

Berries Still Growing in Lake.

The fact that in some parts of Lake county the most tender fruits and all kinds of berries can be grown the latter at any season of the year—is quite apparent. The Post tells about receiving a basket of luscious strawberries in the middle of October from the garden of Mrs. McDowell at Summer Lake. These berries were on the vines where green berries and blossoms clustered in rich profusion, and in all stages of development. The Post says that there is no doubt that Northern Lake county is the paradise of Oregon.

The Examiner has something good to tell in this line also. Last Thursday John Barrington, who has a fine garden spot at Crane Creek, in Goose Lake valley, six miles south of Lakeview, brought to this office two large baskets of blackberries, fine, large and of excellent flavor, which he picked from his vines on that date. The vines are full of berries in all stages of development—from the blossom to the fully developed berry.

Mr. Barrington will have ripe berries from now until after Christmas. "Jack Frost" never visits the Barrington place. We hereby extend an invitation to the editor of the Post to come down and eat blackberries and cream with us in the paradise of Southern Lake on Christmas day, as Mr. Barrington has promised to fetch us another basket of the luscious berries on that date.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Henderson Grimey, of this place was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured. Geo. R. McDONALD, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by Lee Beall, Druggist.

An Interesting Cavalcade.

A cavalcade of unusual interest is making its way to Washington county, this state, from Klamath county. A band of fifty superb bunch grass horses, driven by a couple of comely young women, forms the center of an interesting picture. In front there is a covered wagon and behind there is another, says the Corvallis Times.

The young women wear divided skirts, high topped shoes and ride astride. Each are equipped with a pair of spurs that occasionally find the saddle horses' flanks with a dull thud. With ease and grace the fair buccaric ride among the horses and keep them moving like clock work.

The father of one of the young women rides in one of the wagons. He is Mr. McDonald, a jolly Scot, who came from Washington county to Klamath in 1872. The world has used him well, and 200 additional horses and a band of 400 cattle still remain on the Klamath county ranch. The present drive is being made for the purpose of disposing of the horses. Miss McDonald and her young friend are doing the buccaric act as a diversion and are enjoying the trip very much.

Tot Causes Night Alarm.

One night my brother's baby was taken with croup," writes Mr. J. C. Snider, of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infalible for Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Lee Beall's Drug Store.

No Such Disease Here.

The fellow who started the following canard must have heard of the hog cholera in Shasta county, Cal., and had a "hop dream" about Oregon:

A malignant and fatal disease, known as anthrax has broken out among the cattle in several counties in Oregon, and cattle are dying in numbers. It was first discovered in Klamath county. It is a very contagious disease, and is spread to widely separated districts by buzzards, which, after feeding on the carrion of animals that have died of the disease, carry the germs to watering troughs and animals become affected while drinking.

No such disease as anthrax or any thing else has made its appearance in Lake county, and The Examiner has yet to learn of any such thing in Klamath. There is no disease among the cattle of Southern Oregon.

Stepped into Live Coals.

"When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for thirty years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after everything else failed." Infalible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Sores, Bruises and Piles. Sold by Lee Beall, Druggist.

Looked Like Thirty Cents.

A Lake county woolgrower drove in to town this week with his desert ark. He had beneath the big cover several head of fine sheep, and other things. As he drove up Main street he was accosted by a young dude with "banged" hair who thought he would crack a good joke on the "hayseed," and he sang out: "Say, Noah, your ark seems pretty full." The woolgrower looked around and unconcernedly replied: "Don't you worry young man. I have reserved a place for the ja-kass; step right in." The dude with the banged hair, blushed walked away, and looked like thirty cents, as several ladies heard the conversation and were bubbling over with mirth at the way the young man was taken in.

Whorton & Smith invite the public to call and see them in their new quarters where they have a fine stock of liquors and cigars, and a commodious club room and reading room. Scalp Bounty All Right.

A Five Mile rancher, who was today complaining that the coyotes had got away with from 100 to 200 of his chickens this year, was asked by the Chronicle if the operation of the scalp bounty law was having no effect on the varmints. The farmer's answer was: "There is not one coyote now where there were fifty before the bounty was paid. The good result of the scalp bounty law is very marked, and I am quite certain if the law is continued, as it ought to be, that in the course of a very few years more, coyotes will be practically exterminated."—Dalles Chronicle.

Will some of the little pustules on the face of nature down in the Willamette Valley please take note of the above.

J. F. Clarkson, stock inspector, who has been making the rounds of the sheep camps for the past month, says the grass is growing fast on the ranges. Especially does the range feed look well on Little Chewaucan, where Mr. Clarkson says the new grass is fully two inches high. Good reports come from the desert in every direction, also, and the prospects for the great flocks of Lake county wintering well are good.
