He will load back from the steamboat warehouse with five tons of general merchandise. He owns the outfit he drives and is considered one of the best teamsters on the road.

Green Hampton came down from Summer Lake last Saturday and had Drs. Smith and Steiner amputate a middle finger. The surgeons thought they could save the member by a course of treatment, but Mr. Hampton could not wait, and consequently had the finger removed. Quite a number of months ago Mr. Hampton was bitten on the finger by a wild hog, and the member never entirely got well. It has bothered him considerable of late, and fearing blood-poison the doctors resorted to the knife.

Sunday Baseball.

The State Line base ball team came up from New Pine Creek last Sunday and played a return game with the Lakeview team. The State Liners are all gentlemanly fellows and their stay here was a pleasant one. While there were numerous errors made on both sides the game was spirited and interested quite a large crowd of spectators. Both teams need practice badly. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood 14 to 9 in favor of Lakeview. The State Line boys were the guests of the local team at dinner at Hotel Lakeview, and in behalf of the visitors Manager Easter tendered his sincere thanks to the manager of the Lakeview team for the kind hospitality extended to his men. During the entire game there was not a word of disapproval heard from either side and the close decisions made by the umpire caused some good natured "joshing" by Fent Smith, which was taken in good part by the umpire, who was "armed." The game throughout was very pleasant, even though it was unfavorably commented upon "evangelistically" on Sunday evening. Mr. Steiner did fair work as umpire and the score was carefully kept by Mr. Trelean, both visiting commercial travelers. With more practice the State Line team will have a chance for some of the money at the tournament during Fourth of July week.

A. O. U. W. Banquet.

There was no need on last Thursday night, about midnight, of a quartet of singers from the A. O. U. W. lodge standing in front of somebody's residence and singing, "For we are jolly good fellows." The fact was too evident. The steady going members of this prosperous and usually steady going lodge turned themselves loose on Thursday evening, the 14th inst. They were in for a good time--and they had it--of course, assisted by the fair representatives of the Degree of Honor, who gave a zest and sparkle to the evening which a Bachelor supper could never have possessed on itself. The "chef" enjoyed himself with glory. The salads! The coffee--a cloud of fond recollection clings about them.

The candidates who were admitted emerged from a sea of difficulties, triumphantly and honorably. They will enjoy themselves their share of the evening's entertainment, and when in the "wee sma' hours" of the morning, after a pleasant social dance, the weary members wended their ways homeward, it was with the universally expressed hope that such pleasure might come again soon. The salads! The coffee! The best! "How the recollection haunts me!"

To Regulate Use of Water.

The Lakeview Water Company expects soon to adopt new regulations for consumers during the dry season of 1901. These regulations will be a combination of the systems in use in Portland and Ashland. The first aim of the Company will be to supply everybody with water for domestic purposes, and allowing no water to go to waste. In order to carry out this system and be just to all consumers, the Company will be compelled to stop water and keep the mains full at all times. By adhering to this system, as soon as the dry, hot weather causes a scarcity of water, irrigation by consumers will only be allowed each day from 1 to 7 p. m., and if necessary, in extreme drought, the Water Company will reserve the privilege of furnishing the water for irrigation purposes on alternate days. No service cocks will be allowed to let run indiscriminately; neither will night irrigation be allowed. S. V. REBERT, Lakeview, Or., June 17, 1901.

Fossil Hunters.

A party of fossil hunters arrived here from Berkeley, Cal., last Thursday, and after remaining in Lakeview for a few days started for Sands Springs and Fossil Lake to search for curios and enjoy an outing. The party was well equipped for camping and general outdoor sport and expect to see and procure many things of interest. They intended to stop on their way north at Lone Pine and get the assistance of the mountaineer and "Prehistoric" George C. Duncan as guide to the fossil beds and wonderland of Southeastern Oregon. H. A. Furlong, a graduate of the State University of California leads the party, and he is accompanied by W. B. Grosley of Berkeley and Misses Annie M. Alexander and Mary E. Wilson of Oakland.

To Visit Warner Valley

The Red Bluff News says that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norvell, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Duncan, and Miss Annie Cahoon started Wednesday morning for a five or six weeks' outing in the Sierras. Their intention is to spend a few weeks at Battle Creek Meadows and from there go to Warner Valley for awhile and then travel about the hills till time to return home.
