GAME LAW FOR LAKE.

That part of the new game law for the state of Oregon relative to Lake and Klamath counties reads as follows:

"Sec. 15.—It shall be unlawful at any time in that portion of the state of Oregon lying east of the Cascade Mountains, except in the county of Wasco, to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure or destroy or have in possession, except for scientific or breeding purposes or to sell or offer for sale, barter, or exchange, any pheasant, except native pheasants (sometimes called ruffed grouse), or any quail, except bobwhite quail; or to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, destroy or to have in possession, except for scientific or breeding purposes, or to sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any sage hen, sage cock, grouse, or native pheasant (sometimes called ruffed grouse), at any time between the first day of November of each year and the first day of August of the following year.

"Sec. 17.—It shall be unlawful in that portion of the state of Oregon lying east of the Cascade Mountains, except in Klamath and Lake counties, to hunt, pursue take, kill, injure, destroy or have in possession, except for scientific or breeding purposes, or to sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any bobwhite quail at any time between the date of the passage of this act and the fifteenth day of October, 1905; and from and after said fifteenth day of October 1905, it shall be unlawful in said portion of the state of Oregon, to hunt, pursue take, kill, injure or destroy or to have in possession, except for scientific or breeding purposes, or to sell or offer for sale, barter or exchange, any bobwhite quail between the first day of December of each year and the fifteenth day of October of the following year.

GOOD ADVERTISING SCHEME.

The Supervisors of Madera county, Cal., have adopted an excellent plan for advertising that county—a plan that might be followed in Lake county, Oregon, with profit and with grand results. But we almost fear even to suggest such a proposition here lest the Examiner be accused by certain disgruntled people of another scheme to "rob the county." At any rate the Supervisors of the California county mentioned have entered into a contract with the proprietors of three Madera newspapers, in accordance with which each paper is to print every month three columns of matter on the resources and industries of the county, and mail to each person as the Supervisors direct 300 copies of their papers each week. The publishers receive $25 per month each for the papers. This plan is adopted to attract energetic people to the county to enrich it with additional wealth, and new enterprises, and to develop dormant resources.

Carthage, in Missouri, boasts of a woman insurance agent, a woman undertaker, three women grocers, many women stenographers, several women notaries, doctors, mining brokers and journalists. They are all live, enterprising women and possess sufficient of this world's goods to support husbands. Carthage bachelors should bewitch them into matrimony.

The Dead Sea for thousands of years in solitude in the midst of the desert, and whose waves have been for centuries undisturbed, is now to be crossed by a line of motor-boats. A shorter route will thus be found between Jerusalem and Herak, the ancient capitol of Moab. And Lakeview will soon have a railroad so our people can get to Jerusalem quicker. Jerusalem!

A Kansas editor has discovered how to tell a man's politics. Get him in a hotel washroom. The democrat will wash and empty the basin. The republican will wash and leave the water standing. The prohibitionist will wash in the water left standing by the republican, and the populist will comb his whiskers, and not wash at all.

Ex Senator George W. McBride has received the appointment from President McKinley as United States Commissioner of the St. Louis Exposition with a salary of $5,000 per year.

Wool Market

Justice Bateman Company Circular For March Tells the Story.

The Justice, Bateman Co. circular for March has the following on the tone of the wool market:

Owing to the continued lack of sufficient orders for woolen goods to start up the mills on full time, and the determination of manufacturers to make no goods that are not positively ordered, the wool market is still a waiting one.

There is a considerable pressure to push wool upon reluctant buyers, and this makes the market in buyers' favor.

Those few who are liquidating bankrupt stock, and also the banks which are selling wool which is no longer ample collateral for advances made against it, have the floor; and the prices which they must accept under forced sale become current market values.

Many of those who have been unwilling to accept what seemed like low offers have afterward been unable to sell at even lower prices, and disappointments like this have caused some of the strongest holders to become the most anxious sellers.

Those in search of the causes which determine prices have been completely baffled, and the course of the market has been quite different from what, under normal conditions, would have resulted from certain well known causes.

A striking instance of this is the inexplicable decline in the price of merino wool.

Notwithstanding the great decrease in the total supply as compared with that of two years ago, as well as the diminished proportion of merino wools produced as compared with quarter-bloods, fine wools have declined until territorial merinos are worth less than eastern quarter-bloods, although heretofore they have commanded 15c more per scoured pound.

Prices for fine wools are now almost back to the level existing before the beginning of the merino wool boom in 1899, although at present there must be several hundred million pounds less wool in the United States than there was then.

At that time excessive imports of free wool had been added to the domestic supply; yet manufacturers were so impressed with the enormous decrease in the world's production of merino wool that they filled their warehouses with this grade.

That policy was in strong contrast with what is being done to-day, for the warehouses of the mills are empty, and the burden of carrying the supply is thus thrown upon the producer and the middlemen, which has given rise to the erroneous idea that the supply is larger than it really is.

It may be safely asserted that if the mills owned as much wool to-day as they did in the early part of 1898, or even as much as one year ago, there would now be practically no wool in the Eastern markets.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The tax-roll for the year 1900 is in my hands, together with the warrant for collection of the taxes for that year, and the same will become delinquent on April 1st, 1901. All taxes due thereon and remaining unpaid on that date will be returned as delinquent by me as provided by law.

The tax-rolls for the years from 1893 to 1899, both inclusive, are also in my hands, with instructions from the County Court to collect, and I will at once commence to levy upon and proceed to sell the property of delinquents in the manner provided by law for collection of such taxes, as soon as notices of sale can be prepared and published.

It is not my desire to make costs to any taxpayer, but I must and will do my duty without fear or favor. These taxes must be paid.

Dated March 14th, 1901.
H. R. DUNLAP,
10-3 Sheriff of Lake County, Oregon.

Horses and Mules For Sale.

20 good young mules and 80 head of fine horses more or less. These are stock horses of the Percheon breed, four years old and down—mostly mares that will be fine for breeding purposes. They are all big animals, and anybody who knows the Pratt horses will recognize the fact that the animals are first-class. I have also a Maconahy Jack, 7 years old, which I will sell. For further particulars call on or address C. C. Pratt, Lakeview, Oregon. Residence, 4 1/2 miles south of town. 11-3m

When you go to Klamath Falls don't fail to see C. D. Wilson the popular caterer at the Gem saloon. He carries the finest stock in town and will treat you right. The Gem is the popular resort. Try the Hermitage whisky there. 25-tf

Prof. Ivison of Lonaconing, Md., suffered terribly from neuralgia of the stomach and indigestion for thirteen years and after the doctors failed to cure him they fed him on morphine. A friend advised the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and after taking a few bottles of it he says, "It has cured me entirely. I can't say too much for Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." It digests what you eat.
