LAKEVIEW, OREGON, SEPT. 5, 1901.

When Mrs. Carrie Nation was informed that her husband had brought suit for divorce on the ground of desertion, she remarked: "I am glad David has taken the step. Unless there is something in his petition to reflect on my character I shall not oppose the suit. I thought I loved David when I married him twenty-five years ago but it was a fleeting fancy. I am sure he never loved me; he was just sorry for me because I was alone. We have both been living a lie and it is a relief to see the end. David isn't a bad fellow, but he is too slow for me." "Will you marry again if you get a chance?" was asked. "Now don't get flip with me, young man," Mrs. Nation replied. "I'll answer your question since you've asked it. I would not surrender my freedom again for the best man that ever stretched shoe leather." Women of the sociological genius of Mrs. Nation cannot be expected to give up to a family what is meant for mankind. They must "live their own lives" etc., much to the regret of saloon keepers and others. But it is no wonder if the Davids who stay at home occasionally imitate them and pine for liberty.

The Dalles Daily Chronicle, Rep: "The Democrats are talking of starting a big democratic daily paper in Portland. What is the matter with the Oregonian? It believes in free trade. So do the democrats. It hates McKinley. So do the democrats. It damns every man who has acquired wealth in any line of business effected by a tariff. So do the democrats. It condemns every monopoly, beneficial or otherwise, except its own. So do the democrats. What in thunder do the Portland democrats want, anyhow?"

The following allegation in a bill for divorce against a wife was held by the supreme court of Washington not to state any legal ground for divorce: "She was quarrelsome, vicious in disposition, murderous in threats against plaintiff and his parents, hysterical and ungovernable in temper, sleep in her notions, and by her causeless and unprovoked boisterousness, screaming, hallooing and other wild conduct, by day and night, an intolerable nuisance to all her neighbors."

A monument to Goehe and Schiller was unveiled in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, before a large crowd of people. Mayor Phelan accepted the monument in behalf of the city and county of San Francisco. The bronze figures of the two great Germans are of heroic size, and the monument bears the inscription, "Dedicated to the City of San Francisco by citizens of German descent in California, in the Year Nineteen Hundred and One."

The San Francisco Chronicle says that a broad-gauge railroad will be built into the western part of Modoc county from the McCloud line as fast as rails can be laid. T. B. Walker, president of the McCloud River railroad, who owns about 300,000 acres of fine timber land in Siskiyou, Shasta, Lassen and Klamath counties, is at the head of the project.

W. S. O'Brien has retired from the Siskiyou News at Yreka, after one year's labor in the democratic field of that county. Veteran Bob Nixon appears to be "too many" for the tenderfoot quill drivers. The News has had a stormy and disastrous voyage ever since it was launched. Here's better luck to the new publisher, W. D. Crow.

The Yreka Journal says: Large cattle raisers who are in favor of land leasing propositions are this year using every means, violent or otherwise, to make the situation on the ranges appear more appalling, presumably with the hope to influence the passage of the land lease law to come before the next Congress.

Winters, the man who performed such a neat job in relieving the Selby Smelting Company at Crockett, Cal., of $283,000 and afterward made a jackass of himself by telling that he did the work, plead guilty in court and got fifteen years for his trouble. The bullion was found where Winters told them he put it in the bay.

Well, what is Eastern Oregon going to do about that petition against leasing the public domain?

Ashland's second crop of strawberries is now on. Last year they had three crops.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

A Davenport, Washington man has a potato digger which is pulled by six horses, and which digs and sacks ten acres of potatoes in a day. When that 100 acre tract of Goose Lake land is planted to Oregon spuds, the energetic potato man will have one here. The Davenport digger is the only one this side of Dakota.

Miss Bessie Flack one of the successful applicants for a certificate before the county board of education a few weeks ago, opened the school at Summer Lake last Monday. Miss Flack is a bright young woman, and The Examiner predicts that her term at Summer Lake will be a successful one, and that school patrons will admire her.

Sid Darling, 1012 Howard st., Port Huron, Mich., writes: I have tried many pills and laxatives but DeWitt's Little Early Risers are far the best pills I have ever used. They never gripe. Lakeview Drug Co. 35-4

Yreka's team of Woodmen won the trophy at the great log rolling which took place recently at Mt. Shasta. The trophy was won in competitive drill, and consists of a handsome sword of elaborate design. Upon the scabbard are engraved the names of the winners, and upon the blade of the sword the ensign of the Woodmen of the World.

The European powers are said to be threatening Turkey. We don't threaten. But in about twelve weeks from now ever mother's son of an American, his cousins, aunts, uncles and spectacled grandpaps will be cleaning Turkey out to the very marrow. Poor Turkey! For years and years it has been killed off as regularly as November rolls around.

Don't wait until you become chronically constipated but take DeWitt's Little Early Risers now and then. They will keep your liver and bowels in good order. Easy to take. Safe pills. Lakeview Drug Co. 35-5

Jim Welch came near getting his legs broke Tuesday evening. He had come down from Little Chewaucan and was going to the marsh; when he went to unte his horse from the fence he walked behind the animal to tie a package on the saddle and the horse scared at him and kicked, striking both of Jim's legs below the knee. No serious damage resulted, says the Post.

Mrs. Richard Sherlock and family of Paisley have gone to Portland on a long promised visit to Mrs. Sherlock's mother, Mrs. King. They will be absent about six weeks. Will J. Sherlock accompanied them, and will be accompanied home by two sons, who recently arrived in Portland direct from Ireland. The young men will engage in the sheep business with their father.

Josh Westhafer, of Loogootee, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by Beall's Drug Store. 35-4

Frank Ross returned last week from a tour of Washington state in the interest of the patent riveter introduced here by Dick Kingsley a few months ago. Frank says the riveter was thoroughly worked up there before his arrival, and he was lucky in not having to walk back. In all his travels he says he saw many larger places, but none better than Lakeview.

Frank Hackinay, the Goose Lake freighter, will try the climate of Red Bluff during the next few weeks. Frank says he has been there during the hottest time and escaped the seething, has read all the newspaper accounts about the Bluff's being hotter than hell, and has learned that Lakeview horses have dropped in their harness from the stifling heat of that section, but he is going to take a chance and bring back a big load of merchandise.

"I tell you, ain't none o' th' nations a-goin't t' tackle us," shouted the man with the faded hair, gesticulating loudly to the assembled crowd. "We're a world power now, an' we've got 'em all skeered. Why, we've got a big navy, th' best army in th' world an' we've got more money than we can haul in a hay wagon. We're so almighty big an' rich that we kin—" "Yes we've got all them things," interrupted a lady who had slipped into the crowd and grasped the orator by the arm. "We're a world power alright, but ain't got enough wood sawed to boil Squire Richman's washin', and if we don't git it right away a portion o' this great nation ain't a-goin't t' git no dinner. Now you mosey off home an' let Europe tremble all she wants to."
