CREAMERY

Lakeview Citizen will Engage in the Industry

S. N. Guilliams Makes a Purchase of Land to Build on Thomas Creek.

The Examiner has made a hobby of the Creamery business and for a year past has agitated the establishment of such an enterprise in Goose Lake valley. It now transpires that one of our wide-awake citizens looks upon the proposition favorably, and is arranging to engage in the business.

S. N. Guilliams, who is an experienced dairyman, has completed negotiations for the purchase of a piece of land on Thomas Creek, 8 miles northwest of Lakeview, from E. V. Lewis, upon which he will establish a cheese factory and later on a creamery with all facilities for carrying on the business on a large scale. There is little doubt that such an enterprise will be a substantial one and will pay from the start. The splendid stream of pure, cold water, from the mountains and canyons, known as Thomas Creek, will flow directly across the land selected by Mr. Guilliams, and has fall sufficient to furnish ample power for the operation of a plant such as the promoter has in view.

Mr. Guilliams should receive the hearty co-operation of all our people, especially the business men of Lakeview, in his undertaking, as no more beneficial industry for the community could be conceived than the one in which he intends to engage. Mr. Guilliams will find that his business, well managed, will soon become a very profitable one, and his products will not have to depend on the home market entirely to find ready sale. The railroad is creeping nearer to this valley each year, and probably by the time the industry is in good working order this valley will be spanned by many miles of steel rails, upon which rolling stock will be run to carry the products of the creamery and cheese factory, as well as other products, to outside markets.

The Examiner intends to keep track of this creamery plant, and will have more to say regarding it in the future.

Frank Marshall, the sheepman, will spend the winter in California. He will accompany C. E. Sherlock as camp-tender on his drive to Montague with the bunch of sheep he recently purchased from Mr. Applegate in Klamath county.

THE DRAMA

'Above the Clouds' to be Presented Here Sept 29.

New Pine Creek Amateur Dramatics to Appear Assisted By Our Local Talent.

The New Pine Creek amateur dramatics, assisted by Lakeview talent, are to favor Lakeview with their presence next Saturday night, September 29th, in the thrilling drama, "Above the Clouds." About one month ago the drama was presented at New Pine Creek by this company of talented young people, who were rewarded for their labor by a house crowded to "standing room only," and a reception well worthy the play.

So well was the drama given that those from Lakeview, who attended the performance at the State line town, prevailed upon the management to come to Lakeview. The promise was somewhat reluctantly made, owing to the fact that the play was given as a strictly local church benefit. However, The Examiner feels assured in saying that when the amateurs appear in Lakeview they will meet with a hearty welcome and a big house. The drama, "Above the Clouds," is full of pathos and has for a variation a strain of provoking mirth within its lines.

The performance will be given as a benefit for the M. E. Church of Lakeview, and should be well patronized, as the object is a most worthy one. Several well known Lakeview people will take part in the performance. Mrs. A. J. Neilon will recite, and all who have had the pleasure of listening to that lady heretofore can realize that there is a treat in store when Mrs. Neilon appears. Miss Lillie Walters, the well-known vocalist, will also appear in song. Following is the dramatis personae:

DEATH

Passing of Wm. S Morley, After a Brief Illness.

A Distressing Occurrence --Wife and Child are Dangerously Ill with Fever.

Few people in Lakeview were aware that W. S. Morley was seriously ill until the word was passed from mouth to mouth last Monday morning that he was dead. And few there were, if any, who knew him in life that were not impressed with a feeling of sadness upon learning of his death. This is the second death within a month that has been attended with particularly sorrowful details. The Morley home is truly one of sadness and mourning to-day. The wife and little son of deceased are each reclining upon a bed of serious, if not dangerous illness, and when the cold hand of death was laid upon the brow of husband and father the faithful physician and attendants feared to convey the sad intelligence to the wife, lest the shock might overcome her in her weakened condition. Soon, however, she had to learn the truth, and when it was gently whispered to her, the silent, fearless sorrow, the paled, blanched face, gave unmistakable evidence of inward suffering and deep anguish.

Deceased had been ill for a few weeks preceding his death. He was compelled to go to bed after several nights of watching by the bedside of his wife and son. The best medical aid was given him, but the ravages of fever and other ailments proved too much for human skill, and he passed away quickly after an hour's apparent surcease from pain, during which time he conversed with attendants and seemed better. Death came at 7:45 o'clock a. m. on Monday, September 24th.

William Seward Morley was born in Iowa, August 28, 1863. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Morley, who moved from Iowa to Oak Run, Shasta county, California, in 1874. Deceased arrived in Lakeview from his Shasta home twenty years ago, but did not then make his home here. He came here to live five years ago. He leaves a wife and two young children in Lakeview, mother, father and two sisters in Shasta county, Cal., and a large circle of friends to mourn his death. Everybody who knew Will Morley liked him, and passing acquaintances had a kind regard for him. He was a trusted employe of the Frankl Company in Lakeview for about three years, and at the time of his death held the position of Stock Inspector of Lake county.
