Will West, one of the bright young men of the Silver Lake section, was a visitor in Lakeview this week. Mr. West is just looking over the field, and may manage one of the political fights now on in Lake county. West "saws wood," and believes more in quiet action than too much talk.

B. M. Miller, who with his wife recently left Lakeview to locate at Bly, writes to have The Examiner forwarded to him at that place. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are in the employ of a sawmill company near Bly, and says the mill has been running steadily since March 1st. The owners of the mill property are well known citizens of Sprague River valley, Messra John Wells, Albert Walker, Jess Parker and W. Smith.

There has been practically "nothing doing" in the wool market during the past fortnight. The last London sales closed at 5 to 736 per cent higher than preyions sales. The outlook is most satisfactory, and local wool growers will get a material advance over last season's prices. Wool can now be contracted in Lakeview at 12 rents, and we under-stand that one grower refined to con-tract the 1402 clip at 12/2.

John Partin, Jr., the wide-awake stockman from Summer Lake, arrived in Lakeview on a business trip last Sunday. Mr. Partin occasionally picks up a few head of stock in his travels, and on his way down last Saturday bought twelve head of mixed cattle from J. Prader. Ten days ago he turned on his summer range in Thompson valley 350 head. All the cattlemen in the north are sending their herds to the summer range. He informs us that the gress has a good start up north.

Bob Richardson, Al. Stoll and Jack Moinyhan, three of the gay knights of the grip, who entertained our business men several days last week, left for Modoc Saturday. This is a trio that it takes a fu'l hand to beat.
