Mr. and Mrs. Reece Hawkins were in from Crooked Creek a few days last week visiting Judge and Mrs. Brattain.

We neglected to mention last week that John L. Clark, the painter, and his family had returned from camping at Cave lake. Clark caught some fine fish.

Bieber's Shoes—are the kind that you should buy—They fit well, look well and wear well—Shoes that are Guaranteed to give satisfaction are the only kind sold at Bieber's.

The privileges at the Alturas fair sold as follows: Bar privilege to John Bush, $60; pool privileges to Dick Russell, $80; candy and ice cream to Lighty & Yates of Cedarville, $45.

"A green little boy, in a green little way, a green little apple devoured one day; and the green little grasses now tenderly wave o'er the green little apple boy's green little grave."

In a sawing exhibition given by two Neighbors at a Woodman picnic near Hoquiam, Washington, a tree three feet one inch in diameter was cut down in six and one-half minutes.

Sheriff H. R. Dunlap returned last Saturday from Klamath Marsh, where he went to inspect his cattle. He made the round trip via Silver Lake in seven days, and found his stock in excellent condition.

The Grants Pass baseball team and a picked nine from Medford and Jacksonville played at the latter town ten days ago. Eleven innings had to be played to decide it and Grants Pass won in a score of 1 to 0.

Will Arthur came in from Gearhart yesterday last week. Mr. Arthur has his sheep there and says heavy rains fell in that vicinity two weeks ago, which loosened up the grass and improved the range feed.

Read "Notice of Special Meeting" in this issue. The attention of all Odd Fellows is directed to the notice that on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11th, Hon. J. H. Nelson, Grand Master I. O. O. F. for the State of Oregon, will be the guest of Lakeview lodge.

Zac Whitworth left for Termo Tuesday morning, accompanied by Sam Lambert, with two wagons rigged up for carrying livestock. Mr. Whitworth will bring back with him a number of fine Lincoln bucks, purchased from the Lincoln farm in Ontario, Canada.

The Redding Free Press says that an oil spouter well has been discovered at Washington Meadows, thirty-five miles east of Adin. The spoutin'—by the Free Press—is all right; but the oil well has never materialized, and the location of Washington Meadows is a mystery to most all of our residents. Next.—Cedarville Record.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, daughter Mae, and Ephram, Miller returned to Lakeview last week after an absence of a year. They spent a great portion of that time in Portland, where Mrs. Miller studied music and took lessons in voice culture with excellent results. The family returned via Crater Lake. Their many friends gave them a hearty welcome home.

Two cars of powder in the swing of a freight train exploded at tunnel No. 7, six miles north of Glendale, on the Ashland route, last week, and the train was wrecked. There were no fatalities. In a house a mile distant from the scene of the explosion a sick woman was thrown from her bed by the force of the shock. The train crew escaped as did also four tramps who were riding on the trucks.

Louis Gerber informs the Express that there will be a meeting called some time next month at Bonanza of all the stockmen of Klamath county for the purpose of organizing a Stockmen's Association. Mr. Gerber says that there is hardly a stock county in Oregon but has such an organization and every stock grower in the county will be invited to attend and become a member.—Klamath Express.

J. L. Smith, the equitable life insurance agent has gone to Medford on a business trip.

You can still find the best line of confectionary at The Monogram.

George Hankins and Frank Lane went to the Hankins sheep camp on Deep Creek last Sunday.

Ahlstrom Bro's are stretching their suspender business pretty well.

Miss Alma Russell left last Thursday for Maybert Nevada county, Cal., where she will spend the winter.

That jewelry display at The Monogram can not be beat.

Wilcox has all the latest magazines and can furnish you all the periodicals of America.

Born—At Crane Creek, near Lakeview, Aug. 22, 1901, to the wife of Chas. Ecleston, a daughter.

Wallace Taylor, Superintendent for the Chewaucan Land & Cattle Co., was here on business Monday.

