

Additional Local

Roy Stanley caught a lot of quail on his father's place down the valley last week and six of them were added to the cage of quails at Post & Kings. Whorton & Smith also had a cage made and have seven. Tom and Chester Studley have four in a cage.

GROCERIES—You are safe in buying your groceries at Bieber's.

M. R. Hart boarded the Southern stage Tuesday morning for Lakeport, Cal., where Mrs. Hart has been living since leaving Lakeview. Mike will go via Richmond and visit his daughters, Mrs. L. G. Bench and Olive Hart. He has not decided whether he will remain in California or return to Lakeview.

A photograph would make a splendid Christmas present. C. H. Dunlap has one left that usually sells for $25. If taken now it can be had for $15.

J. H. Houston & Son owners of the Klamath Falls Opera house have out some large full sheet colored posters advertising a Mask ball to be given at that place on New Years Eve. Three prizes will be given and the tickets are only $1.00. These gentlemen are always up-to-date in everything they undertake, and believe in plenty of advertising.

The New Era says District Attorney Bonner was up against the real thing in court last Monday, when his request for a jury trial and his motion as to the disqualification of the judge, were denied by the court with a threat to send him to jail. Mr. Bonner then failed to see his recourse to stop the payment of the claim in the case of Smith vs. Modoc county.

The Palace Restaurant recently opened by W. M. Harvey, is doing a rushing business both night and day, and is prepared to serve the public with everything in the market at short notice. Turkeys, chickens, and suckling pigs baked to order. Bread and pastry constantly on hand. Prices reasonable and satisfaction guaranteed.

Colored Photography A New Discovery.

To be able to produce a photographic likeness of any object, with all the natural colors of that object standing out on the print, is a feat that has held the attention of chemists and other experimenters in that branch of scientific research ever since old Louis Jacques Madae Daquere himself made his first reproduction and Joseph Niepce discovered the first sensitive plate. Now comes Professor A. B. Leckenby, the United States agronomist at Union, who has not only made real colored photographs by the use of the ordinary camera and apparatus and some special chemicals of his own, but has also taken some prints to Portland and exhibited them.

As far as it is possible to ascertain at the present time, the new method is the same as the old system of photography up till the act of making the print. The plate used is a Cramer isochromatic such as are in use every day by enthusiasts. The difference lies in the emulsion on the sensitive paper. The slight differences in the shades on the negative plate are just enough to act in different ways on the paper during printing and produce the several colors, and after the toning and fixing operations, which are also probably unlike those in present use, the picture comes out resplendent in colors instead of all the same slate or sepia tone.

Up to the present time only one fault has been found with the pictures. They are not all the same shade. A red rose may show pink at one time, and with the next tone and fixing a dark crimson. In either case the color will still be red, but the shades will be decidedly different. Even this objection, which is not in itself very serious, Dr. Leckenby thinks, will be remedied, and while coming to Portland on the train he thought out a method which will have the effect of bringing the various prints to a more even tone.

It is generally understood that Professor Leckenby will not patent his discovery or try to make money from it, but he will give it to the world. He is, however, taking steps to procure the necessary papers to secure for himself the honor of having discovered the new method and to prevent any one else from using it as a money-making scheme. It has not been generally published that the discovery has been made, but those who have seen the prints have accepted it as a fact, as Professor Leckenby is not a person to give out false statements about such matters.

A Penalty Attached

We, the undersigned agree to close our respective places of business and not to open the same to the public on Sundays after the 31st day of Dec. 1902. In consideration of the foregoing it is further agreed by the parties thereto, that any of us who shall violate this agreement, and sell goods to customers on Sundays, (except in cases of sickness or death) that, within three days after our attention has been called to such violation by a majority of its signers hereto, we will deposit in the Bank of Lakeview the sum of Twenty-Five ($25.00) Dollars, the same to be used in any public enterprise or entertainment as may be decided by a majority of the signers to this agreement.

This agreement may be declared void at any time by the concurrence of a majority of the signers.
