

RETURNED FROM A SHEEP DRIVE

The Davies Tels of a Model Creamery Near Montague—C. E. Sherlock Sells a Bunch of Ewes at $3.50 and is Feeding 2300 Wethers in Shasta Valley.

Ike Davies returned last week from Shasta Valley, where he went to assist C. E. Sherlock in his sheep drive. Mr. Sherlock had 2800 head, recently purchased from Applegate of Klamath county, that he intended taking to Montague for sale. Upon reaching Shasta Valley he sold the ewes, numbering 500, to a rancher there at $3.50. He is now feeding the remainder of the band, wethers, at that point, and has proably contracted the bunch to Slater, the commission man, at a good price.

Mr. Davies tells of a model creamery plant he saw on the road, this side of Montague. The creamery is the property of a wealthy San Francisco woman, and the building is made of hewn logs and put up in the style of ancient architecture. Everything about it is as neat as a pin, and the machinery is the latest improved. There are two separators, and at one place the pure cream goes into the machinery and when it comes out again it is in handsome rolls of rich, yellow butter. Davies says it is an interesting sight. Attached to the machinery are two pumps, which send the surplus milk in pipes out in different directions, one pipe leading to a pig-pen at a considerable distance and another to a calf corral. The owner is very proud of her mountain creamery plant. The machinery is run by water power and is located in a beautiful spot. It is a paying enterprise and turns out a very fine quality of butter, cheese etc.

A like enterprise is what Goose Lake valley needs badly, and The Examiner hopes that the day is not far distant when some wide-awake man or company will establish a creamery in this valley.

The Bull Weighed 2,160.

A ton of bull is a great deal of bull, but George Hankins, of Summer Lake, passed through here Tuesday hauling in a four-horse wagon, Melville, a thoroughbred registered shorthorn bull purchased by him from the B. S. & L. Co. that is 9 feet 6 inches long and weighs nearly a long ton, or 2,160 pounds, says the Prineville Journal. His girth is over 8 feet, and he is a magnificent animal in every respect. Mr. Hankins already has a fine herd of Shorthorns, of which Melville will now form the head. He was offered $100 by a prominent stockman of this county for his bargain, but refused to accept, knowing that he had secured one of the best animals in the state.

J. B. Prose, of Kansas.

The "Mail and Breeze," of Topeka, Kansas, publishes a picture of J. B. Prose, one of the leading lawyers of that state and a Republican of influence, and in part says of him: "A leader in Republican circles in the East, he naturally drifted into this line in Kansas, and for twelve years he has been a most successful party leader. He is 44 years old, and his integrity has won the confidence of men who look to him for advice in political matters."

The subject of the above brief sketch is a nephew of Samuel J. Prose, member of the Board of Commissioners of Lake county.

Federal Grand Jurors.

The first Grand Jury list for the exclusive use of the United States Circuit Court has been selected and on it are the names of 1000 taxpayers of the state of Oregon who may be called upon to act as jurors. The list is expected to last several years. The following citizens of Lake county are on the list: C. E. Sherlock, stockman; G. H. Small, stockman; G. H. Newell, rancher, M. T. Walters, rancher; G. A. Follett, carpenter; H. A. Brattain, stockman; J. E. Calderwood, stockman; C. C. Harris, rancher; H. C. Whitworth, merchant.

Our Fame Abroad.

Blue Mt. (Canyon City) Eagle. Lakeview is rising from its ashes and becoming an elegantly built town. Among its many conspicuous features is the large three-story brick hotel, containing eighty rooms, and equal in style and construction to the best in Southern Oregon. There are also eight large two-story brick stores just completed. Another fine building is the Masonic, and in addition there are many handsome residences and business houses.

B. A. Deyo and wife, who formerly conducted the Grand Central Hotel at Alturas, and who have been visiting friends at Davis Creek for some time, left last week for their former home in Sison.

The Aermotor windmill and tank purchased by the county, has been put together and placed in position in front of the clerk's office.

A prison official has ample opportunity for an exhaustive study of Crime and its criminology.

