LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JUNE 13, 1901.

Rev. Dye of Willows, Cal., is an amorous preacher, who should either remove to the Isle of Guam or go off and Dye. He has a family in high standing and was very popular in the community where he occupied the pulpit until he was caught red-handed in a liaison with a dashing widow of his flock, Mrs. J. P. Klemmer, whose husband died while listening to a sermon preached by Dye six weeks ago. The minister preached the funeral sermon the day after and eulogized the dead. Then followed the consolation offered the bereaved widow by the man of cloth, which was not altogether the consolation of the church. Letters were found in the dashing widow's rooms from the minister in which he called her "my darling" and referred to the delightful times they had together on a recent trip to San Francisco, and of the inspirations that came to them from the inside of a small bottle filled with "red." The minister was forced to resign his charge, and the scandal is the talk of the state. The dashing widow was formerly the wife of a Sacramento gambler. She pleaded guilty to 38 summers and her recent husband was above three score.

Attorney-General Blackburn has filed complaints in suits of the State of Oregon against ex-State Treasurer Phil Metschan, ex-Governor Sylvester Pennoyer, and ex-Secretary of State Geo. W. McBride, as members of the state school land board, for the full amount of Geo. W. Davis' delinquency of $30,952.08, as clerk of the board. Suits have also been filed in the name of the State against Geo. C. Bingham and E. P. McCormack as bondsmen of Geo. W. Davis in the sum of $5000. The suits against the State officials will be begun in Multnomah county and the suits against the bondsmen in Marion county, through the district attorneys. It is maintained on behalf of Pennoyer, Metschan and McBride that the school board's defaulting clerk, Davis, was an official of the State and not an employe of the members of the board. This is the purpose to determine in the courts.

The following is a list of eight classes of people that do a town no good: First, those who go out of town to do their trading; second, those who oppose improvements; third, those who prefer a quiet town to one of push and business; fourth, those who think business can be done easily and without advertising; fifth, those who deride public spirited men; sixth, those who oppose every movement that does not originate with themselves; seventh, those who oppose any public enterprise that does not appear to benefit them; eighth, those who seek to injure the credit of an individual.—Huntington Herald.

It might have been a mistaken idea of boyish honor that prompted him to do it, but who could but admire the spirit of the little fellow who, while he lay dying in a New York hospital the other day, refused to tell the name of a companion who had pushed him from a freight car and brought him to his death, says Leslie's Weekly. "Don't cry, mamma," he said after his crushed legs had been amputated. "It wouldn't be fair to tell. He didn't mean to hurt me." And with his hand clutching his mother's tightly, the boy who was true to his chum, even to death, passed away.

District Attorney Bonner of Modoc had his picture in the San Francisco Examiner of June 4th. In a letter to the editor of the yellow paper he says: "My friends in Modoc and San Francisco need have no fear of my falling in my duty" in the prosecution of the mob that lynched the five men at Lookout. Now, the public may look for something very sensational in this case.

The Ashland Ministerial Association is after the Sunday baseball players. Ashland is certainly becoming a "goody-goody" town. If a man has any fear of the hereafter he should move to that town, where the moral atmosphere reeks with the dew-drops of heaven.

The great English derby of 1901 was won by an American—William C. Whitney's "Volodyonski" in the record time of 2:40 4-5. And now comes Foxhall Keene with his horse, "Cap and Bell" and takes the Oaks trophy. America against the world for horses and everything else. "Rah!"

ON THE WING.

