

Death of C. L. Maxwell.

A dispatch from Oakland, Cal., under date of September 8th announces the death, at that place on the date named, of C. L. Maxwell, brother of J. W. Maxwell, of Lakeview. Deceased was one of the best known merchants in Oakland. He had been ill for several months, though for the past month his physicians had given up all hope of his recovery.

Mr. Maxwell was a native of Pennsylvania, having been born in that State in 1841. As a young man he went to Iowa, where he engaged in the hardware business, which he followed up to within a year of the time of his death. Coming to Oakland eighteen years ago he engaged in the same business, meeting with good success. A little over a year ago his health began failing and he decided to retire from business, which he did.

The emergency bags sent by a church society to Kansas soldiers in the Philippines contained among the necessities a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the well known cure for piles, injuries and skin diseases. The ladies took care to obtain the original DeWitt's Hazel Salve, knowing that all the counterfeits are worthless. Lakeview Drug Co.
