NOT MUCH OF A "JOKE"

Reckless Shooting at the Western Stage to Frighten the Driver by a Party of Cowboys.

Driver and Passengers Thought it Was a Hold-up—Horses Run Away and Lives of Three Women are Endangered.

Last Sunday morning Dick Moore, driver on the Western stage line, told of an attempted hold-up about midnight Saturday as he was coming over the summit into Quartz valley. Dick had three passengers, Mrs. Joe Howard, of Drews Valley, and Misses Lora Butler, and Lulu Gilbert, all of whom were coming from the railroad. As they reached the summit Dick said a lone highwayman told him to halt, and the noise frightened his team, which started to run. The bold highwayman, seeing the anticipated treasure fleeing from his grasp, fired five shots in quick succession at the rapidly disappearing stage and its occupants. The driver was positive it was an attempted hold-up and the ladies were equally sure. It certainly had that appearance, but later developments tend to dispel that theory, and the romance is lost in the wild country about Quartz Valley.

It appears that a quartette of jolly cowboys from the quiet hamlet of Bly were returning from Lakeview late at night to their Klamath homes, and in a spirit of devilish recklessness perpetrated a trick on the driver and his passengers, and one of them simply fired in the air to frighten Moore. At 10 o'clock that night they awakened Henry Newell at the Drews Valley station and ordered supper. Before reaching there they fired several shots as they passed the 70 ranch, and the camp of John Aviragnette and party. After reaching Bly they told of their exploit and how they had in a spirit of fun made Dick Moore believe they were going to hold him up and rob the mail.

Sheriff Dunlap left Lakeview Sunday to investigate and after going as far as Drews Valley returned, having learned that the attempted hold-up was the wild pranks of a devil-may-care cowboy, who was enjoying a little "fun."

While no particular harm was done, these young men should be made aware that such reckless and foolish actions are attended by considerable danger, and should be punished. The lives of three women were endangered by the frightened stage horses, if not by the reckless shooting. There is really nothing smart or funny about the whole thing and the perpetrators of the "joke" should be thoroughly ashamed of themselves.

Will Give a Recital.

Miss Grace Nickerson, who recently graduated from the Cunnock School of Oratory of the Northwestern University of Chicago, arrived at Ft. Bidwell a few weeks ago on a visit with her mother, who has been seriously ill for several months. Last week Miss Nickerson gave a recital at Bidwell and it was so successful and popular that some Lakeview friends have urged the young lady to come here and give a recital which she has consented to do at a date to be set within a week or two. Miss Nickerson will be assisted in the entertainment by her brother, George S. Nickerson, whom all recognize as an accomplished musician and vocalist. The people of Lakeview may look forward to this entertainment as a great treat.

Col. Graham's Specialty Company will appear at Barry's opera house, Lakeview tomorrow (Friday) evening. This company is spoken of highly by the press down south. If for no other reason than as a compliment to Prof. Arnold Graham who was formerly our townsman, the people of Lakeview should give the Graham's a rousing reception. Prof. Graham has several "good turns" in the performance, among them the impersonation of a negress.

T. J. Newbill, the popular young teacher who has been engaged as principal of the Paisley public school, arrived from Ballston, Oregon, Tuesday evening. Mr. Newbill is looking well, and is in fine condition to assist Lakeview in the baseball tournament next week at Alturas.
