For Examiner Readers

Now for the Fourth in Lakeview. It will be a "bummer."

Mr. and Mrs. Ches. Parker are again at their Summer Lake home.

J. W. Maxwell started north again last week on a business trip.

Hon. J. N. Williamson will deliver the Fourth of July oration at Antelope, Wasco county.

Big posters and lithographs are out announcing the coming of the Rudwin Dramatic Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Long arrived last week from Christmas Lake and remained several days on a business trip.

Winter has left the lap of spring and we are just now having a mild touch of summer weather. Something delightful.

The Misses Snelling are having rooms fixed up in the building south of D. S. Seney's store to be used as a photography gallery.—Cedarville Record.

Dave Edler left for Sprague River Friday, where he will run his sheep during the summer. Mr. Edler did not sell his wool as the price did not suit him.

The Rudwin Dramatic Company gives the best show ever seen in this country, and it cannot be duplicated outside of the big cities.—Sam Duke.

The Examiner has received a fine line of new type for brief, transcript and book work, and we are now prepared to turn out this class of work in good style and on short notice.

Patrons of the Cottage Hotel are well satisfied with the daily bill of fare. Meals there are said to be elegant for the price, 25 cents. Mrs. Day is certainly an artist in her line as head of the culinary department.

The Fourth in Lakeview will be a gala day. The program will be an unique one, and the committees having the exercises in charge are composed of up-to-date people, who will be the recipients of much public plaudit.

The Rudwin Theater Company completed their series of plays Tuesday evening, and will proceed north immediately. These people have well deserved the liberal patronage they have received during their entertainment here, and we bespeak for them an equal success in our neighbor towns.—Susanville Advocate.

During the past few weeks there have been many visitors in Lakeview from the Sacramento valley. All are of one accord that Lake county weather is a delightful change from that of the big valley below, where it is hot enough to roast corn in the sun. No use talking, for all round pleasant weather Lake county cannot be surpassed anywhere on the Pacific Coast.

On the 14th inst., at Portland, the Oregon Pioneer Association elected the following officers:

President, Judge J. D. Gray, of Clatsop county; vice-president, J. C. Moreland, Multnomah county; secretary, George H. Himes; corresponding secretary, Silas B. Smith, Clackamas county; treasurer, Chas. E. Ladd; directors, George T. Myers, Wm. Galloway, and W. Carey Johnson.

Adjutant-General Corbin has received the following cablegram from General MacArthur at Manila: "A large number of men in regular regiments ordered to the United States wish to remain here. Authority is requested for the transfer of those desirable to regiments remaining."

General Corbin has cabled a reply to General MacArthur granting him the authority requested.

Amen! We say.

Amen! A recent bit of pleasantry in the Lakeview Examiner, concerning the location of the Infernal regions, we were led to remark:

When the railroad is extended to Lakeview that place will be only a few days travel from—Ameslee, and that's getting pretty close to "it" in our way of thinking.

To which the Lakeview Examiner responds:

Undoubtedly, then, Ameslee is the much-stalked-of place where so many people have all our life told us to go to. We will be pleased to meet both esteemed brothers Hayden & McDiarmid of the Advocate there, and expect to have a warm time.

We have no wish to interfere with prior rights. Brothers Beach & McGarvey are the original locators in this matter, and if we accept their invitation it can only be upon condition that all our delinquent subscribers shall be admitted free, and that we be permitted to look after the fires in the reception room. Then we would have a "warm time"—sure.—Susanville Advocate.

Settlers' Reply to Brief.

The Examiner is in receipt of the reply of Capt. John Mullan and Joseph K. McCannion, Esq. attorneys for J. L. Morrow, et al. to the brief filed May 2, 1901, by appellants, State of Oregon and the Warner Valley Stock Company. The case is now before the Honorable Secretary of the Interior for his decision. The reply of attorneys for Appellees is a masterly stroke in brief for the cause and legal rights of the settlers of Warner Valley. The appellants are met face to face on every ground of argument taken. To say the least, counsel for the settlers are alert, and faithful to their clients. An early decision is expected from the Interior Department.

Throwing Stones.

As a sort of a comment on the gossip incident to the escapade of Rev. Dye and a dashing widow of Willows, the Journal of that town goes into rhyme as follows:

"Willows said he'd condemn'd to slaughter wrong doing should not be condoned; But I will bet a silver quarter that, if the stoners should, in turn, Receive as good as they've delivered, There would not be in all the town Ten widows that would not be shivered."

The Journal "poet" may have intended the second word of the last line for "windows" but widows will probably answer as well in this case.

Assessor Held Up.

Assessor Bennett of Klamath county recently visited the Pokegama logging camp to collect poll tax from about 150 men employed there. Some of the men paid the tax without a grumble, while others absolutely refused, and threatened to do the Assessor bodily harm if he attempted to collect. Bennett returned to Klamath Falls to consult an attorney as to his legal rights in the premises. He expects to return to the mill this week, and it is thought that if an attempt at violence is made there will be "something doing" for the coroner in that neighborhood.

Cold Day for Antelopers.

A dispatch from Antelope, Wasco county, Or., under date of June 13th, gives the startling information that it snowed continuously for about twenty-four hours at that place, and the hills surrounding the town were covered with snow to a depth of 4 to 18 inches. On the divide to the east of Antelope 18 inches cover the ground, and in the opposite direction at the Raper ranch there was an average depth of five inches. The surroundings presented much the appearance of mid-winter.
