

MAY NOT BUILD LINE TO LAKEVIEW.

Mr. O. E. Gates, of Hillsboro, son of H. V. Gates, who is to build the Ashland-Lakeview telephone system, as a representative of the company paid Lakeview a visit this week. Mr. Gates has been over the line from Ashland to Lakeview, and has let the contracts for poles along the route between the former city and Klamath Falls, and also as far east as Drews Gap. He is securing bids on the poles from that point to Lakeview, but will not accept any bids on this end until he receives advice from H. V. Gates. The promoters of the Ashland-Lakeview company are somewhat disappointed at the movement of the Lake County Telephone Company, in its decision to put in a local service in Lakeview, and Mr. Gates says that fact may cause the company he represents to materially alter its plans.

It is the intention of the company to have repair stations located every six or seven miles along the route through the mountains where men will be placed during the winter months to keep the line in repair. This will entail a considerable expense and the company had figured on the local system in Lakeview to assist in paying that expense. Until the present conditions are duly considered the company will not form any definite plans regarding Lakeview, and may conclude not to build its line to this place.

HOT SPRINGS SOLD BY GRIMES TO MUSGRAVE.

Last Monday the property known as the Grimes Hot Springs, situated a mile and a half south of Lakeview, was sold by G. Grimes to Mark Musgrave. The place includes 210 acres of fine land and is known to local fame for its boiling hot springs, whose waters contain medicinal qualities of great merit. Summer and winter the people of Lakeview, as well as visitors to our town, visit these springs to bathe. The new proprietors will, as fast as possible, make improvements in the bathing houses and will convert the grounds into a pleasant resort. The price paid for the property was $4750, and the purchaser found a bargain in the property at that figure. A few years ago Mr. Grimes refused $6000 for the property. Many years ago the hot springs property was located by Dr. Greenman, who realized that the waters contained medicinal qualities of rare merit. The Dr. finally passed away and the place was sold at sheriff's sale eighteen years ago, Mr. Grimes being the purchaser at $1600. At that time there was nothing there but the springs and the bare land. There were several parties in Lakeview who coveted the place, and Dick J. Wilcox came within $250 of the selling price in bidding.

15 Cent Wool.

[Red Bluff Sentinel.

I. Harris, a new wool-buyer in the Red Bluff market, arrived from San Francisco Sunday and found only one clip of wool in the warehouses, that belonging to C. J. Gooch. That did not prevent Mr. Harris from buying, however, as he secured a clip of about forty bags from the Herbert Kraft Company, "unsight and unseon," as the fleeces are still on the backs of the sheep.

We understand that the price paid by Mr. Harris was 15 cents or better and that many of the sheep men hope to get 16 cents. Mr. Harris also secured one other clip. He will go to San Francisco tonight, and expects to return when the wool reaches the warehouse.

John Lee, the veteran wool-buyer, is also here looking over the ground, and there will no doubt be several other buyers here when the market opens.

Joe Morrow was in from Warner yesterday. He has leased his ranches over in the "swamp land" section where they irrigate—one of them to W. Z. Moss and Jas. Dodson.

THE DEMOCRATS

The Democrats in State Convention at Portland on the 10th inst. nominated a full ticket with George E. Chamberland of Portland at the head for Governor. The ticket is as follows:

For Congress, first district—J. K. Weatherford of Linn county.

Second District—W. T. Butcher, of Baker.

Governor—George E. Chamberland of Multnomah.

Supreme Judge—B. F. Bonham of Marion.

Secretary of State—D. W. Sears of Folk.

State Treasurer—Henry Blackman of Morrow.

Attorney General—J. H. Raley of Umatilla.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—passed.

State Printer—James B. Godfrey of Marion.

Joint Senator, Marion and Linn—J. A. Jeffrey.

Joint Representatives, Wasco, Crook, Klamath and Lake—L. E. Morse, P. D. Doak, Earl Sanders.

Regarding the proceedings of the convention the Oregonian says:

"In convention all was sweet peace and harmony, and even the rumors of the mighty warfare that was being waged in the platform committee between the scuttlers and the anti-scuttlers hardly ruffled the surface of the patient throng that was waiting for a platform for its candidates to stand upon before it thrust any of them forth. Mr. Chamberland was nominated amid cheers, war-whoops and waving of hats, and every reference to his name was greeted by a tumult like unto the noise of many waters. But it was for Chamberland alone they cheered. He was the only candidate named, it is true, for the squabble over the platform was not ended till the middle of the evening, but the customary shouts which have made the welkin ring in Democratic conventions when the magic words "William J. Bryan" were voiced were not heard. From 11 o'clock in the morning till 10 o'clock at night the men who have stood shoulder to shoulder with the orator of the Plat. e labored in convention, and yet there was not one in all the throng to speak his praise or his name. Even the platform, which side-stepped around almost everything with an adroitness which would do credit to a greyhound, had not one word about "our gallant and invincible leader from Nebraska," nor yet so much as a passing allusion to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without the aid or consent of any nation on earth. Once or twice a speaker, starting with Thomas Jefferson, brought the party up to Andrew Jackson, and the delegates held their breath for fear the trail would turn Nebraskaward, but the fears were ill-grounded, for the speakers had been doing some industrious forgetting in the last two years, and they knew when to stop."

The State Convention doubtless heard from Lake, where the Democrats failed to make a single reference to Mr. Bryan, 16 to 1, or the Kansas City Platform—in fact stood upon no platform whatever. It was a downright mean card to hand out to the Silver Bryan men.

About a year after Dr. Daly holds the Judgeship (?) sufficient money will be saved the county (?) and things will be running along so nicely that we can afford a handsome new court house. Daly is a house builder from Builleville. However, the high school building which the Dr. will donate to the people will be erected right after election. Of course there is a proviso in the matter. And also a string on the building. It was unkind of a gentleman who knows the Doctor well to remark before a crowd on the street the other day that "if Daly ever built a high school house it would be for rent." The public knows what the political promises of the Doctor are worth.

The Democratic State Convention completely ignored Bryan and the Silver men. So did the Lake County Democratic Convention. "This is base ingratitude!"
