ROBERT A. EMMITT.

[Oregonian, Sept. 9.]

Robert A. Emmitt, one of the representatives from the joint district comprising Crook, Klamath, Lake and Wasco counties, is a son of Hon. John Emmitt, of Douglas county, who served a term in the Oregon state senate. He was born in Illinois in 1850; came across the plains in 1852 with his parents, who settled in Douglas county, and taught a term of school near Roseburg in 1874. He was married to Miss Flora Lesley, of the same county, in 1875, and removed to the eastern part of Jackson county and engaged in farming and stockraising, in which he has been fairly successful. That same year Jackson county was divided, the eastern portion forming Lake. In 1882 he was the republican candidate for sheriff of Lake county, but was defeated by J. L. Hanks, a democrat, and a first cousin of Abraham Lincoln. In 1882 Lake county was divided, the western portion being named Klamath, so Mr. Emmitt has lived in three counties without a change of residence. In 1886 he was elected and served a term as county commissioner. In 1898 he was elected a member of the board of equalization from the First judicial district by a majority of over 600, while at the proceeding election the district gave a democratic majority of over 1500. The act creating the board having been repealed he never served. Mr. Emmitt has served as justice of the peace for 20 years in his own precinct. He was elected last June as one of the three representatives from the counties of Wasco, Crook, Lake and Klamath by 945 majority. Having cast his first vote for General Grant in 1872, Mr. Emmitt has ever been a strong advocate of republican principles, many times in advance of his party, particularly in reference to the gold standard.

It is positively amusing to see the strenuous efforts of the Republican press to make 16 to 1 the paramount issue in this campaign. It is amusing because for at least six years, until the last few months, these same papers have been assuring us almost daily that "free silver is dead."—Populist Organ.

"Free silver" was a dead issue until Mr. Bryan resurrected it and grabbed the Demo-Pop. convention at Kansas City by the ears and made the party leaders insert it as a plank in the Demo-Pop. platform. That was one instance when the man showed that he was greater than his party.

HE WANTS BRYAN SHEEP.

Here and there one may find a Bryan man who is a Bryan man for the reasons assigned by J. K. Price of Lincoln, Neb. The Philadelphia "Press" tells the story. A friend of Mr. Price met the latter recently after a long separation, and congratulated him on his prosperity, which Mr. Price said was the result of raising sheep under the Dingley Tariff law. The friend then remarked: "You will of course support the McKinley administration then." And this was the answer. "No, I can't do it. It's simply a matter of business with me. I bought 2000 sheep four years ago at $2.25 a head and sold them out two weeks ago for $4.35 a head, and in the meantime I got all the wool. I bought Cleveland sheep and sold them as McKinley sheep. What I want now is some Bryan sheep to speculate on." But we don't think Mr. Price will get them.—Rochester "Democrat and Chronicle."

Oregon Timber.

At Camden, Maine, recently the largest schooner in the world was launched. It is the first schooner to have six masts, and those masts are handsome sticks of Oregon pine, each 119 feet long and 30 inches in diameter in the partners. The fore-top-mast, jibboom and driver boom are also Oregon pine. This shows that the value of Oregon timber for shipbuilding purposes is acknowledged. Oregon, with its forests of unexcelled timber certainly has a bright future. When opened to the markets of the world these will prove a great source of income.
