

HOMESTEAD RESIDENCE

Visiting Your Homestead Only Occasionally Won't Go According to Spokane Decision.

The Spokane, Washington, land office has handed down a decision which will probably be sustained by the highest authority if carried up. In brief, it is a question as to whether a person must reside upon the land in order to hold a homestead. If the holder be a single person the homestead must be his or her home. If the holder be a married person, it must be the home of his or her family, while the head of the family has to go elsewhere to earn money for improvements. This is the kernel of the decision. The contestee in this case was employed in the hardware business at Scott Station, Wash., and made his entry March 28, 1900, and soon thereafter he built a small house upon the land and plowed ten acres of land. When the house was finished the entrymen stayed one night and day upon the land, and since that time he made it a practice to spend a night at his cabin once in every six months. It has been repeatedly held by the land department that mere visits to the land does not constitute a compliance with the law as to residence. In this case, it was held that the fact that the entryman was a single man did not excuse him from residing on his homestead, and that he had not established a residence upon the land by merely making a nightly visit every six months. His entry was therefore cancelled and the contestant was allowed preference of right of entry. Contestee was allowed 30 days in which to appeal.

For Stomach Troubles.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation," says Mrs. S. Geiger of Dunkerton, Iowa, "but never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets." For sale by Lee Beall.

Sublime Scenic View.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co. the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland, one traverses the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The beautiful valleys of the Umpqua and Rogue Rivers, with their orchards of prunes, peaches, apples, and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful turnings, twistings, and doublings of the railroad bring into view a grand array of towering mountains and profound gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a day's enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canyon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento Valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchard to San Francisco.

Would Change Homestead Law.

Mr. J. C. Freener, resident of Bonanza, in discussing the homestead question in the Oregonian, says: "Let the Government alter the homestead law so that everyone over the age of 15 can take up a homestead of 320 acres, let the requirements as to residence and cultivation be done away with, and I've sure to say that in a very short time most of the 'range' will be under fence."

It seems to be generally acknowledged that the range must be fenced and taken care of, but to ask the Government to pass a bill that shall provide that the more cattle and the more land an individual or corporation has, the more public domain he shall be able to control, seems to me unjust to the last degree.

On this question people seem to be divided into just two parties, viz., those for and others against leasing. May I venture to suggest that leasing is not the only remedy at hand, and we small stockmen are not forced to allow this to be so just because the rich stockmen and powerful cattle corporations are trying their hardest to persuade the Government that leasing is the only way to preserve the range?"

Had To Conquer or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs, N. C., "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It is an unrivaled life-saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Lee Beall's drug store.

The Elements Defied Him.

Things do not always turn out as per arrangement and as one expects them to. An eccentric man living near Redding, Cal., arranged some months ago for his funeral. He had his coffin made and told his friends just how he wanted the last rites performed when his time should come to shuffle off the mortal coil. He visited Redding last week and while there he died suddenly. His coffin was at home and between raged the roaring waters of winter swollen streams and his home could not be reached. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Redding in another coffin and under different auspices than those which he had intended. Sometimes even the elements cry out against man's eccentricity, and defy him at the brink of the grave.

Oyster cocktails, fresh, temperate and delicious, just received at Post & King's. This beverage is very refreshing, is good for the stomach and builds up the system. ## GIRL WOMEN.

The general standard of measurement for womanhood is "grown-up-ness." When a girl is emancipated from school and arrives at the dignity of trailing skirts and elaborate hair dressing she is looked upon as a young woman. But nature knows nothing of such standards. When the womanly function is established womanhood is attained according to her standards, and there is need of womanly care and caution. It is girlish ignorance or neglect at this critical time which often results in long years of after misery.

Mothers who perceive the evidences of functional derangement in young girls should promptly have them begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, tranquilizes the nerves and tones up the whole system.

"My troubles started during my girlhood," writes Miss Flora I. Greer, of 107 Howe Street, Akron, O., "but did not prove serious until 1893. From that time I did not see a well day. I suffered at every monthly period with terrible headache, irritation of the spine and pains in my heels. I had soreness through my hips and ovaries all the time and constant backache. One doctor would tell me one thing and another would say something altogether different, but they only relieved me. I then wrote you and followed your advice. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five vials of 'Pellets.' Have not had a single symptom of my old trouble so far. Can sleep good, work hard, and eat solid and substantial food without distress."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.
