GEST

Don't Like Termo.

[Cedarville Record.]

According to rumor of the past ten days, a change may be looked for in the policy of the N. C. & O. railroad and its extension to within the boundary of Modoc within the near future may, we think, be looked for with some degree of certainty.

Last week Moran Brog., principal owners of the road arrived at Reno, and we are informed, had somewhat of a stormy meeting with Manager Gest, and expressed their grave dissatisfaction of his management of the road and the terminus, and all work on the buildings at Termo was stopped. Last week Mr. Moran, accompanied by another railroad man from New York, went over the road on a tour of inspection, and continued on to Alturas. We are informed that Mr. Moran expressed his surprise, as well as disgust, at the terminal point selected, and gave the Alturas people to understand that the road would be extended north very soon. The extension of the road as far north as Alturas would be hailed with delight by all in Northern California and Southern Oregon.

It will be almost an impossibility for our freighters to Surprise Valley to haul the freight from Termo during the winter months, on account of the roads to be traversed, consequently our business men would be compelled to either get their goods at Amedee or Reno, and the confusion of having their goods pass on to Termo from Amedee would cause much trouble, as it has already done during the past month. Now, that a "change has come o'er the scene," we hope to see the railroad extended into Modoc inside of another year.

Moran, Owner of the Road Gibson Then Shoots Wm. No Particulars of the Sad Linville in the Breast.

Last Sunday night at 10 o'clock a shooting affray occurred at Alturas, which caused great excitement in that town. Lase Center, driver on the southern stage, tells the facts of the case, as near as he could learn, as follows:

About the hour mentioned, and while a few people were lounging in the Wickliffe saloon, the inmates were startled by the shattening of glass in the front window, and the whizzing of rocks as the missiles struck obstacles in the saloon. William Linville, who formerly drove on the southern line, is night barkeeper in Wickliffe's, and he immediately grasped a pistol, rushed to the front door, and espied a man 'running rapidly away from the scene. Linville opened fire on the retreating figure and at the second shot the man stopped and put his hand on his leg as an intimation that he was hit. Linville then advanced and discovered that the man was none other than Dr. Alex. Gibson, with whom Mr. Wickliffe recently had serions trouble over domestic affairs.

Gibson begged to be allowed to go in peace, but Linville, it is said, was so enraged when he discovered who the perpetrator of the outrage was, that he held the pistol close to Gibson's head and pulled the trigger, but the cartridge snapped, thereby saving the doctor's life. Gibson was arrested. It is not known just why he took this means of revenge on Wickliffe, but the affair probably grew out of the difficulties Gibson and Wickliffe had over the latter's wife. Recently Wickliffe brought suit against his wife for divorce, and also instituted proceedings against Gibson for $25,000 for the alienation of his wife's affections.

DEAD

Event Received.

The relatives of N. P. Tonningsen in Lakeview were bowed down in grief and sorrow last Tuesday morning when the following news came by wire to Judge Charles Tonningsen:

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18 .- Peter died this morning. Break the news gently to father and mother.

JOHN TONNINGSEN.

On September 3d deceased left Lakeview en route to San Francisco on a business and pleasure trip combined. He was the picture of robust health and manly vigor, and looked forward to his trip with much pleasure, intending to be absent several weeks. While J. S. Field was in San Francisco last week he met Mr. Tonningsen and was with him several hours. At that time he was in perfect health and apparently full of enjoyment. A letter from J. Frankl to George H. Ayres tells of the writer meeting Mr. Tonningsen on Market street a few days ago.

On account of this the news of "Pete" Tonningsen's death came as a terrible surprise to relatives and business associates. The relatives immediately wired to San Francisco for further particulars. Although the telegraph was used per-

Merryfield, the sheepman, took out a license in Modoc county for grazing 4500 Wead of sheep, thereby settling the case against him in the Modoc courts, and relieving him of any further trouble in the premises.

Who is the enterprising gentleman that will build about a dozen cottages in Lakeview, for rent?

LATER.

Since the above version of the shooting affray was put in type, Operator Boyd has received the additional information that Linville followed Gibson to his home. Gibson waited until morning, when he armed himself with a shotgun, went in search of Linville, met him and fired a full charge of shot into the man's breast. Linville is probably fatally hurt. Gibson was arrested and released on bonds.

sistently Tuesday no further particulars of the sad affair could be learned. The remains will be interred in San Francisco.

Deceased, Nis Peter Tonningsen, was a native of Germany, aged 44 years. He came to the Pacific Coast in 1874, and located temporarily at Wheatland, Yolo county, Cal. In the Fall of 1874 he removed to Ft. Bidwell, Modoc county, and four years ago came to Lakeview, where he engaged in business, purchasing the Lakeview Brewery enterprise with George H. Ayres. About a year ago deceased engaged in the sheep business and was prospering. It was his intention to rebuild in the spring the Lakeview Brewery, which was destroyed in the fire of May 22d. He was a man of good business qualification, and had numerous friends who will regret to learn of his death.
