

LOCAL PICK-UPS.

I. K. Venator of Harney county, was bitten on the hand by a vicious horse, some time ago, and has recently been threatened with blood poison, and was compelled to seek medical assistance at Burns. Burns Items says Ira will be able to leave for home in a few days.

State Senator Gallagher of Mason Valley, Nevada, says the hay in his section will all be eaten up by spring. He reports cattle and sheep there are fat and ready for the shambles at any time. It is exceedingly dry and farmers and stockmen are a good deal worried over the situation.

About two inches of snow fell in this valley last week. The coldest night was Saturday when the mercury marked 14 degrees above. Sunday night it was 18 degrees above. On Monday night of this week, another inch of snow fell and the mercury stood at 22 degrees.

Mrs G. W. Bradley died at Klamath Falls on January 11, 1902, aged 21 years and 2 months. Deceased was a native of Redding, Cal., and was married to George W. Bradley at Little Shasta, Cal., July 1, 1900. She leaves a husband and infant child, and many friends who sincerely mourn her death.

Klamath Republican—W. R. Brown and wife who went to Missouri last summer, have returned and expect to relocate here. They are glad to get back to Klamath county, which they think is far more desirable than Missouri. Mr. Brown brought with him a car load of thoroughbred Hereford cattle.

The Lake County, (Cal.) Bee speaks of Lakeview people as follows: "M. R. Hart arrived in Lakeport Tuesday from Lakeview, Oregon, to join his family, who came several months ago. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Follett and three children came up from Santa Cruz Monday for a visit with relatives."

C. C. Low was in from Olene Monday and called at this office. He reports that Dairy is improving considerably. He says that L. E. Davies has greatly improved the postoffice and his store, having a large stock of new goods, and that George Vanglin is putting up a new building for a store—Klamath Republican.

Clint Linchager says they had to quit sawing ice on the Cottonwood pond because it got so thick the saws were not long enough to reach through. He also ventures the assertion that the ice formed so quickly during the past week that the trout could not get away and were frozen in the cakes. This is no fish story.

Miss Inez Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wheeler of New Pine Creek, late arrivals from Pipestone, Minnesota, and Miss Clara Taylor of Bly, Klamath county, are attending the high school department of the Lakeview public school, having taken up their studies here last Monday. They are both bright young ladies.

Fred Moore, the accomplished actor, is now organizing a dramatic company and making preparations to travel, expecting to leave here about March 1, says the Klamath Republican. Five members will come from abroad, and with Mr. and Mrs. Moore and son, and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Galarneau of this place, will make a strong company, amply sufficient to handle the heaviest of plays. Later on we will give a more extended account of the organization of the company.

While traveling between Davis Creek and Lakeview on January 16th, Mrs. John O. George picked buttercups along the roadside on Sugar hill. The lady left some of the beautiful wild flowers at this office last Saturday to prove her statement. The fact of these flowers growing on the hillside in this high altitude in mid-winter is an evidence of the mild and balmy spring-like weather we have been enjoying all these days when hoary winter should be here instead.

Walter Tracy, the Drews Valley stockman, was in town last Saturday. Walter says the outlook for big hay crops next season is mighty "skeery." He also informs us that Wm. Dykeman of the 70-ranch left on the 13th inst. for Tacoma, Washington, having been called there to see his father who was expected to die. Mr. Dykeman expected to be absent two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Miller and sons, and George Hankins returned last Thursday evening from Oakland, Cal., where they have been sojourning for a few months. The party had a thoroughly enjoyable time during the visit, and Mrs. Miller has improved greatly in health. They left two very lonely people in Oakland—Miss Della Cobb and daughter Essie. Miss Essie is now attending the Lincoln school in Oakland.

Judge Tonningson was informed by telephone from Paisley last Monday that there was a case of smallpox in that town, and that the people there were unable to keep the victim from circulating about town and coming in contact with the townspeople. Judge Tonningson was called upon to provide some means of controlling the patient, but found he had no authority in the matter. He suggested, however, that if the case was as bad as reported that a warrant be sworn out for the man's arrest before a justice of the peace. Chas. Parker said he would serve the warrant. It is said to be a penitentiary offense for a man afflicted with smallpox to parade about in public to the danger of other lives. Hartelrode is the name of the patient.

The most confirmed pessimist cannot deny that the year closed happily for the American people. Looking abroad we find one great nation laboring under a serious, if temporary, burden of industrial depression; another has a patience trying war upon its hands; another confronts a complicated political situation out of which almost anything may come. At home there is peace and plenty for the vast majority, nation and individual prosperity, and a strong and respected government which has speedily counteracted the effects of the shock caused by the death of President McKinley, the great calamity of the year. Thus we can say happy old year with reason, and happy New Year with confidence.—Baker Democrat.

A Flouring Mill Sure.

It has been decided, positively, since the return of F. M. Miller from San Francisco, that the Lakeview Mercantile Company of which Mr. Miller is president will build a flouring mill in Lakeview. The Company has an option on a plant, and it is more than probable that the mill will be in operation next summer.

The Company has also decided to establish a branch merchandise store at Bly, Klamath county, in the spring, and may open up a like business in other localities. The fact that Lakeview is to have a flouring mill of large capacity will be good news for the farmers of Goose Lake valley.

Recital Monday Evening.

Miss Grace Nickerson, the elocutionist from Ft. Bidwell, was assisted last Monday evening in a recital at Barry Hall, by Miss Cora Sessions and George S. Nickerson of Bidwell, and local talent of Lakeview. Those who attended pronounced the program an interesting one. Miss Sessions gave two good recitations and Miss Nickerson fully sustained her reputation as an elocutionist. Miss Miller and Mrs. Dyer and Messrs. Nickerson and Ayres rendered excellent vocal selections. The attendance was small.

Geo. Wingfield Very Much Alive.

It was a false rumor regarding the death of George Wingfield at Tonapah, Nevada. His brother Morris Wingfield received a telegram from him last Thursday which stated that the alleged deceased was very much alive and doing well. It is said that George has made a small "barrel of money," as the owner of a saloon and gambling house, since the rush to Tonapah began.

Huntington on Leasing.

Attention is called to the article on Leasing from the pen of J. B. Huntington of Portland. Mr. Huntington is making a strong fight against the leasing proposition, and is compiling an argument to be presented to every member of Congress. This work is being printed neatly and put in pamphlet form, at the writer's own expense. While The Examiner is unauthorized to solicit financial aid in this matter, we believe that some money could not be better expended by the small stockmen of Lake county in that assisting Mr. Huntington financially in his work, and not allowing him to stand the entire expense. A few enterprising stockmen have already sent to The Examiner office five dollars each to be applied for this purpose, and if there are any others, (or any of the anti-leasing associations with money in their treasury) who desire to contribute to the fund, The Examiner will see to it that the contributions are placed in the hands of Mr. Huntington forthwith. The gentleman is not asking or demanding any financial assistance in this work, but he is deserving of some assistance as he is a poor man, and is only interesting himself in the leasing matter because he realizes the dire results to follow should such a bill become a law. S. C. Beach, County Recorder of Multnomah, writes us that Mr. Huntington's argument against leasing is the ablest he has yet heard, and knocks to smithereens and tears to tatters the arguments of the leasing fellows.