The home made cigars are taking well and Mr. Sharp is kept busy filling orders about town. The Lakeview cigar is a fine article.

G. W. Mann, who has been surveying the mining properties of C. W. Sain at Abert Lake and Summer Lake, has returned to Reno, Nevada.

Mrs. Joe Howard of Drews Valley was a visitor in Lakeview last Friday. Mrs. Howard is preparing to start on a pleasure trip to San Francisco.

Whorton & Smith continue to make improvements to their fine resort. A fine private wine room has been furnished and is now a part of their new temple of Bacchus.

Post & King have now completed their elegant private wine rooms, with electric bells from each department. They are also putting up a splendid porch and sidewalk around the north and east sides of their building. When all the improvements about this splendid establishment are completed the property will be one of the finest and most up-to-date in the interior of the state.

J. W. Maxwell, resident agent for Allen & Gilbert Company, Portland musical instrument house, last week sold to Chas. E. Moore a fine piano costing $400. It is a beautiful instrument, and Mrs. Moore is rightly proud of it. Mr. Maxwell handles some of the best grades of pianos on the market, and as he is a local man, our people should give him the preference when in need of an instrument.

Geo. H. Ayres.

"Conundrum Supper."

A supper given last Saturday evening for the benefit of the Pine Creek Baseball Club, was rather novel, in that a "bill of fare" of which you were to order your choice "dishes" from, was found on your plate, containing in part, the following: Every day occurrence; goody goody; fix lovers are in when in a quarrel; early riser; preserved in the ark; soldiers joy; hayseed's treat; picnic refreshment; common neck neck; pride of the south. This order is only about half of which was found on the bill of fare. Every dish was marked from 5cts to 10cts excepting a few—bread, crackers, etc. One making a poor guess the first time would necessarily have to make the second order, and third before satisfying their curiosity. And this of course was intended when the bill of fare was prepared. The supper was a success both financially and socially.

To show what the various orders under euphonic names turned out to be I will say that No. 1 was bread; 2 cake; 3 pickles; 4 chicken; 5 ham; 6 coffee; 7 soup; 8 ice-cream; 9 pie; 10 watermelon. It cost me $2 before I could get an order that I wanted. T. H. CLOUD.

Entirely Unnecessary.

In another column will be found a card from C. S. Morris in reply to a recent article that appeared in the S. F. Chronicle. As will be seen, Mr. Morris denounces the Chronicle story as a base fabrication from beginning to end—with out any foundation whatever. It simply shows the straits to which the sensation papers are driven. Mr. Morris was in town Friday and declared both publicly and privately that the story of his being pursued by Lookout people was a base falsehood. We commend Mr. Morris' card to the consideration of the Lakeview Examiner.—Alturas Plaindealer.

The Examiner gave the news as it found it in the Chronicle, and at the same time gave the denial of the article by Morris' relatives. Everything right up to date, you see. It is entirely unnecessary at this late date to "commend Mr. Morris' card to the consideration of the Lakeview Examiner."

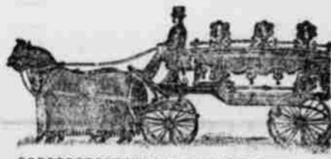

The Point Ranch Sold.

Last Tuesday Cox & Clark, the big cattle firm bought the property of George C. Turner known as the Point ranch, on the west side of Goose Lake. The price paid was $7,000.

Mrs. Ida Hall and daughter Leota, and Miss Luella McPherson, relatives of Mrs. L. A. Blair and Ed Lamb, who have been visiting here for several weeks, started for their home in Wesley, Iowa, last Sunday. Ed Lamb went as far as Portland with them and they will visit that city for a time and then go to Tacoma, Yellowstone Park, and other places of interest on their way home. The ladies enjoyed their visit here very much. Miss McPherson has almost recovered from the accident that befell her in Lakeview in which she suffered a broken rib by falling from a bicycle.
