near future.”

Notice to Filers.

Parties in the Lakeview land district who made filings, final proofs, or were interested in contests wherein decision had not been rendered between the 1st and 224 day of May, 1900, are advised that their filings or final proofs should be duplicated at once; and such proceedings should be taken in the contests as would be deemed advisable by the parties interested. This advice is given on account of the records of the land office for the month of May being destroyed in the fire of May 29th. Newspapers in the Lakeview land district are requested to give publicity to the above.

Corbett the Winner.

In the great battle between two of the world’s greatest scientific fighters, at Madison Square Garden, New York August 30th, Corbett knocked out McCoy in the fifth round. Repeated slugging blows in the region of the heart settled McCoy. Corbett received $18,000 for his twenty minutes’ work and McCoy $6,000.