MANDAN, N. DAKOTA, JUNE 6.
DEAR EXAMINER: As we are flying through the "bad lands" with nothing to see but barren hills of yellow dirt and no vegetation, our minds wander back to Lake county. The Oregon Press Association left Portland at 11:30 p. m., June 3d going north into Washington, passing through Olympia, capital of this state and arriving at Tacoma for an early breakfast. Seattle, the great shipping point at Puget Sound, is reached, and we are allowed to get off and view the scenery. Here members of the Washington Press Association joined the party, and later some Idaho members are taken on. Brione is the name of the special Pullman chartered by the editors and two large banners 50 feet long, bearing the necessary information, "Oregon, Washington and Idaho Editors." Crossing the Cascade mountains through a long tunnel, which recently took the place of the famous "switch back," we go down into the Yakima valley, a beautiful country, and follow the Yakima river until it empties into the grand old Columbia. After a night's rest we wake up in Montana and soon arrive at Helena its beautiful Capital. This is a booming, thriving city, but we were not allowed any time to view it. The Missouri river has its beginning in this vicinity, and we follow this stream for many miles. Strange to say, this river runs northwest for some time, and we go up it instead of down. The Rocky mountain pass is not very high where the railroad crosses, and we soon arrive at Livingstone. From this place we can view the high snow covered mountains in the Yellowstone Park. The N. P. Ry. runs trains from here to the park, 50 miles south. Lewis and Clark discovered and wintered in the Great Gallatin valley, which we now pass through. Three rivers rise in this valley and compose the greater part of the Missouri. It is the greatest wheat raising section in the state, and immense elevators are to be seen at every station. The road bed is almost perfect here and the fast time of a mile a minute was made. Passing through the long expanse of Montana in the night we arrive at North Dakota border in the morning, the first town over the line being Beach, a familiar name, but we refused to claim it as a namesake.

Yesterday the three delegations voted unanimously to put the name of Albert G. Fortland as the candidate of the Editorial Association for President. He is now 1st V. President of the N. E. A. and Secretary of the Oregon Press Association.

WEDDING BELLS

PLEASANTS—ROBNETT.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Robnett, near Willow Ranch, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, June 5, 1901, the contracting parties being Mr. Clyde Pleasants and Miss Maude Robnett. The spacious rooms of the residence were profusely decorated with choice flowers. The hallway was a veritable bower of roses and lilacs, while the parlor was a perfect garden of peonies and snowballs. The bridal party entered the parlor to the sweet strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march played by Miss Pleasants, sister of the groom, and took their places beneath a beautiful wedding bell of white flowers suspended from the ceiling. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. C. Wesley Raymond of the M. E. church of Lakeview, in his usually impressive manner.

The bride was tastefully and becomingly attired in white silk and chiffon and carried white flowers. She was attended by Miss Millie Robnett, who looked lovelily in a creation of pale blue. Mr. Duly Robnett was best man to the groom. The groom looked his best and appeared very happy in the conventional black. After the ceremony, congratulations were tendered the happy couple, when all were invited to the dining room, where a bountiful wedding supper was spread—such an one as the bride's mother, Mrs. Robnett, is famed for serving. The evening was happily passed with music and social chat. The newly married couple were the recipients of many valuable and handsome presents.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Robnett, and one of the best young ladies of Modoc county. Of recent years she has been a favorite teacher in the schools of Lake and Modoc and is beloved and greatly admired by all who know her. The groom is an energetic young farmer residing near Willow Ranch, and is fast making his way in the world. He is a gentleman much to be admired for his many good qualities. All their friends, and they are numerous, will join the writer in very best wishes for their life-long happiness.

WE have many new customers each season coming to our establishment who tell us they always understood that we handled good quality of goods. Our reputation with our customers is not made by any particular line of goods we have, but by the general excellence of every article in our stock. We acknowledge we carry good quality of goods. This refers to our cheaper goods in just the same degree as to those of the very best quality.

In ordering our goods we give just as particular attention to the durability, the substantial make and the superior quality of the low priced goods as we do to the medium and better grades, but our assortment is mainly confined to the medium and better grades.

The strength of our lines is apparent when you look at our stock, and for Spring and Summer we venture to assert that there is not another stock of goods in the country that is equal to ours in its wonderful variety, in its great range of price, in its particular style of everything that we show.

We solicit the business of the people of Southeastern Oregon and can readily convince them that we are the best house to trade with in this entire region.

... BAILEY & MASSINGILL ...

Mr. and Mrs. Pleasants will take up their home at the place known as the Barnes ranch, near the home of the bride's parents.

The Examiner returns thanks and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Pleasants for a generous supply of wedding cake.

Serious Accident.
Mrs. Wm. Jennings was seriously injured one day last week by the explosion of a can of prunes. The fruit was on the stove and in a can with the lid tightly screwed on. The can burst and the hot prunes and liquid spurted out and burnt Mrs. Jennings about the face in a frightful manner. The accident happened at the camp at the Water Company's ditch where Mrs. Jennings is employed in cooking for S. V. Rehart and crew.
