HOW TO GET RICH.

This morning we received an advertising proposition from a Washington patent attorney, offering us five dollars for every client secured by the advertisement, but in case no clients were forthcoming we were to receive nothing out of it excepting the fun of mailing our paper free to the advertiser during the career of the contract. Hardly a day passes with us any more that we do not receive a proposition equally generous, and every other newspaper in the country is blessed the same way. Is it any wonder that the average editor has to go armed to keep the envious poorer classes from anarchistic attacks upon him? Is it any wonder that, after running a newspaper a few months a man begins to indulge in diamonds an stub-tailed horses and plug hats and seats in Congress and June watermelons and Alfred Austin's poems, and other forms of almost reckless luxury?

During the past week we have been offered lightning rods, corn salve, duobills on tuition at Keely Institute, cure for the stuttering habit, worm tablets, flypaper, Chinese dictionary, life of Charley Ross, condition powders, instrumental music entitled "After the Ball," "Life of Jesse James," "What to do in Case of an Earthquake," bound in calf and written by one, Sunday school jokes with a diagram of each, and numerous other sundries as pay for carrying advertising. It is such things as this that make the life of a publisher one glad panorama of sunshine and eternal fun. It shows how ticklish everybody seems to be to give the publisher a chance and help him along and how trustful and confident they all are of his perfect ability to run his business without the use of money.—Ex.

Representative-elect Williamson called on Land Commissioner Hermann and the Director of the Geological Survey regarding the commencement of irrigation work under the Hansbrough law in Oregon. He was told that special agents of the latter bureau are now on the way, and what is the plan for starting the work mapped out. Williamson pointed out the special necessity for irrigation work in Eastern Oregon. It is probable no work of construction of irrigation works can be begun for some months.

When Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles is retired from the office of commander-in-chief of the United States army on August 8, of next year, Gen. S. B. M. Young, next in rank below Miles, will be advanced to fill the vacancy. This information, which has been given out at the war department, is very pleasing to the great number of army friends of Hughes, who is a general favorite. Among the brigadiers to be advanced to the rank of major-general is Leonard Wood, the hero of Santiago.

The Secretary of War has authorized advertisement for proposals for a double set of artillery barracks, to accommodate 240 men, two double sets of barracks, for 160 men, and officers' quarters for 16 officers, to be erected at Vancouver Barracks.

Congressman Williamson's first work is in the interest of irrigation in Eastern Oregon. If he will make this his particular and principal job, and stay with it everlastingly, he can stay in Congress as long as he wants to.—Statesman.

The St. Louis 1904 Fair management announces that so far 23 foreign governments and 34 states have taken favorable action in regard to making exhibits. It is doubtless going to be the greatest shows ever seen.

Bidwell Herald was the First Paper.

Ed Session handed the Cedarville Record a copy of the Bidwell Herald several days ago. It is a well printed four-column quarto, and bears the date of June 6th 1877 and has the name of Fred Smith as Editor. It was the first paper printed in the Valley and was conducted by one of the U. S. troops stationed at Ft Bidwell and when the troops were moved to another post the Herald suspended publication. In it is advertised the professional cards of F. W. Ewing and H. L. Spargur, also the Golden Eagle Hotel, Jesse Hironymous proprietor and the business ads of Chas. W. Lee, Peter Schwartz, Cressler & Bonner, Fulcher & Wellmister and others many of whom have since crossed the great divide. The Herald at that time was kicking about inadequate mail facilities of this Valley, also about the bed bugs in the Bidwell hotel, which goes to show that the art of "kicking" is not a recent innovation. It states that considerable excitement was being experienced here owing to the finding of gold bearing specimen in this vicinity. It is one of the few papers in existence of the first journalistic enterprise in the Valley.

Not only was the Herald the first paper in Modoc county, but it was established before any paper was started in Lake or Klamath counties. When the Herald suspended publication it was moved to Lakeview and relabeled as the State Line Herald, where it was run for several years unsuccessfully. The Lake County Examiner was established in 1880, and shortly afterward the Herald was consolidated with The Examiner. The Herald saw many exciting times during its existence in Lakeview—shooting at the editor was a common occurrence, but the paper never failed to come out but once, and that was when the office was over the old Goos brewery and fire destroyed both The Herald and brewery. All the files of The Herald were kept in The Examiner archives until the fire of 1900 which destroyed both Examiner and Herald files.

Last year a postal card came to the Lakeview postoffice addressed to the State Line Herald, and asking for a copy of that journal, thinking it still in existence. The gentleman said he used to be one of the printers on the paper when at Bidwell.

THE WANT AD.

It is of course impossible accurately to gauge the part the small "want ad." plays in the life of today, but it is a well known fact that thousands depend upon it for employment.

For bringing employer and employee together no method has ever been evolved that is superior to this.
