The Lewis and Clark Fair bill, appropriating $500,000 for the great 1905 Exposition is now before the Legislature for its consideration. It is on second reading in each house, and is in the hands of special committees. It will be argued for early passage, and it is likely that a final vote will be reached during the present week. The measure is in charge of Senator Hunt and Representative Malarkey.

A. H. and N. B. Fisher, two well known stockmen from Lake county, moved with their families, Wednesday, to Phoenix from Ashland, says the Medford Success. They will reside only temporarily in Phoenix, for so soon as they can make a selection of a farm they will purchase and go into farming business. They came to Ashland about two months ago, but found nothing in that vicinity to suit them.

A Davis Creek correspondent of the New Era says: A party of young people gave Walter Duke and wife a pleasant surprise last Friday evening. Though not expected, they were very welcome, and a pleasant evening was passed in social games, card playing and conversation. Those present were Thos. Briles and wife, Miss Lulu Briles, Thos. Hornback, Harry Barker, Mrs. Perry Daniels, Ed King and Wm. Mickle.

Good Place to Raise Ducks.

That portion of India lying against the northern part of the Himalayan mountains has a rainfall of four hundred inches, (33 1-3 feet), per year, and it falls during seven of our spring, summer and autumn months, the other five being dry. In July the normal rainfall is 114.6 inches while here is a close second with 100 inches. For one month is no three inches of our annual rainfall. Portland average being forty inches per year.

Oregon Legislature Now in Session.

The two houses of the Oregon legislature after organization on Monday, Jan. 12th met in joint session in the hall of representatives Tuesday and after the completion of the official canvass of the vote for governor at the June election, as provided by law, Governor Geer delivered his biennial message and retired from the office he has filled for the past four years, and George E. Chamberlain, governor-elect, was formally inducted into the gubernatorial chair.

Chamberlain's unofficial majority was 276 but an error discovered by the canvassing board in Malheur county of 30 votes in Furnish's favor reduced Chamberlain's lead to 246. Governor Geer was presented and delivered his second biennial message to the legislature. The oath of office was then administered to Governor-elect Chamberlain by Chief Justice F. A. Moore.

After his inauguration Governor Chamberlain formally resigned as district attorney for Multnomah county and appointed to the vacancy John Manning, who was deputy under him. The new governor will make no further appointments for a few days, but it is understood that he will shortly announce the appointments of W. H. Gatens of Portland, as his private secretary and Mrs. H. L. Shelton, also of Portland as his stenographer.

Stockmen Meet at Bonanza.

(Klamath Republican)

In response to the published call, about 150 representative of the county gathered at Bonanza last Saturday to discuss the cattle and sheep question and devise some way by which to adjust differences peaceably. John Shook was chosen president and Jas. H. Driscoll secretary.

A petition was prepared and numerous signed, to be presented to the legislature, asking that body to enact a law regulating and restricting the herding of sheep. The petition suggests that a measure, similar to the one in force in Idaho, and which has been declared constitutional by the supreme court of that state, be provided for Oregon. This would prevent sheep from being herded within two miles of any human habitation. John S. Shook, I. J. Straw and Albert Walker were selected to go to Salem and co-operate with Representative Emmitt in interesting the legislature in the proposed law.

A resolution was unanimously adopted, expressing confidence in the ability and high character of Representative Emmitt, who, it is believed, will be instrumental in securing the desired legislation.

One on Judge Benson.

A good story is told on Judge Benson, that happened last fall, and our informant is as truthful as the day is long. The scene of the incident was in the alfalfa fields of Merrill. The Judge was escorting Alfred Holman, staff writer of the Oregonian, through Klamath and Lake counties and pointing out the many things of interest to the man with the pen, who was gathering statistics on this very much neglected section of Oregon. The Judge, as is well known, is an inveterate smoker, and at that time, prided himself on having the best cigar in the market; a cigar made in Lakeview and named "Judge Henry L. Benson." With one of these fine "Havans" between his fingers, the Judge pointed out over a broad expanse of alfalfa and remarked: "That, my dear Holman, is a second crop of alfalfa." "Looks like a second crop of cabbage to me," dryly replied Holman, as the wind just then blew a cloud of cigar smoke in his face. Since then the Judge has quit smoking, the Lakeview cigar-man has suspended business, and cabbage is a drug on the market.

More Irrigation in Klamath.

We are informed, says the Republican, that Mr. Beaver of Hillsborough, Or., is here to investigate the plans and feasibility of the projected irrigation ditch of the Merrill Mutual Canal Co., with a view of furnishing the necessary capital to further the enterprise. On Tuesday he left in company with Mr. Merrill, to go over the route of the proposed ditch and gather data of patronage that would be tributary to it. We understand that the railroad company, now building its line this way from Laird, gives assurance that if a big irrigation canal is dug from upper Klamath lake, the railroad will be to Klamath Falls without delay and with all possible haste.

Reno has been the scene of more than 1400 marriages in four years. No community of like size in all America ever had so many matrimonial knots tied within its confines during a similar period. Marrying has become a thriving industry in the town and the words, "married at Reno, Nevada," appear commonly in formal wedding announcements in the newspapers. Several hotel keepers in Reno have become well-to-do in keeping hostilities in the frontier town, where men and women come to assume matrimonial vows. Two elderly clergymen in the place have retired from active pastorships and each confesses that his marriage fees have amounted annually to about $4000. Still the number of marriages in Reno waxes. Since July the average has been about two a day.

J. E. BERNARD & SON.

Lakeview, January, 8th, 1903.

Dear Friends:—

We come to you again with this personal request for your trade. You want goods—we want business. Your purpose is to buy goods right. Our purpose is to sell you goods right. It also stands to reason that we are going to make our prices as low as consistent with good business-judgment, in order to interest you, and, as the largest dealers in Lakeview in our line, we can not be undersold on an equal class of goods. The reasons are many and obvious. First, we buy mostly direct from factory; we buy in large quantities, ship in car lots, and in every way save you all the money possible.

Yours respectfully,
