LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JAN. 1, 1903.

Looks Good To Sheepmen.

Sheepmen of the Northwest who have been making money for the past four years as a result of good prices for sheep and fair prices for wool, are likely to be "in it," so far as wool is concerned, next Spring. That staple is quoted "firm" at prevailing prices now, but there is none in the market, all of last Spring's crop having been disposed of some time ago.

"But the world's supply of wool is short just now," a prominent dealer said to the Portland Telegram, "and Oregon wool is bound to bring a good price next Summer."

"In Australia the loss of millions of sheep by drouth will lessen the supply of wool perceptibly next year, while the big demand for woolen goods in the United States is going to be bigger in 1903."

"When people are doing well, and times are prosperous, the demand for better grades of clothing increases and everybody desires to dress better."

"The Oregon crop so far bids fair to be full and in prime condition next Spring, as sheep are generally in good order and free of scab. Although ranges are crowded, hay is abundant and there is no fear of any loss from lack of food during the Winter."

"Sheepmen therefore may look forward to another prosperous year in 1903, as with good prices for their wool and a fair demand for stock sheep and wethers they will be able to buy land for their stock to run on when the supply of free Government range gives out."

The Hague to Arbitrate.

President Roosevelt has declined to act as arbitrator of the Venezuelan dispute, and the allies and Venezuelan have agreed to refer it to The Hague tribunal.

The Cabinet reached this decision Dec. 26th, having assurances that the appeal to The Hague would not bring the Monroe Doctrine into question.

This news is received in London with disappointment, except by the Liberal leaders, who find in it cause of triumph over the government.

The blockade is rigidly enforced. A ship loaded with British coal for the railroad was not allowed to land it. A vessel was sent to take the people off an island to the mainland, as the blockade applies to the island.

A Hard Hitter.

Steve Down, a Lakeview young man just out of his teens, broke the record on Christmas for being the hardest hitter in the whole country. Nearly everyone who have a desire to test their striking ability have tried the striking machine at Post & King's. Very few men can strike 400 pounds, but some can raise the indicator up to 500 or 600, and sometimes to 700. Ex-pugilist Sullivan's record is said to be 900, but Sullivan will have to hit again if he wishes to hold the championship over Steve Down. The young lad hit the machine several times on Christmas and had made a record of over 800 pounds, and when The Examiner man was called in to witness his strength, the young man made an extra effort, and when he drew back and struck the machine the indicator jumped up to 980 pounds to the great astonishment of all present.

At a sale of books in Washington the other evening the auctioneer put up a set of Theodore Roosevelt's works and after a sharp contest among the bidders it was knocked down at a figure slightly in excess of the regular store price. Then the auctioneer picked out a life of George Washington and held that up with the usual preface of choice comment. Silence followed the conclusion of the panegyric. Not a solitary bid was heard. Then the auctioneer again tried the value of the advertising, but not an offer was made. Tossing the book back on a shelf, he said in a tone of mingled contempt and disgust: "Go back to the shelf, George! You're not wanted. You're a back number. The times are too strenuous for you, George!"

Modocs are Refused A Home in Klamath

At the termination of the Modoc war, in 1873, the Indian prisoners captured during that bloody fight, were peaceably removed to the Indian territory, where Scar-faced Charley, one of the big chiefs of the tribe, was invested with the chieftainship. There were 135 Modocs left and they constituted the body that was sent to the Indian territory.

Now there remain only forty-four of these old time warriors and they have been making an effort to be allowed to return to the Klamath reservation and receive the allotments of land that the government gives the red man.

Two of the Modocs, leaders of their race spent two weeks at the Klamath reservation and tried to arrange for the return of the warriors. They met in council with the Klamath Indians and argued the matter from their standpoint. The Klamath Indians refused absolutely to allow the Modoc's to return. The committee therefore returned disappointed and the remains of the once powerful race will be compelled to remain in the territory, where they have practically been in exile since 1873.

This band of warriors is but a remnant of the once powerful tribe led by the fearless and dangerous red-skin, Captain Jack. He was sentenced to death at the close of the war and his followers disbanded, some to meet a fate like his and others to be exiled.—Redding Free Press.

Over 500 to Investigate

Mr. Grygla, the special land agent who is here investigating timber land matters has over 500 claims to look over. Every entry made in this district within the past six years will be investigated, and it doesn't matter whether a patent for the land has been issued or not. No one will be overlooked, and any claim that is found to be irregular the entry will be revoked on the advice of the special agent. Every claimant will be notified to appear on a certain day and show why their claim should not be cancelled.

Special agent Grygla has completed his work at the Roseburg land office. Out of 36 claims in that office where patents had been issued, six were annulled.

It is to the interest of every person having timber land claims in this district to appear before the special agent when summoned.

To Encourage Prospectors.

The following circular, which is self-explanatory, has been issued by the Nevada-California-Oregon railway:

Reno, Nevada, December 17, 1902.
To whom it may concern: With the object in view of encouraging prospectors, this company will carry free of charge from all points on the line of the N-C-O Railway, and Sierra Valleys Railway, samples of ore not to exceed 50-pounds, at one time, provided same is properly boxed or securely sacked.

The Western Ore Purchasing Company of Reno have agreed to assay all such samples free of charge, and promptly transmit certificates of assays to owner. Full name and address of sender should be placed inside of package so that certificate of assay can be sent to the shipper. The package should be marked on the outside, "Western Ore Purchasing Company, Reno, Nevada," and the agent will soon way-bill.

JOHN M. CRAWLEY,

Traffic Manager N-C-O Railway.
This railway company, as well as the Western Ore Purchasing Company of Reno, propose to advance the mining interests of Nevada, and their efforts will be appreciated by the prospectors of the State.
