

Successful Applicants.

Out of nine applicants before the Board of Education of Lake County for teachers' certificates, but three were successful. The examination is said to have been an unusually difficult one, and it was the first attempt of some of the applicants before the board. The successful ones were Misses Lura Amick and Myrtle Smith, and George McCarty.

Still Soliciting Bids.

Bids for furnishing posts and poles for the Lake County Telephone and Telegraph Company were opened last Tuesday at the office of the Secretary of the company in Lakeview. Bids were accepted on the sections from Lakeview to the Lovelace place in Crooked Creek Valley, and the two sections from the Tucker place in Chewaucan to the Kelley place in Summer Lake Valley. The Board of Directors still solicit bids on the remaining sections. See advertisement in this issue.

Will Not Appear.

It is to be regretted that the "Uncle Josh" company finds it impossible to fulfill its engagement at Davis Creek on the 26th and at Alturas on the 27th instants. It was not known until after the company was fully advertised for those points that there was anything to hinder the carrying out of the program. Later it developed that some members of the company could not leave owing to a rush of business. The management regrets very much that it was necessary to cancel the engagement.

N. C. O. Railway Notes.

Work has commenced at a lively rate on the N. C. O. shops at Reno. The machinery is expected to arrive within a week, and when ready for business a new car will be turned out every two days. A large number of car-builders and machinists are being added to the force. The company is changing the coal-burning engines to wood burners. The company will build a large sheep-dipping plant at Amedee, using the natural hot water at that place for heat to cook the dip. This will prove a great convenience to shippers.

Smallpox Spreading.

Glendale, on the mountain beyond Grant's Pass, is quarantined for the smallpox, where one death has occurred, and a dozen or more cases are under treatment. A few cases are said to have been discovered at Grant's Pass and one at Roseburg. The Ashland papers deny that smallpox exists in their town. The disease is said to be spreading rapidly at Wendling, near Eugene. It would be well for Lakeview to keep a strict guard on this dreaded disease, as travelers who have been exposed may bring the germs here at any time.

Worthy of Patronage.

Fleming Bros, with their Edison Waragraph, or moving picture entertainment, will appear at Gunther Hall next Monday evening, April 22d. The press is universal in its praise of this entertainment. Everywhere Fleming Bros. have put on their moving pictures they have received nothing but praise. The naval and military scenes are said to be entrancing in their graphic depiction of the events of the late war with Spain. The entire show is up-to-date, and unlike anything ever given in Lakeview. Remember the date, Monday evening, April 22. Get your seats reserved at Gunther's jewelry store, Postoffice building, without extra charge.

Dr. S. Graham and son Arnold left Wednesday morning for their home at Copper City. They own quite a number of good copper prospects near the new Bully Hill mine and expect, with the development of the De LaMar smelters, to make a valuable mine of them.—Redding Free Press.

LOCAL PICK-UPS.

H. Schminck is with a fishing party on Sprague river.

H. C. Rothe & Co. have received a large and beautiful stock of spring and summer goods, the latest out. Now ready for inspection by the ladies of Lakeview and Lake county.

Misses Minnie Cannon and Lillie Burrus will arrive from Portland in about two weeks. Miss Alice Magilton [Dr. Magilton] will also return about the same time.

Beautiful shades of Percale at Rothe & Co.'s.

The Lakeview Soda Works started up last Monday for the summer run. The Examiner force returns thanks to Messrs. Hudspeth & Cloud for a generous supply of delicious cream soda and other drinks.

Shirt tails, like fairy tales, are not always founded on facts. Every dealer claims his shirts are the best. Some perhaps are as good as ours, but none as cheap. Ahlstrom Bros.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Massingill returned home last Saturday night from below. Mrs. Massingill has been absent all winter and returns much improved in health.

Mrs. J. S. Herndon, wife of Dr. Herndon of Lakeview, arrived safely at Ashland with her son and daughter on the 8th inst.

Clarence Anderson of Alturas, it is understood, made an offer while here for the purchase of the Lakeview Rustler, and will return soon to either buy the business or withdraw as a bidder.

The Rammers used in Lake county last year proved to be superior to any other, and were sent to the repair shop less frequently than any other wheel. They gave general satisfaction for durability and easy running, and the 1901 Rambler is even an improvement over the 1900. The Rambler gets there in every particular. Hudspeth & Cloud, agents.

Victor J. Maxwell returned last week from San Francisco, where he has been attending Heald's Business College for the past five months. Mr. Maxwell, upon his arrival home, accepted a position with the H. C. Rothe Company, which he will fill during the summer, and next fall he will again return to the city to complete his business course in college.

L. B. Whorton is still at the old stand and is still the senior member of the firm of Whorton & Barnes. This firm is doing a good business in groceries, winter vegetables, etc., and will handle the first vegetables, fruit and berries of the season. Goods delivered free to all parts of the city. Store next door to the Bank of Lakeview.

The stone for the foundation of the new building, to be constructed by Dr. Daly and to be occupied by Whorton & Smith as a saloon, is now on the ground and the brick is being dumped on the lot to be in readiness for the contractor. Excavating for the foundation will begin in a few days.

Ladies, you should see the beautiful display of spring and summer 1901-milinery goods at the parlors of Mrs. A. J. Neilon and Miss L. C. Maxwell, Neilon residence, Lakeview.

Another column of this issue contains an article on the letting of mail contracts in this state. It will be well for intending bidders to read this article carefully. In the future the local bidder will be protected against the professional "star router," and the Government is willing to pay a good, fair price for the carrying of the mails.

Edwin Wilkinson, a Medford butcher, was found guilty of selling unclean and diseased meats by a jury of the Circuit Court last week. His employes testified that Wilkerson had instructed them to kill any sick animal that was likely to die, and they had been following instructions for a long time. It is not stated how many of this man's patrons were killed.

A dastardly attempt to wreck the Oregon Express and send its passengers to death and destruction in the river fifty feet below was made at a point just at the north end of Tunnel 5 above Elmore Sunday evening, says the Ashland Tidings. A discarded railroad tie was placed across the rails between the north end of the tunnel and the high bridge which spans the river a few feet farther on. What might have been an awful catastrophe was prevented by the vigilance of the engineer. While still in the tunnel he saw the obstruction and brought his locomotive to a stop within a few feet of it. The affair was so devoid of results that the passengers themselves hardly knew of it.
