IN LIGHT FORM

T. G. Wisdom, Exposed to the Klamath "Manila Itch" Quarantined in Lakeview.

The Examiner gave notice two weeks ago that something should be done to keep smallpox out of Lakeview and the advice went unheeded. It was known as a fact that there were several cases at Bly and others at Klamath Falls, but the papers over there made light of the matter, and palmed it off as "Manila Itch." It is true, the disease is in a mild form, but nevertheless proper precautions should have been taken to keep it from spreading.

Now comes to Lakeview one T. G. Wisdom, an employe of Dave Edler, who was exposed to the disease at Bly. Wisdom went out to a sheep camp at Honey Creek and remained there several days until he was induced to come to Lakeview for medical attendance on Monday evening. The man went direct to the office of County Physicians Smith & Steiner, and those physicians made an examination of his case and at once pronounced it smallpox. Drs. Daly & Hall and Dr. E. H. Smith were called in, and they also pronounced the case smallpox. The man was detained in the office while the town and county authorities were notified. County Judge Tomningson and Mayor Miller at once acted in the matter, procured an isolated house which was converted into a post house, and also found an attendant to take care of the patient. The patient was at once taken to the post house and the premises duly quarantined. The disease is in very mild form, and the proper precautions having been taken at once, there is little danger of a spread of the disease, in the opinion of the local physicians. The office of the county physicians has been thoroughly fumigated, and every precaution taken in the matter.

Tuesday morning there was a rush to the offices of all the physicians in town for the purpose of vaccination, and it is safe to say that half the population of Lakeview has gone through the ordeal. Physicians advise a general vaccination. A close guard will be kept on people coming to town from Klamath county, so that there may be no danger from that quarter.

There is really no danger, considering all the precautions taken, but such precautions should have been taken at an earlier date. There is no reason why people from the country should not come to Lakeview as usual to attend to business affairs.

An Unsuccessful Trip.

George Hankins and Will Mulkey went to Abert Lake last week. Their purpose was to find, if possible, and pull out of the waters of the lake a wagon that has been there since the early history of Lake county, as was stated in The Examiner of last week. They took a boat and launched it on the lake, and all day long pulled the craft about on the water, without getting sight of the object they were looking for. The wind was blowing a stiff gale all the time they were searching for the old relic, and the whitecaps ran so high as to obscure the sight of the wheels of the wagon, which are said to only emerge six or eight inches from the water during a calm. The wagon is there without doubt, and Messrs. Hankins and Mulkey are going to make another attempt to find it, and fetch it to land. Mr. Hankins remained in Summer Lake, and Mr. Mulkey returned to Lakeview. Since returning here he has discovered that they made the search in the wrong place, and at the next attempt will very likely find the wagon and succeed in landing it.

Not So Queer.

The trial of Andy Neilon, indicted in Lake county for embezzlement of funds while Sheriff, came to an inglorious end. The Court refused to permit the introduction of the books of the county in evidence, and as they were the only evidence against him the case was dismissed. Queer proceedings that.—Alturas Plaindealer.

It is strange that such idle gossip will be indulged in. There is really nothing to this report. The Neilon case is still dragging its weary length along in our circuit court, and may not come to a final conclusion for a week yet. How such unfounded reports gain currency is past finding out.

Gunther—Gunther.

County Clerk William Gunther surprised his friends last Thursday night, Oct. 31st, by procuring a license, and remarrying his former wife Mrs. Vida Gunther. The event took place at the residence of John Ball, near the Slash, and was strictly private. Judge Tomningson said the words that re-nited Mr. and Mrs. Gunther. The secret was closely kept until Friday morning when the groom received numerous congratulations. This is united, husband, wife and son, and The Examiner joins with many friends in wishing them a happy future.
