

"Bob" Evans Reprimanded.

Admiral Evans has been reprimanded by the Navy Department, for his criticism of ex-Secretary of the Navy Chandler, the letter to that effect reading as follows:

"Sir: William E. Chandler, president of the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission, lately a Senator of the United States and formerly Secretary of the Navy, has complained to the department, as you are aware, of certain strictures upon the official conduct of the then (1884) Secretary of the Navy. The text of your book it is not necessary here to recite. Nor is it needful to ask of you an explanation why you felt yourself justified in publishing what you have. It is obvious to any reader that you speak offensively of Secretary Chandler's a title; that you impugn his motives and otherwise traduce him in respect to orders given you by the Secretary in the discharge of the duties of his office.

"You are informed that this deliberate publication of yours has justly incurred the displeasure of the department. For an officer thus to attack a former head of the Navy Department because of orders given to him by that official, is to abandon the courtesy that should always characterize an officer of the Navy. If tolerated, it would unquestionably prove subversive of discipline. It would tend to bring the office itself into disrepute. The act is the more reprehensible in this instance because of your long experience in the service.

"It has become my duty, therefore, to censure you for this breach of the obligation imposed upon you as a commissioned officer of the Navy of the United States, which I accordingly do. A copy of this letter will be furnished to William E. Chandler.

"Very respectfully,
"F. W. Hackett,
"Acting Secretary."

The only gun "Bob" fired in return was an acknowledgment of the receipt of the reprimand.

"Quiet" Wedding Reporters.

In reporting weddings the majority of newspapers refer to the occasion as a "quiet" wedding. Some time ago The Examiner had an article on the absurdity of the term "quiet wedding." Now comes the Willows Journal and hits the "quiet wedding" reporters this thump in the ribs: Newspaper reporters, we observe, continue to report "quiet weddings." All weddings are quiet. None are uproarious. Of course some of them, in very high life, among the Upper Ten of the Four Hundred, when the champagne flows a little early in the fight, grow boisterous, hilarious, and even cross the border to the uproarious. Also among our cannibal brethren, weddings are sometimes accompanied by the flowing of brandy, gin, blood, and such things, and to the tune of loud yells—the bride also being decked out in loud colors. But among us civilized people a "quiet wedding" is a redundancy. The reporter should substitute the words "private" or "unostentatious." Anyhow, in reporting these most interesting of all social events the reporter should study variety of language and originality of expression, if he care anything for freshness and readability.

A Lewiston girl named Jessie was sent to a famous eastern school and after a year's time wrote to her dad signing "Jessica." In reply the old man wrote: "Dear Jessica: Your welcome letter received. Mamaica and papaica are well. Aunt Maryica and Georgia started for California yesterday. I have bought a new horseica. It is a beautica. Its name is Monica. Your brother Tomica is doing nicely and the hired girlrica is a peachica."

Arizona's Ruined City.

Some four miles east of Phoenix, Arizona, lie the ruins of what is supposed to have been the greatest of the prehistoric cities of the southwest. The area of the ruins is nearly a mile in width. Above ground may be seen fragments of walls and buildings the largest apparently having been a temple or amphitheater, covering a space 200 feet wide by 300 feet long. The Arizona Antiquarian Society is about to begin the first systematic excavations in this interesting tract with the hope of adding much to our knowledge of the early history of the continent. It is thought that only a portion of the ruins are now visible and that excavations will show that the ancient city extended for some distance down the valley of the Salt River, says the Great Round World. A few years ago a party of men, who represented themselves as agents of the Smithsonian Institution, made a search of the most promising part of the ruins. They secured a quantity of pottery and stone implements, which they pretended to send to Washington, but we understand that the consignment never reached the Smithsonian Institution. There is a legend at Phoenix that the searchers were hunting for a treasure of gold, and that they found it and took it away with them.

Lake County the Largest.

In comparing the size of the eastern states, one never thinks that Lake county is larger than any of the following seven states mentioned. Lake county roughly estimated has 10,000 square miles within its borders, while Vermont has 9565 square miles, and Massachusetts but 8325. There are five other states in the Union smaller than Vermont. New Hampshire is 200 square miles smaller, though if it were spread out flat it would doubtless be much bigger than Vermont. Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware and New Jersey are the four other states that are smaller than Vermont. Send this to your friends in the east.

Conundrums.

An exchange remarks that one bright friend came in the other day with what he thought was conundrum.
"Why is a newspaper like a woman?"
The various answers were:
"Because both have to be known to be appreciated."
"Because it has to have some one to run it."
"Because both are good advertising mediums."
"Because both have to be pressed."
"Because it sometimes changes its dress and tells tales."
The correct answer is: "Because every man should have one of his own, and not be running after his neighbor's."
