

LAKE COUNTY!

A Brief Description of One of the Big Counties of Oregon.

Some of the Resources of Southeastern Oregon, the Possibilities of Lake County--The Locality That Homeseekers Should Not Overlook.

Lake county, Oregon, is the third largest county in the state. Its length is 115 miles and its breadth 80 miles. The country is mountainous, interspersed with many large and countless small fertile valleys. On the mountains is an abundance of grass and hundreds of thousands of head of stock are pasturing there continuously. The land is well adapted to agricultural purposes, but scarcely sufficient has been cultivated to supply local demands. It has been considered useless, heretofore, to cultivate more than necessary for the growing of cereals for home consumption, as the expense of sending the surplus to market would not be a paying industry, owing to remoteness from railroads. However, a railroad—the Nevada, California & Oregon—will, we are assured, have its rails laid to Lakeview from the present terminus at Terms, Cal., within the next fifteen months. Engineers are already in the field selecting the best route. When the railroad reaches Lakeview, through the great and rich Goose Lake valley, then will agriculture, fruit and the garden produce industry be extensively engaged in. There is a promise within the next few months of the establishment of a creamery on a large scale for the manufacture of butter and cheese.

may be purchased at $2.50 to $7 per acre—intending purchasers may address The Examiner at any time for a list of places for sale. The vacant lands may be acquired under the desert, homestead or timber land laws of the United States. A United States land office is located in Lakeview for the accommodation of settlers. Considerable state land can be had in this county at $1.25 per acre on easy payments. All kinds of hardy fruits grow abundantly here and berries are very prolific. Persons desiring to acquire homes, either improved, partly improved or otherwise, should not rest until they see this portion of the State of Oregon.

The altitude of Lake county is at an average of 4,000 feet. One can reach here coming from the East, over the Central Pacific to Reno, Nevada, thence by the Nevada, California & Oregon Railway to Terms, Cal., 120 miles distant from Lakeview, or the Southern Pacific Railway to the Siskiyou mountains, to Ager, Cal., thence to Lakeview, a distance of 100 miles over a good road by stage or private conveyance. Mail reaches Lakeview from San Francisco via the Southern in forty-eight hours. Terms, Cal., the present terminus of the railroad, is now the shipping point for Lake county.

There are many new industries contemplated for Lakeview and surrounding country. The town owns its own water and electric light system, and has a population of a thousand people. It has an elegant school building, with high school grade and five teachers. It has two churches—Methodist and Baptist. The business portion is all brick. One year ago, on the 22d of May, the entire business portion of Lakeview was in ashes; today the site of that catastrophe, where two hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of property was destroyed, is graced with beautiful brick structures, a sample of which appears in these columns.

Lakeview is surrounded by extensive valleys, and lies at the verge of the Great Goose Lake, 15x45 miles in dimension. New Pine Creek (to the state line (California and Oregon) to the south, and Paisley, in the heart of the great Chewauan valley on the north, are two growing towns with bright prospects ahead. Just across the ridge of low mountains to the east is to be found the great Warner valley, one of the most fertile spots in Oregon. Boring for artesian water is a new industry just started all over Lake county, with good prospects of success. One could not even mention casually in a limited space like this all the industries and possibilities of which Lake county can and should boast. We have fine forests of timber, numerous sawmills, great cattle ranches, an abundance of water flowing from the mountain canyons nearly all the year round; for sport and pleasure the finest fishing pools and camping places on the coast; all kinds of big and little game are here, also, in abundance. Bands of antelope, numbering in the hundreds, scurry over Lake's hills, and the big mule-tail deer can be found anywhere in the mountains and foothills.

Deeded lands in Lake county, Oregon, springs; great lakes fed by mountain streams, and beautiful fertile valleys; a mine that produces good salt; the finest fishing pools and hunting grounds on the Pacific Coast; fine schools and churches; thirty-five sheep, 3 horses and 10 head of cattle for every man, woman and child in Lake county. We have jails that are unoccupied 365 days in the year, and churches filled every Sunday. We have not any paupers—our people are self-sustaining; we have not a single day in midsummer too hot to work in the sun; we have not any cyclones, hurricanes, blizzards or floods.

From east to west Oregon is 370 miles across and 270 miles across from north to south, giving it an area of 85,700 square miles. The acreage is greater than that of all the New England states, West Virginia and Delaware added, or greater than the aggregate of New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, or Iowa and Ohio, or Illinois and Louisiana, or of the total area of England, Scotland and Wales.

We want ten thousand more people in Lake county.
