LAKEVIEW, OREGON, SEP. 18, 1902.

It is said authoritatively by friends of Senator J. N. Williams of Prineville that he will not permit the use of his name in connection with the presidency of the state senate of the approaching session of the legislature, says the Portland Journal. Senator Williamson's decision is said to be due to his recognition of the honors which have been bestowed upon him, in election to Congress from the Central Oregon country, and the fact that such new duties will necessarily take much of his attention towards the close of the state session at least. He will need to be in Washington to take his seat in Congress March 4. Although he may not preside over the Senate, unless circumstances should bring him reluctantly as a compromise candidate, Mr. Williamson will hold a commanding position in the Senate, especially in connection with the United States Senators, on account of his relations to Senator Mitchell.

The Cedarville Record says twelve years ago Modoc County was democratic by about 750 majority, and had not a single democratic paper in it. Then the Herald which later merged into the Plaindealer, was started, and with that paper advocating democracy the majority was whittled down to about 50, where it now stands. Now that the democrats have two organs in the county it is reasonable to suppose, taking the past as an index of the future, that the republicans will soon be in the majority.

Maine, in an off year, has gone republican by a plurality of 27,000. In former off years 12,000 was about the average. Republicans elected the entire delegation in congress by a large majority, elected every senator but one, and four-fifths of the legislature. Maine says to Roosevelt: "The Pine Tree state endorses your administration with no exceptions."

Another railroad strike is on tap that will tie up all the western trains. An organization of the largest and most far reaching union in the history of railroading has been perfected. The union includes the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. An increase of 20 per cent in wages will be asked. It is thought the climax will come at an early date.

Modoc is just now in the throes of a hot political campaign. Political speechmaking of the spell-binder order, candidates' balls, buttonholing and wire-working is the order of the day. With two democratic papers at the hub it is thought that the county will fall into the hands of the republicans next month.

Paul Kruger left his country and his people when the bullets fell the thickest in the veldt and the advice of brave leadership and good generalship was needed most. There was really nothing heroic in Oom Paul's life compared with the Generals of the Boer Army.

There is probably no truth in the report that the Government is going to stock Salt Lake with mackerel kits. Should it do so, wouldn't the kits raise cat fish?—Portland Journal.

The San Francisco Examiner "bolted" the democracy of California because it could not dictate the nomination for governor. That is not the greatest feat of the Examiner.

Maybe you won't believe it, but there is a man in Salem so baldheaded that he ties a string around his head when he washes his face, so as to show where his face ends.

Let Helen Stone go back to the Turks—or to the Devil, if she wants to. Uncle Sam saved her goose once, and that is quite sufficient.

Bob Evans is now commander of the Asiatic fleet, and if anybody wants a fight Bob can be found on deck.

Governor Geer has again been invited to stomp the state of Ohio during the present campaign.

Did the Muir peach have its origin in Duns-muir?—Dunsmuir News.
Aye. Likewise the Dun horse.

KARNE TONNINGSEN.

At 7 o'clock last Friday evening, Sept. 12th, the spirit of "Grandma" Tonningsen departed this earth. For months past the aged woman's health has been declining, and relatives and friends have tenderly cared for her night and day, making her last illness as peaceful as it were possible.

Karne Tonningsen was the wife of J. H. Tonningsen who survives her. She was born in Schleswig, Germany, on Nov. 19, 1824, and at the time of death was aged 77 years, 9 months and 23 days.

"Grandma" was one of those dear old souls whose mission on earth was to make those she loved happy. She was a great favorite with all the young people of the town, and in fact with all who knew her. She was of a kindly, happy disposition and her greatest delight was to have her friends about her. Many were the genuine tears of sorrow that were shed when the coffin lid hid forever that sweet face from view. There was no painful struggle at the last. As the calmness of the summer night had enwrapped her, so the night of death descended, filling her worn soul with peace, and she forgot there had been pain and sorrow, and went to rest in steadfast hope there would be a bright to-morrow for her—while her children stood with bowed heads and aching hearts around the death bed. The sons, Charles and Asmus, and daughter, Mrs. Whitworth, saw the spark of life go out.

During all the long illness the sons and daughter were constant in their attention and devotion. The cruel pangs of pain that racked the aged form were oftentimes soothed by the hand of the devoted and loving daughter. Besides the three mentioned, another son, John Tonningsen, of San Francisco, is left to mourn the death of this venerable woman.

The floral offerings were profuse. At 3 p. m. Saturday the funeral took place from the residence of H. C. Whitworth. Rev. Smythe preached the funeral sermon, and numerous friends followed the remains to the silent city of the dead.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Lee Beall's Drug Store.

Now We Know

The Alturas Plaindealer, always up and to the fore in railroad secrets, fixes the route of the Coos Bay-Salt Lake railroad through Lake County, so now our people can get in on the ground floor and get locations along the line. The Plaindealer says lots of railroad building is now going on, but mostly on paper. One in particular that is attracting the attention of our Oregon friends is laid down (on paper) from Coos Bay, Oregon to Salt Lake. This line, however, has the merit of a beginning as work is now in actual progress on the west end. The projected line, if built, will come about 40 miles north of Lakeview, probably following down the Chewaucan river to Paisley.
