

GOOD HORSES ARE SCARCE

The Oregon Horse of Good Quality is Fast Going Out of Existence--Quit Breeding.

"Air you folks reckonin' on takin' boarders this summer, Luke?" Inquired Seth Turniptop of Luke Leatherbottom when the two met the other Saturday at the Postoffice.

"Hey--boarders, did you say? Humph! Wa-al, I should reckon not! I d'want none of them city folks 'round me agin, arter las' summer. If they warn't the peskiest lot of critters I ever did see! They cum all chuck full of highfalutin' notions, but I guess they got some of 'em tuk out of 'em 'fore they went back. They bothered ma to death, an' made her that nervous--my! They wanted a separate spoon for the sugarbowl, b'gosh. Tew high-toned to stick their own spoons in! Ever hear the like of it? No, I reckon not! Then the table cloth had to be taken off right in the middle of the week--turnin' so's to have the spots on the under side warn't enough. Ma mns' hustle it off an' lay a bran' clean one. An' the napkins! One spot on a napkin had to go. Sunday cleanin' warn't often enough. What else? Plenty. They wanted me to give 'em helpin' 'stead of passin' the platter an' lettin' each feller dish his own mess. Wa-al, I kicked on that. I was there to eat, not to scrape for other people. An' I didn't put a collar on, neither. weekday meals, tho' one of the boarders--a man, b'gosh!--was that finicky he hinted to ma to ask me to. I had something else to do beside dressin' an' undressin'. They would'n'd wash in the basing where the res' of us did. Sh'ay not! They made ma lug water clean up stairs, fer their private use, by jinks! An each room used three or four towels a week! Poor ma 'bout broke her back washin' things. Sundays they wanted risin' bell at 7, 'stead of five, tho' how a body kin lay abed till near noon is more'n we can figger. Durned if some of them people didn't try to eat pens with a fork! Shelled peas, mind ye! An' the fool talk, an' the way they thought they knowned everything. But not a one could tell which end of a horse or of a cow riz first from the ground, gittin' up. Wa-al, they 'bout wore out our forks an' feelin's and didn't go any tew soon. No more city folks fer us--no, sir! They're more bother than they're wurtch."—Edwin L. Sabin in Judge.

Honeymoon in a Balloon.

There will be about five blocks of Midway shows and foreign novelties at the Portland Elks' Carnival this year. The entire Carnival will occupy something like 15 blocks of the street that has been reserved for it. All sorts of attractions have been contracted for the fair, and Elks will outdo the Carnival which they gave two years ago. Every day of the two weeks that the show will be open has been set for a special celebration of some kind. On wedding day there will be a few couples married in highly spectacular style before the public, and their honeymoon trip will be free—if they desire—in a captive balloon. The contracting parties will be given substantial presents enough to start them well in life at the expense of the management of the Carnival.

HOPEFUL VIEW

The hopeful view consumptives take of their own cases is strongly in their favor. Each year is showing a larger percentage of cures.

One of the best reasons for good hope is the record of Scott's Emulsion as a medicine for consumptives. So long as the system is strong enough to use medicine of any kind it can use Scott's Emulsion.

The reason for its helpfulness in this disease is because of its long tolerance by the patient; one does not tire of it as quickly as other medicines and that is where the great benefit comes.

He Knew His Business.

"Want any pertaters today?" asked a Goose Lake peddler as he halted his team in front of a Lakeview residence last Saturday.

"No," replied the lady of the house. "The last lot we bought of you was not satisfactory."

"What was th' matter with 'em?" asked the peddler.

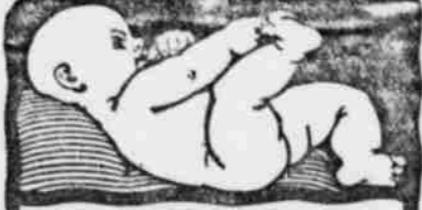

"The potatoes at the top of the bucket were nice and large, but in the bottom they were little bits of things," replied the woman.

"That wuz no fault of mine," rejoined the honest peddler. "It wuz kease of the good growin' weather we've bin havin'. Pertaters are growin' so fast lately that by th' time I git a bucketful dug, th' last 'uns ear ever so much bigger'n the fust 'uns.

Astounded The Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. Through long suffering from Dyspepsia, he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after usin' four bottles, she is entirely well, and can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. MOTHERHOOD

The greatest ambition of American men and women is to have homes blessed with children. The woman afflicted with female disease is constantly menaced with becoming a childless wife. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception; does prevent miscarriage; does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Wine of Cardui gives women the health and strength to bear healthy children. You can get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer.

WINE OF CARDUI

143 Market Street,
Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901.

In February, 1901, I sent one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one bottle of Thedford's Black-Branght. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my house. Mrs. J. W. C. SMITH.

Killed Monster Lion.

Henry Schock, the drayman and dog trainer of Yreka, has proved himself the boss hunter of big game, and has rid the vicinity of that town of a monster California lion that has terrorized the people there for some time. Schock secured the services of some dogs from San Francisco, and started out on the lion's trail and soon had the monster at bay on some rocks a mile south of Yreka. He ridled the animal with bullets. The lion was poor, but weighed 190 pounds, and measured 9 feet in length. In a former effort to capture him the lion killed a half dozen dogs.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinney, well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured with cut having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Lee Beall, druggist.
