LAKEVIEW, OREGON, OCT. 24, 1901.

There is no truth in the rumor that Hon. David B. Hill has been divorced from the Presidential bee.

Have you subscribed to the McKinley Monument fund? If not, you should do so at once. His monument should be worthy of the richest and greatest country on earth.

An Italian newspaper advises Italy to "tweak the nose of Uncle Sam." An exchange suggests that for full particulars how to do it, Italy should apply to the King of Spain.

That one can never tell what a jury will do, is again exemplified in the verdict of a coroner's jury in Florida. They found that the victim of a mob had died from heart failure.

Chicago seems to have got a squeamish grand jury. It has actually indicted E. E. Burke, chairman of the democratic county committee and city oil inspector, for embezzling public funds.

It is humiliating to think that the assassin of President McKinley is an American-born citizen, but some consolation is derived from the reflection that his ideas were imported, says the Bulletin.

The disaster which befell a company of United States troops on an isolated island in the Philippine group gives the Democratic press another whack at "the McKinley imperialistic government."

Incompetency and unreliability are the characteristics of most men who drag along for a life-time in unsatisfactory positions of low pay and menial servitude. The man who is alive to his own interests and thereby gives valuable service to his employer seldom fails to advance. "It is hard to keep a good man down."

Albert Tozier, President of the National Educational Association, is endorsed by every state press association included in the original Oregon Territory, for press agent of the Lewis and Clark Centennial and American Pacific Exposition. Nearly all the press of the state also ask this appointment. Albert Tozier would be the right man in the right place. None could fill it with more ability and no man in the state would take more pride in the duty imposed upon him.

The Bulgarian brigands, having heard that the raising of ransom money is progressing with considerable rapidity in the United States, are now willing to give their captive, Miss Stone, an extension of life for thirty days. If ever a set of scoundrels deserved to stretch hemp, these fellows are the ones, and whether or not they succeed in extorting the money they demand, all the civilized governments should unite in demanding that the Bulgarian and Turkish authorities hunt them down.

A former Oregon farmer who went to Kansas a year or two ago to engage in farming in that state wrote back to Oregon friends recently as follows: "I believe in diversified agriculture. An exhibit of my crop report for 1901 is as follows: I have raised one acre of baked potatoes, 50 bushels of dried peaches, 25 acres of parched corn, one acre of roasted peanuts, and, if the weather continues dry, I will have about two acres of melon preserves. The balance of my crop consists of chintz bugs, grasshoppers and jack rabbits."

Madie McPermit, formerly of Fort Jones, this county, died in Sacramento, Oct. 4th, after a brief illness, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lee Shepard, says the Yreka Journal. She was a school teacher for several years past, in Sacramento county, and daughter of Col. Chas. McDermitt, the first sheriff of Siskiyou county, and commander of a cavalry company recruited here during the civil war, who was killed by treacherous Pinte Indians while in charge of Fort Churchill, Nev., where he was stationed after close of the war in removal of his command from Salt Lake. Her mother, a well known pioneer of Fort Jones, died about a year and a half ago. The deceased was a relative of the numerous Davidson family of Scott Valley, and has a host of friends in Siskiyou who extend sincere sympathy with surviving relatives in the untimely loss of a highly esteemed, exemplary and accomplished lady.

Golden Wedding in Fairbury, Ill.

Some time ago Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spencer of the West Side, went to Fairbury, Illinois, on a visit to Mr. Spencer's old home and many relatives, including his aged father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Spencer, who have just celebrated their golden wedding in Fairbury in the presence of all their living children, grandchildren and other relatives. The Fairbury Blade, a bright newspaper of the town, has a long account of the important event. That paper, in speaking of the golden wedding, says in part:

Few people live to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary, but such a blessing fell to the lot of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Spencer, of this city. September 28, 1851, in Fulton county, Illinois, they were united in marriage and last Saturday, September 28, they celebrated their golden wedding, surrounded by relatives and friends.

At 12 o'clock the guests were assembled at the south sitting room and all standing, Rev. J. L. Ryan, pastor of the Baptist church, offered a short prayer and made a short address in behalf of those assembled, in presenting many handsome presents. Then all repaired to the dining room where amid convivial good cheer they partook of a beautiful repast.

Thomas C. Spencer was born in Schuyler County, Illinois, Nov. 16, 1826. He was reared in Fulton county, Illinois, where he lived until grown to manhood. Mrs. T. C. Spencer was born in Highland county, Ohio, Oct. 8, 1832, and was reared in Fulton county, Ill. The aged couple are among Fairbury's most respected citizens. There were twenty people present at the golden wedding, nearly all of whom were relatives. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Spencer of Lakeview, Oregon.

Charley Trumbo Injured.

Last Monday evening while separating cattle near what is known as the "bucaroo house" on the ZX ranch, about three miles from town, Charley Trumbo's horse fell on him inflicting quite a serious injury, says the Post. He was trying to separate two steers that were running close together when his horse stepped on one of the steers' hind feet and fell, Charley falling underneath and the horse's hips striking him across the small of the back. He was "knocked out" for a little while, but rallied and walked a few steps, but the injury became too painful for him to stand up and Jack McDonald came after medicine for the injured man. The principal part of the pain seemed to be in the groin. He came to town Tuesday and is now on crutches and much better.

Sale of Klamath Timber.

The Klamath Express says that C. S. and R. S. Moore, of Klamath county, have purchased the 10,503 acres of timber land in Klamath county, formerly owned by Sam'l Coulter, of Portland, for the sum of $12,500. The land was sold at public auction to the highest bidder by Receiver R. Nixon, of the defunct Portland Savings Bank, which institution had taken the land to satisfy Mr. Coulter's indebtedness. The price paid by the Moore Brothers was remarkably low and very much less than the first cost of the land when it was first taken from the public domain.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Colver of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, or sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at Beall's Drug Store.
