LAKEVIEW, OREGON, AUGUST 7, 1902.

HARMONY A BOOMERANG.

Chairman Babcock, of the Republican Congressional Committee, says that the Republicans will carry the next House by a safe majority, making gains in the Middle West and holding their own in the East. He says the harmony efforts of the Democrats did the Republicans lots of good. Bryan's Eastern visit had aided materially in raising the old silver spectre that most Democrats hoped had been cast aside. Babcock had feared that the Cleveland-Hill appeal for harmony would withdraw from the Republicans the support of Gold Democrats, which they had in the three past elections, but Bryan's letter following the Tilden letter opened the eyes of Eastern Democrats to the fact that the Chicago-Kansas City crowd is determined to dictate to the Democracy of the country, and, as a result, former supporters of the sound money party will continue to support Republican candidates for Congress. Outside of a few New York members, the Democracy of the House today is for free silver as strongly as ever.

Chairman Babcock observes that the Democrats have dropped the Philippines issue, it being too hot for them, falling back on the trusts and the tariff questions, on which the Republicans are ready to meet them. "With everybody at work and general good times prevailing, the result of Republican policies," said Babcock, "the people will continue the Republican party in power. As to trusts, the Republicans have enacted the only anti-trust law on the statutes. On this question the Democrats have no record."

You cannot go anywhere in the East for a summer's outing without unearthing some pretty, old-time fable of the past or finding a relic. President Roosevelt has settled himself at Oyster Bay among a nest of revolutionary traditions. The old Townsend homestead is not far from him. Here Major Andre once stopped, not many weeks before his capture and execution and occupied the time by falling in love with Audrey Townsend, who was a famous beauty. Whether she returned the feeling is not known, but Andre made a drawing of her which was treasured by the Townsend family for a long time, until some courteous visitor stole it. The British officers were quartered there also and the window panes where they scratched their tributes to the Townsend girls are still to be seen. One of them reads: "Miss A. T., the Most Adorable Young Lady in Oyster Bay."

A Nebraska politician has grown tired of politics and public life and has refused office. This is what he says: "I would rather stand and look at a pig squealing at the trough than to sit in a luxurious office and hear the chronic office-seekers, squealing for a snap. There is something restful about a barnyard. It is a real pleasure to lean up against a haystack and converse with the hired man who has no axes to grind and whose highest ambition is to borrow a chew of tobacco. I take more pride in my ability to guess the weight of a fat hog than I do in my capacity to hold the helm of the state." And this is Bryan's homestead, too. Just think of a Nebraska man refusing office. This man has certainly not profited by the Bryanism teachings.

George Knowlton, better known as "Rebel George," one time notorious character and confidence man of the Pacific Coast, was recently released from San Quentin prison. He is now following the role of a preacher. If George is sincere the "pen" can spare him easier than the pulpit.

Now, see here. If love is blind, how can there ever be a case of love at first sight? Either the poet is a lyre or the near-sighted paragrapher is a liar.

Epworth League at Davis Creek.

An organization of the Epworth League is now full fledged in the little town of Davis Creek. Few towns of much greater importance than Davis Creek can boast of an Epworth League. The Misses Cora and Fanny Berry of that place, both talented young ladies, and strong supporters of Methodism, are responsible for the organization which bids fair to be progressive and interesting. The following officers have just been elected:

President, Mrs. Foney Leonard; First Vice President, who has special charge of the devotional work, Miss Gertrude Coffey; Second Vice President, who conducts the charitable work, Miss Lena Lee; Third Vice President, who has charge of the literary work, Miss Fanny Berry; Secretary, Vernon Lee; Treasurer, Miss Delphia Mulkey; Organist, Miss Fanny Berry; and Corresponding Secretary, Miss Cora Berry.

Boston Wool Market Stronger.
The position of wool during the week, in Boston, was strong with the outlook favorable for higher prices. In the wool growing districts the situation is firmer and prices generally are reported to be steadily advancing. As high as 16 1/2 cents has been paid for good clips there, which is fully three cents per pound higher than was paid for the same clips a year ago. It is believed Montana wools will go much higher when the clip is all sold.

Many manufacturers are short of old wool and are buying new wool and are using it with what old stock they have in order to make the old last as long as possible.

Near to Hades Down There.

People who think it is warm in this country should visit historic old Shasta. Of the heat the Shasta Courier modestly says:

Beginning Sunday, an intensely hot wave has swept over the country. Thursday was simply terrific and the heat increased during the night—instead of cooling down. In Redding Thursday the temperature ranged, on Market street, from 100 to 116 or 117. At Shasta it was 110. At Keswick the mercury climbed out of sight, being 126, and the Mt. Shasta mine registered a shade temperature of 125. This is the warmest habitant.

When to Begin.

One reason why more good horses are not produced in this country is that the dams are not well fed when carrying their foals. If a mare is not working, she is not fed enough strengthening feed to keep her vitality high and produce a husky colt. It takes feed to make good animals, and it takes feed before they are born to make them. No use feeding heavily after the foal comes if it is a horn weakling, with knuckling or weak joints and flabby muscles. The time to make foals strong is before they come; then their dams will have plenty of milk and the foal will have the ability to get and use it.—National Stockman.

Watering Horses.

A writer in the Iowa Homestead says that where it can be done a good practice is to water a horse about thirty minutes before he is fed his grain. If it cannot be done then, a very good time is to water immediately before the grain is fed. If water must be given after eating, it should not be given for two hours. This is a simple rule that any horse owner can understand, and if it is practiced much trouble will be avoided.

Goats With Stomach Worms.

Mr. McKibben says in Wool Markets and Sheep, "If you see a goat off feed, looks sleepy and tiredlike, give him a teaspoonful of gasoline in half a pint of fresh milk once a day for three days, for that goat has stomach worms."

Goats prefer brush, but do well on grass and weeds. Poison ivy never hurts our goats. They seem to like it. We have no laurel here, but am told that it will sometimes kill goats if turned on it in spring, when other green feed is scarce, but later in season is safe pasture.—Ed W. Cole in National Stockman.
