Where is the Populist Party?

Ex-Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, who is now making his home in New York City, when in Washington last week asserted in an interview that work would soon be begun to reorganize and invigorate the Populist party. This declaration has set the politicians to wondering when and where Mr. Butler is to find the Populist party in order to reorganize and invigorate it. All through the West, where the party was strongest, the Populists have been absorbed by the Democrats, and there is now no discernible line of demarcation between the two parties in this region, generally speaking. This is particularly true of those Western States which a few years ago were the Populist strongholds. In Kansas, for example, the fusion between the Populists and Democrats is so complete that the coalition is known simply as the Democratic party, and a full state ticket has been nominated under the Democratic title. Senator Harris who was elected as a Populist, is running for re-election as a straight Democrat. In Idaho, where the Populists a few years ago were stronger than either the Republicans or Democrats, the Populist party has disappeared, and Senator Heitfeld, one of the organizers of the party, made formal announcement last Winter of his complete conversion to Democracy. Like Senator Harris, Mr. Heitfeld is running for re-election as a Democrat, though, unlike his Kansas colleague, the Idaho man probably will be returned to the Senate, since it seems that the Republicans have made no headway in Idaho for several years.—Washington Letter to the New York Tribune.

A California candidate for Railroad Commissioner is making his campaign in an automobile. He is making a good run—Salem Statesman.

He may make it all right in the "long run," but he is going to his death. He auto get other transportation. For every family dog he runs over he will lose an average of 'seven votes. The Southern Pacific would gladly give him railroad transportation—this is merely a hint to the gentleman. He needn't take the advice.

It looks very much like two counties are to be wiped from the map of Oregon, Grant and Harney, as the forest reserve order of the department, it is rumored, takes all of these two counties except their respective county seats. Fortunately court can be held in the three counties which still leaves the 9th judicial district intact.—Ontario Democrat.

A celebrated surgeon from Vienna is in Chicago to perform an operation upon the child of one of the Armours. His fee will be $100,000, but he discovered in a hospital a poor child similarly afflicted and will perform the operation free. There is a big spark of humanity in this man, as he could have charged Armour a bigger fee.

Seventy thousand immigrants entered Canada during the fiscal year ending June 30. Twenty-two thousand of these people crossed the border from the United States. They will in time return to the country of prosperity, and while they were going others were coming in to take their places.

Chas. Meserve, former publisher of the Oregon City Enterprise, will soon install a new printing plant at Medford and start a paper there, backed by capital, it is said to make it go. Medford must be a "good thing." There are three papers there.

This was a bad break. The Willows Journal says that a man walking on the sidewalks of Chinatown "this morning" slipped and had his leg broken right below the opium joint.

STOCK NOTES OF INTEREST

Some Big Sales Made in Lake and Klamath and Much Money is Put in Circulation.

Mr. Swanston intends to feed about 2500 head of mutton sheep at Shasta and Mr. Gerber will feed about 3000 on Lost river.

McHenry, the rancher of Merced, purchased over 600 cattle on Sprague river which will be sent to his vast possessions in the San Joaquin valley.

The sales within the last thirty days has been a record breaker and the California buyers have dropped a barrel of the real thing among our stock growers.

C. Swanston took out 500 head last week, purchased of Joe Howard of Drews Valley, Dicks Bros., and several lots purchased in Langell and Poe valleys.

Mitchell Bros. passed through town Sunday morning with 300 head of beef cattle which they were driving to Gazelle for shipment to the southern market.

Additional stock notes of importance from Lake and Klamath, the great stock counties of Southern Oregon, are taken from the Klamath Express this week:

Heryford Bros., the well known Lake county cattle raisers will deliver their last lot of beef on the 20th at Drews Valley to Louis Gerber and C. Swanston & Son.

The XL Cattle Company drove 1020 head from their Goose Lake ranch last week to Gazelle. The cattle were contracted to Edson Bros., the well known alfalfa growers of that place.

Louis Gerber brought down 265 cattle to the Offield ranch to be fed for winter purposes, and yesterday took another band of 620 head from his Brookvale Stock Farm to be fed at Ball Bros. and Colwell & Son's an Lost river.

Mr. Alken of the Western Meat Company of San Francisco has purchased over 2000 head of cattle of Messrs. Joe Howard, J. D. Carr, Silas Kilgore, F. P. Grohs, McDonald Bros., Geo. Deal, Duncan & Son and several others.

John Small, buyer for the Oakland Meat Company, took to Montague 570 head purchased of Brattain Bros., Horton Bros., and different small growers on Lost river. C. Swanston will also take out 2000 mutton sheep bought of different parties in Lake county.

There is probably no town in Eastern Oregon that is now in course of such a building improvement as Lakeview. Two new brick buildings and at least a dozen new frames are going up or are having the finishing touches put on. Besides, there are additions of large proportions being made to some good sized residences about town. The Examiner will soon give a complete list of the late town improvements.

Miss Applegate Dead.

Miss Mamie Applegate, at one time a resident of Lakeview, died in Los Angeles, Cal., on Thursday morning, Oct. 16th. She was the daughter of Mrs. C. C. Applegate, well known in Lakeview. Four sisters also mourn her death, Mrs. A. McCallen and Mrs. G. N. Dodge of Ashland, Mrs. Mary Clayton, of Portland and Mrs. H. C. Oakley, of Los Angeles.

Syron Buys Medford Home.

Geo. W. Syron, recently from Lakeview has purchased the L. W. Johnson ten-acre tract of land, on Bear creek, north of Medford, and has commenced the construction of a residence thereon. The price paid was $1100 and the deal was made through the Palm-York agency.—Medford Mail.
