An editor who knows says that the dreams of prosperity differ with the individual. The boy's idea of perfect happiness is six pieces of pie at a meal. The darkey dreams of good ripe water-melons. The farmer's richest feeling is to muse over the 50 bushels of wheat—that he didn't plant. The bicyclist's most prosperous idol is a smooth track around the world. The confidence man has a vision of green mossbacks coming to town in a drove. The country editor's most extravagant dream is how nice it would be for a dozen or more subscribers to come in and pay up in one day.