Therefore a new book by Rev. August Drahms, chaplain at San Quentin, Cal., entitled "The Criminal," is a work which commands wide recognition as a scientific study of the man behind the bars. Some of his conclusions, well substantiated by long observation, are very interesting, while in the main confirmatory of those of other investigators. Organically, we are told, all crime has its source in anthropological sources. "In time, the personal factors may become so assimilated with the social mass as to almost lose their personal identity." The social element then becomes as fully the feeder of the criminal propensity as the more strictly personal propensities. The greatest proportion of the crimes of civilization are of this kind. The fluctuation of industrial and economical enterprise, the hardships facing the wage-earner, are often a direct invitation to crime. "Intemperance is the chief source of crime, both directly and indirectly. The decrease in the use of alcoholic drinks must ever remain the great aim of all anti-criminal legislation, as well as of moral and social reform." The author is strongly in favor of state industrial and employment bureaus, to aid the working classes to obtain work, and if necessary furnish tools and temporary assistance. California has such an institution which in one year assisted 5,000 individuals to employment. Money thus expended by the state, under government subsidy and inspection, "will flow back again into its resources, whereas in pauper support and almshouses it represents only dead capital and congested outlay in gratuitous, though laudable, charities."

By the pneumatic hammer the marble carver can strike 6,000 blows a minute as against 30 by hand, and thus can give his whole attention and skill to guiding the chisel. Mechanical power is bringing to the horse the emancipation which it has brought to the artisan. And yet, as a scientist recently said to a sportsman who feared that the horse will fall into disuse: "Automobiles will not displace horses until typewriters displace pianos." In their proper field the noblest of animals will never go out of fashion.

"The days of frontier life in Arizona are fast fading away," remarks the Tombstone Epitaph, in a congratulatory tone. "That's a fact," comments the Prescott Courier, published in the same territory. "When we came here, over 20 years ago, we could leave all the doors of our house wide open and all sorts of valuable plunder scattered around the yard, go away, stay a week and find nothing molested upon our return. Now, a broken-backed grubbing hoe left out over night disappears."

Physicians say that there is no person who can retain his or her mobility of character under long-continued bodily distress. The argument that some invalids and cripples have beautiful dispositions does not apply, for the reason that although such persons imagine themselves in constant pain, there are really long intervals of relief and quietude.

Moved to pity by the hard-luck story of a tramp who called at his Washington residence a few evenings ago, Congressman Crump, of Michigan, gave the fellow a pair of good shoes. Then he missed two fine umbrellas, at once followed the man, and compelled him to carry them back and put them where he found them.

As a contribution to the discussion of higher education for women the testimony of Miss Caroline Hazard, the new president of Wellesley college, is important. She says more Wellesley girl graduates than Harvard boys, proportionately, have married.

A writer in an eastern paper estimates that there were 500,000,000 fowls in the United States last year, and that the number of eggs produced was about 17,400,000,000. The value of these fowls and of their product is set down at $420,000,000.

America, ahead in all things, has within its limits the largest hog in the world. This porcine monster is owned by T. W. Williams, of Decatur, Ala. It weighs 1,524 pounds, is ten feet two inches in length, and over four feet high.

It is said the pie bakers of New York attribute the great demand lately for their product to a disappearance of the belief that pies are indigestible. Even athletes now eat pies in training.

Brewery for Lakeview.

Albert Mugler, of whom mention was made last week in connection with the establishment of a brewery in Lakeview, left for Sison last Thursday night. Mr. Mugler has an option on the old brewery lot, on Main street, and as soon as the administrator of the estate of N. P. Tonningens is empowered by the courts to dispose of the property of said estate, the transfer of this lot will doubtless take place, and Mr. Mugler will become its owner. The lot has been appraised at $1,500. Mr. Mugler may return here in a short time or he may wait until spring. At any rate he is determined to establish a brewery plant and bottling works here, and will put in fine machinery. Probably the improvement will not begin until spring.

Lakeview Encampment, No. 18.

Lakeview Encampment, No. 18, I. O. O. F., made the following nominations last Thursday evening: C. P. F. Light; S. W. W. S. Blair; J. W. A. H. Hammersley; H. P. S. F. Ahlstrom; S. J. M. Handley; Treasurer, A. Y. Beach. The Camp is growing gradually in membership and is becoming popular with the members of the Order. Soon the I. O. O. F. will be installed in their new brick hall, over J. S. Field's store, on Main street. The interior of the hall will be handsomely arranged.
