LAKEVIEW, OREGON, MAR. 5, 1903.

The Portland papers are gloating over the fact that the Multnomah delegation got everything they wanted or asked for, (save the election of a U. S. Senator, and one of the said papers cried about that) greatly to the discomfort of other sections of the state that got nothing and had what little they did have, taken from them. Every county in the State supported the $500,000 appropriation for the Lewis & Clark Fair, and no county in the State will derive the benefit from it that Multnomah will. They (Multnomah County) asked for and got the solid support of the State on their pet measure, but they were not willing to accede anything in return. Without a doubt Portland is the largest untamed animal of the swine species that ever wore bristles, and the grant of satisfaction over their gluttonous successes and the defeat of measures that would not benefit them, is only a slap in the face of the defeated.

An exchange gets even with someone as follows: After you get on your ear and make up your mind to stop your paper to make the editor feel humiliated, just poke your finger in water and pull it out and look at the hole. Then you will know how badly you are missed. The man who thinks a paper cannot survive without his support had better go off and stay awhile and when he comes back he will find that half of his friends didn't know he was gone. The other half didn't care a cent, and the world at large didn't keep account of his movements whatever. You will probably find something in your home paper that you cannot endorse. Even the Bible is very plain and hits some hard licks. If you were to get small and burn your Bible, the hundreds of presses would go on printing them, and if you were to stop your paper and call the editor all sorts of ugly names, the paper would still be published. And what is more, you would sneak around every week and borrow a copy of your neighbor. It is better to keep your vest pulled down, your temper under control and your subscription paid up.

An exchange says "populist ideas are growing." It may be inferred that the government is about to open a loan office in every community for the purpose of loaning money to farmers at two per cent. It is also likely the astute editor of the afore-said exchange has learned that warehouses, called sub-treasuries are about to be commenced in every county, where the farmers can store their grain and draw ninety-five per cent of its value out of the national treasury. He must have heard that silver is about to be made the standard of values, at the standard ratio, and that the crime of 73 is soon to be avenged. These are the fundamental populist ideas, and they have been so drooping and wilted that many have supposed them dead. Perhaps the copious tears of defeated populist candidates have warmed their roots to new life.

Every dollar you give to benevolent purposes is invested in improvements upon your disposition and character. There is nothing in the wide world that does a narrow, grasping, pinching man so much good as to pry himself open and give away his money.

Taxes Due March 1st.

Taxes are due and payable March 1st, and if paid before March 15th a rebate of 3 per cent is given.

The law does not compel the sheriff, tax collector or in fact any officer connected with the county administration to notify taxpayers of what is due and owing. The notifications are sent merely as a protection and solely for the benefit of the sheriff who would guard against losses. In case of property advertised for taxes, as delinquent, the owner must also pay the cost of The law in regard to the payment of taxes is as follows:

Sec. 3100—Taxes legally levied and charged in any year may be paid on or before the first Monday of April following and if not so paid they shall become delinquent; provided, however, that if one-half of the taxes against any particular piece of real property, or the taxes on personal property charged against any individual, be paid on or before the first Monday in April, then the time for the payment of the remainder of such tax may be extended to and including the first Monday of October, next following, but if the remaining one-half of such tax be not paid on or before the first Monday of October, then such remaining half shall be delinquent, and besides the penalty, interest thereon shall be charged and collected at the rate of 12 per centum per annum from the first Monday in April preceeding; and upon all delinquent taxes that shall be collected from the taxpayers of such taxes for the benefit of the county 10 per centum as a penalty, and for the benefit of the county or other public corporation which shall have an interest in any portion of such taxes, interest at the rate of 12 per centum per annum on such taxes on the day from which they become delinquent until their payment. Provided further, that there shall be an allowance of 3 per cent rebate on any tax paid on any separate parcel of real property or upon the personal property charged to any individual as aforesaid on or before the 15th day of March, next prior to the date when such tax becomes delinquent if not paid.

'T would Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Mella Station Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For sale by Lee Beall, druggist.
