LAKEVIEW, OREGON, FEB. 6, 1902.

"Kissing" Hobson wants to retire from the navy and go to Congress from a district in Alabama.

Who is he? "Mr. Charles A. Johns of Baker County" wants to be governor. Where did he bob up from?

A swell hat, according to the idea of a bushing young dandy, is one that a man can't tell from a lamp shade.

Mayor Schmidt of "Frisco," like Nero of old, plays his fiddle while the people burn there. Make "Home fires" with displeasure.

A Colorado woman advertised for a second hand foot warmer, and not a widower in all the neighborhood had sense enough to take the hint.

And now what will happen to China? Chinese soldiers have fired on the English Flagship Glory, and severely wounded the Glory captain, Rev. Chas. E. L. Cowen.

Miss Stone is said to be treated courteously by her captives. Will you know what she may fall in love with the chief and attempt to convert the land? Stranger things have happened.

Congressman Tamm has received President Roosevelt's sanction of Mr. Tamm's attempt to secure a ratification of the drive against going to aid in the Philippines and the United States.

It is said that General Miles will be a candidate for the Presidency in 1904. This must be a "joke." The general may be a good soldier dressed in a parade, but he is not the kind of person she made of.

Mrs. Gull (angrily)—I heard what you said to that Miss Seaton. Mr. Gull—Heard what? Mrs. Gull—Heard you say just as plain as day, "Meet me at the pier, dearest." Mr. Gull—Oh, but you just ran in with those wireless messages from that steamer—

Every issue of the Pacific Coast newspapers that pander to the wealthy stock corporations seem to have arguments in favor of leasing the public domain. Money is being lavishly to subsidize the press of the country in favor of this robbery of the small stockman's heritage.

Judging from the way matters are going up in Portland there is little to be a pretty warm light for Simons' place in the Senate. "Little Joe" has turned a trick in the selection of the election officers for Multnomah that has raised the ire of Hartley and it seems to be near to the knife and knife handle.

George W. Hayes, who was returned from the city, and called on his friends, celebrating the anniversary of another man's wife has come this time to Washington. He desires to have the charge of the school withdrawn, alleging that the findings of the special agent were upon prejudiced evidence and that he had no chance to reply.

Admitting that his picture was in the "rogues' gallery" and that for a period of years he had been familiar with the "lowest depths of New York opinion points," yet pleading for mercy from the court, Franklin S. Moses, once governor of South Carolina, was sentenced at Boston to four months' imprisonment for the larceny of an overcoat.

About Joab Powell.

Old Joab Powell was an eccentric preacher who 50 years ago preached in every hamlet in the Willamette Valley, says the Evening Telegram. He was well known in this city and often preached here when Albany was but a wilderness. Numerous stories are told of his forcible similes or pungent anecdotes, and whenever it was announced that he was to preach anywhere, people would go many miles to hear him. On one occasion he discoursed on the sin of gambling in Albany as follows:

"I am not one of your fashionable, fine, mealy-mouthed preachers; I will tell you the plain truth. What are your pastimes? Cards and dice, fiddling and dancing, guzzling and gutting. Can you be saved by dice? No! Will the four knaves give you a passport to heaven? No! You will dance yourselves to damnation among the goats. You may guzzle wine here, but you'll want a drop of water to cool your tongue hereafter. Will the prophet say, 'Come here, gamblers, and teach us the 'long odds?' 'Teach us if they do.' Will the martyrs raise a sword and smite and cut with you? No. The martyrs are me-shuffers. You will be in a way you little expect. Later on will come with his ropes and his stakes and forks and you will be cut down, cut round and paroled and carried and housed in hell. I will not oil my lips with lies to please you. I tell you the plain truth. Amos and Mammon and Moloch are making behind him for jobs. I tell you the truth, please yourselves. I have heard your whinge and groan and tell me another before me. 'I'll see you'd-ers!' But I tell you the plain truth, when you will pray to be saved, please your children, and what will be the answer. 'I'll see you'd-ers!'"

MARRIES AND SAVES JOB.

Young Man in Love Makes Inevitable Mistake and Employer Insists on Wedding.

"It does not always pay for a man to get on his knees before the boss of the office," says a young man who has just returned from a business trip to the city. "I was in the office of a large manufacturing concern and was employed as a clerk. One day the manager called me into his office and said to me, 'You are a very good clerk and we are very much pleased with your work. We have a position open for a clerk in our office and we think you would be just the man for it. We will give you $500 a month and we will give you a chance to go to Europe with us. But we will give you the position only if you will marry the daughter of our president. She is a very nice girl and we think you would be just the man for her. Will you marry her?' I was very much surprised at this offer and I thought about it for some time. I finally decided to accept the offer and I went to the city and got married to the daughter of the president. I had a very nice wedding and I was very much pleased with the result. I have now been employed in the office for some time and I am very much pleased with my work. I am now a very rich man and I am very much pleased with my life."
