

AN OLD FRIEND.....

There are many who watch the papers carefully for our advertisements. There are others, less wise, who skim over them and fail to take advantage of what we offer. When we say we have bargains, the wise know we are talking to their interests and take advantage of our offerings. We are sure to interest you.

At present we are offering better inducements to Cash buyers than at any other time in the year.

It's stock taking time here and many odds and ends are sold for much less than their real value. Come here--you may find something you want.

HANDLEY-WENDALL.

As reported in last week's Examiner the marriage of Thomas S. Handley and Miss Leta Wendall took place on New Year's eve at the residence of the bride's parents on Main Street. The novel hour of Midnight, when Father Time, representing 1932 was in the act of jumping off into oblivion, and Cupid holding 1933 steps on the stage of life, was selected as the time for performing the ceremony. A few friends besides the relatives were in attendance. Judge Daly performed the ceremony, after which a fine supper was partaken of.

A serenading party called on them shortly after they were wedded and sang a few songs. Miss Ruby Wendall returned from San Francisco to be present at the marriage. Some very fine presents were received.

Ahstrom Brothers, Handsome Vase Lamp; Bailey & Massingill, Water Set; J. M. Handley, Silver Butter Dish; Mrs. Moore, Berry Set; N. D. Asdell, Carving Set; J. E. McDonough, Berry Set; Mr. and Mrs. Easter, Silver Pitcher.

The Examiner extends congratulations, and wishes the happy couple a long and prosperous future.

Bert Wade Now Champion.

Steve Down will have to hit again. Pine Creek is never to be out done in anything if there is any show to win. Bert Wade, the Sandow of that little berg learning of the wonderful feat performed by Steve Down by striking 280 pounds on the machine at Post & King's, came up to capture the championship for his town. He rolled up his sleeves and showed his brawny arms—like the sturdy blacksmith's that were as hard as iron bands—and straightway plunged his fist into the cushioned bumper. The indicator swiftly ascended up the shaft to the point reached by Down, and glided by with a movement that was not feeble. The 260 notch was reached, and yet there was no stop, until it came to 1000 pounds, and the hult of the machine was reached. There is no telling where the indicator would have gone had not the top of the machine stopped it. Hit again Steve.

Resolves For 1933.

as committed in the other, is a matter, as the priest used to say, aesthetics purely, and not a matter of ethics; and in fact the gambler lady might be as damaging to the community and more so than the gambler 'tough,' for mind ye, Ole man, it is daicnt divilthry that is the thing av all things that helps kape indacint divilthry in countenance."

"So, Ole me man, kape a good hould on the resolves ye have made for year 1933. And whin ye go to town tomorrow mornin and the min say hello Ole, whin did ye come in, don't shity so long that whin your money is all gone they will be after saying to ye, 'Hello Ole whin are ye goin out."

"There goes thim poor divils av shape! Goodby, reminder yer resolves."
