

Good Reports

Creameries All Over the Universe are Big Paying Industries.

Reports from all creameries in Oregon and California are very flattering. They are all paying enterprises from the start. They are considered in most localities the most important industries established. In all the beautiful and rich valleys of Lake county there has never yet been a move made to establish a creamery—here where the country is so well adapted to such an enterprise. Doubting Thomases should read about the success of the Ashland Creamery. The business of that creamery, established there in 1896, proves conclusively the value of creameries to a community, to the farmers and to the operators of the creamery. The daily supply of milk brought to the Ashland creamery is 3500 pounds, while it is never in excess of 5000 pounds. The amount of butter turned out runs from 120 pounds to 300 pounds a day. The percentage of butter fat in the milk averages 4.8. Twenty-one cents a pound is paid for butter fat, and this is the price now ruling in San Francisco. A high price is obtained for the butter product, the average being 22½ cents a pound. The butter is shipped as far south as Redding and north to Roseburg, but most of the output is consumed locally. The total output is equal to only a fraction of the demand for this butter. An inspection of the creamery's book shows that a good cow yields $42 worth of milk yearly to its owner, and that an exceptionally fine milch cow will earn $85 a year. Then there is the calf, which alone makes a profit for the rancher on the investment. One rancher milking on an average of seventeen cows during the past nine months, has drawn a little over $100 a month for milk, some times as much as $115. Instances of a band of cows earning $49 to $50 each yearly are not uncommon. About 400 cows are milked for this creamery, the greater number of them being Jersey and Durhams or short horns.

It has been decided by the pioneer monument committee of the Society of Oregon Native Sons, with the concurrence of the Oregon Native Daughters, to hold in Portland next year a grand celebration to last a week or ten days. While the plans are not fully matured, the consensus of opinion among business men, as expressed by many of them, is that it will be more satisfactory to have it take the place of the annual exposition; that we should make it a state affair—an exhibition of the wonderful improvements in manufacturing appliances and machinery in the nearly three-score years of our government's existence and offer every encouragement to the people to bring in the historical relics they have laid away, says the Portland Oregonian.

Besides the attractiveness of such a feature it will give our historical society an opportunity to augment its already valuable collection. The Native Sons and Native Daughters are historical societies, their common object being to see that the history of the early days of the land of "interminable woods" is duly recorded. The purpose of this celebration is to raise money to build a monument to the pioneers. It is proposed to erect in Portland a memorial building on one of the Park row blocks which can be used as a museum for pioneer relics, a meeting place for the pioneers, Indian war veterans and the Oregon Historical society and as a depository for the archives of the latter.

As attempts are being made to found a domestic science and to introduce exactitude into the operations of the kitchen, a note in the Monthly Weather Review recording the actual experience of a housekeeper at Albuquerque, N. M., is of interest. It appears that cooking recipes and practices which are trustworthy not far from sea level are worthless at Albuquerque, the altitude of which is 4933 feet. Water boils there at 202 degrees Fahrenheit, instead of 212 degrees Fahrenheit; hence articles of food the cooking of which depends upon heat applied through the medium of water require a longer time for cooking than is given in the cookery books. On account of the extreme dryness of the atmosphere, farinaceous food, such as beans, corn, etc., lose so much of their moisture that they have to be left for a long time in water before cooking in order to be softened; but the worst difficulty is with cakemaking. Ordinary recipes as to number of eggs and amount of baking powder break down altogether, and housekeepers have to modify them if they wish their operations to be successful. As the barometric pressure determines to what extent the disengaged carbon dioxide shall expand and aerate the dough, this may explain the different action of baking soda and egg batter. In any case, the observation is interesting, and chemists may find it worthy of their attention.

STOCK NOTES HERE AND THERE

William P. Heryford is increasing his herd of registered Hereford cattle. He now has a herd of 50 as fine cattle as can be found anywhere on the Pacific Coast. Lake county stockmen are gradually improving the blood of their cattle, and it will not be many years before the common class will be supplanted by the pure blooded stock.

The Chewaucan Post has the following late movement in our local stock region:

Charles Trumbo, foreman on the ZX will soon start another band of cattle to the desert north of Christmas lake.

Last week the band of sheep owned by Mr. Geo. Hankins and that of Mr. Wm. Harvey got mixed on the spring range at the south end of Summer lake. They were taken to Harvey's ranch and separated.

About 400 head of Geo. M. Jones' cattle struck for the summer range one day last week after they had been fed in the morning at Jones' feeding grounds. The vaqueros went in search but only succeeded in getting about 20 back that day.

Cupid and The Boxers

Miss Condit-Smith Resisted One, but Yielded to the Other. After traveling around the world, enduring the horrors of the siege of Peking and living for many days in the momentary fear of death, it has been the happy lot of Miss Mary Condit-Smith to return safe and sound to her native country. Not alone that, but on Feb. 12 Miss Condit-Smith will become the happy bride of her childhood sweetheart. Surely this is a pleasant ending to a tale replete with adventures and horrors.

Miss Condit-Smith is a beautiful young woman of 21 and has been prominent in the society world of Washington for about two years. She is a niece of the late Justice Field of the United States supreme court. Somewhat over a year ago she left for Yokohama to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Lieutenant and Mrs. Keyes. From that place she went to Peking as a guest of the American legation there, little dreaming of the experiences in store for her.

During the siege of Peking Miss Condit-Smith bore her full share of the sufferings of the beleaguered garrison and performed her part of the work. She kept a most interesting diary of the momentous events that occurred. It includes a lively description of the many tragic and few humorous incidents of the siege. The diary is shortly to be published in book form.

Lieutenant Richard S. Hooker, Miss Condit-Smith's fiance, is a tall, handsome officer of the marine corps. He is three years older than his bride and is a grandson of Senator Stewart of Nevada. He is a college graduate and served with credit in the Spanish war.

It is hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country.
