LAKEVIEW, OREGON, MAY 16, 1901.

An inventor being asked, "What after the bicycle?" replied, "There will never be any successor to the bicycle, because there never can be a less amount of material put together with greater skill that will answer the purpose of human locomotion with greater pleasure and ease or a less original cost and current expense to the rider. To consider its lightness, its delicate beauty of appearance, strength and endurance, the price at which it is sold, the uses it serves and the pleasure and health it gives the rider, it must unhesitatingly be pronounced the consummate achievement of our mechanical development and the most beneficent contribution that invention has made to civilization. It is so unique and superlatively perfect that it has no rival and can have no successor."

A strong flow of boiling hot water has been obtained at an artesian well near Vale, Malheur county. Eastern Oregon has always had the reputation of being a "hot place," but we did not know the fiery furnaces were quite so close to the surface.—Salem Statesman.

There is no use intimating that hell is in this direction. That future home of Salem newspaper men and members of the Oregon legislature has long since been located at Ameslee, California, on the line of the N-C-O Railroad, where the water is so hot it can only be used for cooking purposes. Vale, however, is said to be "warm" enough in other respects. There are several hot springs right here at Lakeview, but hell is a long way from here.

Inquiry has been made concerning the date upon which the acts of the last Legislature containing no emergency clauses will take effect. The constitution provides that no act shall take effect until 90 days from the close of the session unless the emergency shall be declared. It is the general opinion that 90 days must have fully passed before the acts take effect and that they become laws on the 91st day. The Legislature adjourned on February 23, leaving five days in that month, 31 in March, 30 in April and 24 in May to complete the 90 days. According to this, the acts will be in effect on morning of May 25.

Common sense puzzles so many people—for we all much sorrowfully admit its uncommonness. Common sense is that sense which is common to all the five senses, or the point where the five senses meet—supposed to be the seat of the soul, where it judges what is presented by the five senses, and then decides the modes of action. So if the reader is possessed of common sense he will readily see what is meant by this explanation.

It is now being "hinted" that the Nevada, California & Oregon railway wants Lakeview to "cough up" or it threatens to leave that thriving little city off the line. If the company is reasonable Lakeview should pay the "fiddler" as is customary without growling.

The above is from the Burns Times-Herald. It has always been the Examiner's understanding that the N-C-O had millions to back it, and asked no favors of any man—nothing but fair treatment.

There are no such girls in Lakeview as this one mentioned by the Denver Post-script man: A girl ran into a Kansas town on her wheel in such brief cycle skirts that the editor of the local paper had a severe attack of palpitation of the heart, and it was observed that the town clock held its hands before its face. The indignant city officials gave her five hours to leave town.

If President McKinley could visit Lake County about this time he would want to "camp right here", where the hills and valleys are carpeted with green, fruit trees in beautiful bloom, waving grain fields, thousands of cattle, sheep and horses grazing on meadow and hillside—and saucy trout jumping up out of the fishing pools during the angler and his worm.

The saloon men of Ashland will attempt to break the new charter of that town, which prohibits them from conducting the liquor business. While Ashland is a Prohibition town in name it is said that nobody goes dry there for want of a cup to cheer.

The fellow who says "Gee! ain't it hot!" will find no occasion to change his mind when he gets to that other place. This, sir, is most delightful weather—not a dammit hot.

TIMBER LANDS.

The Forests of Oregon Being Taken Rapidly by Eastern Capital.

A dispatch to The Oregonian from Medford, under date of May 8th, says that there is an unusually large immigration of home and timber-seekers into Southern Oregon this Spring, and a few words concerning the quality and quantity of the timber of Jackson and Klamath Counties may be of interest.

Sugar pine, yellow pine and fir most abound in these counties, there being about an equal quantity of each. This timber is of excellent quality and of sufficient quantity to warrant the investment of many thousands of dollars. There are a great number of acres of Government land in this district which is heavily timbered and awaiting the filing of homestead and timber claims—there are more people locating homes this Spring in Medford vicinity than at any time during the five years previous. Timber at present is selling at from $5 to $30 per acre, and as the timber of Oregon has a worldwide reputation for quantity, strength and durability, it may not be long before the price will be from 50 cents to $1 per 1000 foot stumpage. At the present rate of locating the timber claims of Southern Oregon, will be practically exhausted by October of the present year.

Another dispatch from Tillamook, this state, under same date announces that a number of timber claims have changed hands the past few days, the largest buyer being Dr. Blodgett. The prevailing price was $1000 per claim. This goes to show that the timber belts of Oregon are receiving wide attention. The timber belt of Lake is also quite extensive and it will not be long before all of it is taken. Again would we advise citizens of Lake county to use their rights in this regard before it is too late.

To Pool Their Wool.

The principal woolgrowers of Eastern Oregon are arranging to call a convention to meet in Baker City at an early date to form a wool combination. The convention will be similar in character and object to one had at Rawlins, Wyoming, two week ago. If the Wyoming plan is adopted, the wool buyers will have to meet the growers in convention and submit sealed bids for the wool which the growers will offer for sale. The bids will be opened by the representatives of the growers and contracts awarded to the highest bidders. The right to reject any and all bids will be reserved.

Converting all it touches into gold;
Content can soothe where'er by fortune placed,
Can rear a garden in the desert waste."

Michael Murphy, Knight.

It was evident in his swagger that he was a scion of the British aristocracy, and the most casual observer could not help but note that he was a stranger to the city. He touched on the shoulder a well-dressed auburn-haired young man who was loitering in front of a Broadway hotel.

"Pardon me, my dear man, but could I trouble you for a match?"

After lighting his cigar, he continued: "Bah Jove! This is a remarkable city. This is my first visit to New York, d'ye know? I'm a deuced stranger; on the other side I'm a person of importance. I'm Sir Francis Daffy, Knight of the Garter, Knight of the Bath, Knight of the Double Eagle, Knight of the Golden Rince, Knight of the Iron Cross. D'ye mind telling me your name, me dear man?"

Replied he of the auburn hair, in a deep, rich brogue:

"Me name is Michael Murphy, night before last, night before that, last night, to-night and every damn night—Michael Murphy."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Radical Reforms Proposed.

At the meeting of the Editorial Association of Lake and Modoc counties, held here last Friday, in which C. Oscar Metzger, of the Chewaucan Post and R. Heenan Stanley of the Surprise Valley Record were the leading spirits, it was resolved, among other things, that the association use its utmost efforts to interest capital in the construction of an electric railway from Cedarville to Paisley via Lakeview; to put steamboats on Goose Lake, and Albert Lake to run up the Chewaucan River to Paisley for commercial purposes as well as pleasure; and to send a memorial to Congress asking for the appointment of a "Bugologist" to suppress ticks—especially the sage tick and newspaper "tick". The Association adjourned to meet at Push next autumn to take up the subject of scab on sheep, and to consider the advisability of establishing a livestock journal for the suppression of cow stealing.
