

CUBANS ARE GIVEN THEIR FREEDOM

Written just before Cuba was turned over to her people by the American Government.

When on Tuesday next the United States turns the Island of Cuba back to the rule of its own people, withdrawing its own sovereignty; furling the flag of the great republic and giving with its retiring guns, a solemn salute to the flag of what is to be a new republic, all civilized nations will be thrilled, says Judge Goodwin in Salt Lake Weekly.

No other such magnificent spectacle has ever been witnessed through all the rolling ages of the past, no other such stately history has ever been written; in no other instance have the effects of the workings of free government upon a nation been so manifested to a wondering world.

When years of cruelty on the part of old Spain culminated in the destruction of a friendly warship of the great republic, and her devoted crew in the harbor of Havana—a destruction which had all the sinister features of a monstrous assassination; and when a public opinion, which could not be restrained, demanded the avenging of that tragedy in a manner which should be forever a notice to the nations of the earth that the American flag and American citizenship were things which the world, to its remotest bound, must respect; even while from every State and Territory was heard the ominous, measured tread of the volunteers pressing forward to a common center, eager to take part in a bloody vindication of the insulted majesty of the flag and the barbarous murder of American sailors; the Senate of the United States spread upon its records a notice to mankind, that no flout of conquest was behind the tremendous movement, and coupled with it was a promise that, when redeemed, Cuba should be given back to her own people.

At this the minions of kings sneered; the world's diplomats doubted; a hostile press scoffed; through all the lands of Latin America there were tremblings, lest indeed the Great Republic was about entering upon a career of absorption, which under one or another excuse would never cease until the continent should be subdued.

That was but four years ago. A short but decisive war succeeded, in which the arm of Spain was broken on land, while on the sea her fleets disappeared in flame and wreck and the flag of the republic took on a glory indescribable.

The war over, millions of wretches were found starving, the republic fed them, thousands were found sick, the republic built hospitals and supplied them nurses, physicians and medicines. Every city was a breeding place for the pestilence; the republic compelled their sanitation and forced the pestilence to raise its black wings and fly away. Tens of thousands of children were growing up in ignorance; for these schoolhouses were built and teachers sent to them.

The rule of violence and disorder was crushed and an example of the blessings which follow when just laws are kindly but firmly enforced was given the people.

This has cost many a glorious life and millions and tens of millions of treasure, but the work being completed the republic fulfills its promise and withdraws. Already along the blue lines of the soldiers, the songs of home are being sung; within sound of where the Maine and her heroes sleep in the ooze, the seamen on the ships of the republic are singing Sweet Home.

Whatever may succeed in the years to come, this history will be finished on Tuesday next.

It is worth all that it has cost. It is a page of completed history and the splendor of its canes all the great achievements of all other nations since the beginning of the world to seem mean and poor by comparison.

It gives to the great republic new grace and majesty; it gives to the Monroe doctrine a new meaning and dignity; it gives to the flag of the republic a splendor which dims all the eagles and standards of Rome, even when Rome in her almightiness ruled the world.

IT MUST COME.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the changes of other seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and prepare for it. In this way the discomforts and disasters suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine for every season of woman's life, will entirely meet the needs of women at this period of change. It cures the physical ills and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

J. S. Carlisle, Esq., of Manchester, Coffee Co., Tenn., writes: "I have been using your medicine for the last sixteen or eighteen years in my poor-house. I am superintendent of the Coffee County Poor-house and Asylum combined. Your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' are the best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended that I ever used. They saved my wife's life at the time of 'change of life.' I have been recommending your medicine to many afflicted women and have also guaranteed that if it did not cure I would pay back the money spent for it. I have told our druggist that if the people came back and said 'Doctor Pierce's medicines did not give satisfaction, give them back their money and charge it to me.' I have never been called upon to refund. I have never found anything to equal the 'Favorite Prescription' for diseases of women."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by Lee Beall, druggist. Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
